Blame Rests With Adults, Rally's Told

Warning Sets Tone As Youth Meeting Swings Into Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — If there is anything wrong with the younger generation, the adults of this country have only themselves to blame.

That sentiment, expressed by speaker after speaker, set the tone today as 7,000 delegates to the White House Conference on Children and Youth swung into their first full day's work. The meetings continue through Friday.

The cure for what ails youth, they said, must be found by treating the moral sickness of their elders.

"The basic problem of the young is not complicated, it is the apathy and perfidy and poor examples of the adult generations," said Miriom D. Hanks of Salt Lake City, an elder of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

Elder Hanks' theme, in a speech prepared for one of the five assemblies during the day's activities, was echoed by Prof. Abraham Heschel of the Jewish Theological Seminary of America in New York.

"We, the grownups have delegated our moral responsibility to the schools, the social agencies, or community funds," he said in his prepared remarks.

"We have time for hobbies, for watching baseball; we have no time to help the needy, to sustain the sick, to offer companionship to the lonely, no time to offer guidance to our children. What we need are not more school buildings and more playgrounds, but also the restoration of the home, the resurrection of the parent as a person worthy of being revered as an example of devotion to responsibility."

President Eisenhower, formally opening the conference Sunday night, told the delegates to beware of the tendency to generalize pessimistically about the youth of this country.

'I Have Faith In Children,' Ike Declares

WASHINGTON (AP) — The youth of America have drawn a tribute and an expression of faith from President Eisenhower.

"I have an unshakable faith in the overwhelming majority of fine, earnest, high-spirited youngsters who comprise this rising generation of Americans," the President told the opening session Sunday night of the White House Conference on Youth and Children.

The 7,000 delegates, assembled in the gaily decorated fieldhouse of the University of Maryland, burst into applause. It was the only time they interrupted the President's 15-minute speech.

In a tribute, Eisenhower said "our children understand, as we did not in our own youthful years, the need — now approaching the absolute—for peace with justice."

"They possess a more intense intellectual curiosity than we of my age exercised," he said. "They are wise for their years and they are fast learning the relationship between physical and mental fitness on the one hand, and satisfaction in accomplishment on the other."

The President, a 69-year-old grandfather of four, prefaced his speech by explaining he was not "pretending to any expertness on questions of youth and children-except in the sense, that, within their own families, all grandfathers are experts on these matters."

Youth Would Apologize In Synagogue Shooting

GADSDEN, Ala. (AP) — Jerry Hunt, 16, wants to ask a rabbi to forgive him for the fire-bomb and rifle attack at a synagogue.

Hunt is being held on two counts of assault with intent to murder because two men were wounded during the brief anti-Semitic violence Friday night.

Police Commission H. T. Mashburn said Hunt is still arrogant but expressed a desire Sunday to apologize and ask forgiveness of Rabbi Sol Rubin of the Beth Israel Reform synagogue.

Police said the high school pupil signed a statement detailing how he hurled a home-made bomb at a synagogue window and then opened fire with an automatic rifle when two men ran out to investigate. He was arrested Saturday.

Hunt said he carried out the attack as revenge after he had words with two Jewish boys several weeks ago.

During Visit To Marseille

Mr. K Is Caught In Rush When Police Lines Give

MARSEILLE, France (AP)—An enthusiastic crowd broke through police lines today and nearly overran Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

Leaving the enclosed yard of a children's school he had visited, he mistook which car door to enter, and the crowd evidently thought he was coming over to get acquainted.

The wave of men and women stormed through the police line, shouting and waving red flags. Khrushchev was surrounded.

The expression on the Premier's face indicated he did not find the experience completely agreeable. He stood in the crush until police rescued him and didn't try to shake a single hand.

A cordon of police on foot and with motorcycles quickly pushed in and formed around Khrushchev, then escorted him to his car.

Earlier in his tour of the French provinces Khrushchev showed signs that he thought he was seeing too much of French industry and not enough of the French people.

The gregarious Soviet premier has remained good natured but at times showed impatience at the tightly packed schedule of official receptions, dinners and guided tours of historic sights and industrial plants.

Visits to factories and agricultural installations leave him unimpressed. He mixes polite compliments for French achievements with statistics on similar Soviet activities that clearly show Khrushchev thinks they do it bigger and better in the Soviet Union.

The urge to mix with the people came over him Sunday at Pau. Breaking away from the official itinerary, he made a spur-of-the-moment excursion into the streets. At his smiling best, he shook hands with persons clustered on the sidewalk outside the prefecture, where he had spent the night.

Marseille, France's big Mediterranean port city, which has a heavy concentration of Communists, gave the Soviet premier the warmest welcome since he arrived in France Wednesday for a 11-day visit.

Despite pelting rain, tens of thousands turned out to cheer his caravan as it swung down the famed Rue de Cannebiere, the city's Fifth Avenue.

Vast Organization Proposed

West Offers 10-Point Plan For Disarmament Control

GENEVA (AP) — The Western powers today introduced a detailed plan for a vast organization to control every step of a world disarmament treaty.

Italian delegate Francesco Cavaletti introduced the plan at the 10-nation disarmament conference on behalf of the five Western powers.

Cavaletti said the proposed International Disarmament Organization must have far wider functions than a mere check on agreed arms cuts. His plan called for permanent surveillance of national military budgets and military maneuvers, as well as control of all satellite and missile launchings.

Soviet delegate Valerian Zorin made no comment. Instead, he again demanded that the conference begin by agreeing on "general and complete disarmament" and deal with control provisions later.

Western officials said today's session of the conference thus produced no progress, but the relaxed atmosphere of the first two weeks of the conference was maintained.

Cavaletti defined the functions of the IDO in 10 basic points.

He said IDO should:

1. Receive advance notice on launching of any satellite and detailed reports on the satellite's course.

2. Obtain detailed information on existing level of armed forces and conventional armaments.

3. Verify any agreed limitations or reductions.

4. Collect and verify information on national budgets of all countries, including total amounts devoted to military purposes and percentage of military expenditure in total government outlay.

5. Install a worldwide system for control of artificial satellites capable of carrying weapons of mass destruction.

6. Receive prior notice on launching of any long-range missile.

7. Organize a system to control an agreed cutoff of production of nuclear weapons.

8. Organize a system to supervise conversion of all military fissionable materials to peaceful uses.

9. Establish a procedure for inspection and surveillance of military operations, including maneuvers, conducted by all the major powers.

10. Establish a system to give all powers security from surprise attack.

From the very start, Cavaletti said, IDO should be a "vast and important organization exercising much more than a mere control" of arms cuts.

Clemency Granted 8 In Iraq Development

BAGHDAD, Iraq (AP) — In a clemency move that may bring Communist repercussions, Iraqi Premier Karim Abdel Kassem has commuted death sentences against ex-Premier Fadhil Jamali and seven other officials prominent at the United Nations and well liked in Western circles. His wife is the former Sara Heyden Powell of Minnesota.

The Iraqi People's Court had passed the death sentences in the tense months after the July 1958 revolution which toppled the monarchy. Jamali was condemned Nov. 10, 1958, on charges of endangering Iraq and world peace with his activity under the monarchy.

Frondizi Forces Third In Argentina's Voting

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — President Arturo Frondizi's forces ran a poor third in returns today from Argentina's midterm congressional elections.

Initial tabulations indicated Frondizi's intransigent Radical party would still have a 16-seat majority in the House of Deputies, the lower chamber of Congress. But there was a strong hint that the huge popular vote cast against the government would force it to ease its belt-tightening policies.

City Spellers To Vie April 5 At Westgate

The annual spelling bee for the city's public school system will be held April 5 at the Westgate School auditorium, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Pupils from the various buildings will compete for the right to advance to the countywide spelldown which will determine the county's representatives in the May 6 finals at Canton.

The last eight pupils remaining in the local bee will take part in the countywide competition April 25 at Lisbon. This is the first year for the countywide event, set up on recommendations of spelling bee headquarters at Canton to provide a more equal distribution in the four-county area which sends spellers to the finals.

The Rev. M. Rudolph Miller of the Trinity United Presbyterian Church again will serve as pronouncer. Plans for the event are being made by a teachers' committee headed by Ernest Pletcher. The judges again will be provided through the cooperation of the city Federation of Parent-Teacher Organizations.

Each finalist in the city contest will be presented a Certificate of Merit on behalf of the Blue and White Nonpareil Club.

Castro Pounds Away At Threat Of Invasion

HAVANA (AP) — Fidel Castro left a sickbed Sunday to beat the drums of fear of invasion and whip up enthusiasm among his Cubans to dig deeper into their pockets to finance a defense war chest.

Looking haggard from the effects of the grippe, the bearded prime minister charged big American business interests were organizing armies of mercenaries to invade.

With his brother Raul, Cuban minister of armed forces, by his side, Castro warned in two fiery speeches that Cuba's new militia —the people's army—would destroy any invasion.

Eisenhower, Macmillan Study Issues

British-American Split Over Weapons Now Seems Unlikely

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Harold Macmillan meet today to work out a compromise offer to the Soviet Union for banning nuclear weapons tests. Their success in avoiding a British-American split over the issue seemed assured.

During the two or three days they will spend together at Camp David, Md., the two allied leaders will also make a pre-summit review of relations with the Soviet Union. They may lay down some new guidelines for development of proposals to be put before Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev at the Big Four summit meeting at Paris beginning May 16.

Before flying with Eisenhower to Camp David this afternoon, Macmillan was scheduled to confer with Secretary of State Christian A. Herter at the British Embassy.

The U.S. and British positions on the Soviet Union's latest test control plan were said to be very similar with both sides now favoring a positive counter-proposal.

The urgent problem before the President and prime minister is to shape a reply to a Soviet proposition for banning all nuclear weapons tests—most of them by formal treaty and the remainder, small underground tests, by common agreement on an indefinite moratorium.

The United States had proposed that any treaty now should exempt small underground nuclear blasts because it said they are too difficult to distinguish from small earthquakes.

Eisenhower and Macmillan may agree to approve a moratorium on the small underground blasts, but to impose a time limit of one or two years.

Without specific inspection provisions covering the smaller blasts, many officials in the Eisenhower administration also have felt that the proposed moratorium would create a grave risk of Soviet cheating in the development of nuclear weapons. Some reportedly favored rejecting the Soviet proposition.

Last Of Snow Due To Vanish

More Warm Weather Scheduled Tuesday

The last of the snow that has covered the East Liverpool area since mid-February is expected to vanish this afternoon or Tuesday under moderating temperatures that felt like mid-summer after a month of unusually cold days and nights.

Even deep accumulations of snow in the suburbs were reduced sharply when the mercury went to a high of 61 Sunday afternoon at Dam 8—the warmest reading in weeks. The overnight low was 39.

The balmy weather brought out a number of area motorists and families for a Sunday drive, according to the State Highway Patrol at Lisbon, which reported heavy traffic at times yesterday.

The general thaw produced a slight rise in the Ohio River level, but attendants at Dam 8 said this morning there has been no spectacular gain. Some of the wickets were lowered to aid the runoff.

It will be cloudy and warm today, tonight and Tuesday, the Ohio weatherman said. Today's high will be 44-49 and the overnight low will be 35-40.

Republicans Oppose Plan

New Police Group Urged To Combat 'Crime Syndicate'

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Labor-Management Committee charged today a "crime syndicate" is extending sinister and mounting power across the nation in a plot to rule the economy.

The committee's four Democratic members called for creation of a vast new federal police intelligence agency to crush the scheme.

The four Republican members vigorously opposed that proposal, contending it smacked too strongly of the national secret police idea.

They said it could lead to grave abuse of innocent persons; that it might itself become a handy aid to corrupt officials in league with the underworld, and might actually impede the Justice Department's current war on crime.

The bipartisan committee was unanimous, however, in findings that:

1. "The grip of hoodlums and racketeers on the American economy continues to grow."

2. James R. Hoffa, international president of the Teamsters Union, is an ally of some of the mobsters the report denounced.

3. Alliance with corrupt labor leaders is a major tool used to further the alleged conspiracy.

The committee's findings were in the third installment of a four-volume report to the Senate on its 1959 investigations. The committee's authority expires Thursday, but a move is afoot to extend these powers until Jan. 31, or shift them to another group.

Unanimously, the eight senators said some congressional committee should wage a continuing search for better means to cope with the menace of gangster rule they contend their own inquiry has uncovered.

Hoffa Blasted As Being Ally Of Gangsters

Senate Committee Asks Courts, Others To Hammer Away

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate rackets committee today invited the courts and executive agencies to swing any Sunday punch that might be aimed at removing James R. Hoffa as Teamsters Union president.

The committee, in a report to the Senate, called Hoffa an ally of gangsters, betrayer of fellow unionists, and a corrupter of men.

Ending three years of investigation, during which it repeatedly called him a disgrace to the labor movement, the committee voiced this unanimous declaration: "From this point on, the fate and future of James R. Hoffa rest with the executive and judical branches of the government, the monitors (a court appointed group created to try to police the Teamsters) and inevitably with his own members."

"The decent elements of organized labor have hung a pariah's label" on Hoffa, the committee said, renewing its 1958 finding that he should be ousted.

"If Hoffa is successful in combatting the combined weight of the U.S. government and public opinion, the cause of decent unionism is lost and labor-management relations in this country will return to the jungle era," it said.

"Plundering of union treasuries and health and welfare funds, ruthless denial of democratic procedures, and outright betrayal of rank and file members were clearly established," the committee charged.

It said Hoffa had bargained away wages and other benefits Midwestern Teamsters might have

50,000 Are Evacuated Because Of Dam Break

FORTALEZA, Brazil (AP) — A break in the Oros earth dam sent floodwaters rolling into the Jaguaribe River Valley Sunday, but officials expressed confidence the bulk of the dam would hold.

About 50,000 persons have been evacuated to safe high ground in the region of northeast Brazil, usually a drought area but now being plagued by heavy rains. So far no casualties have been reported.

Man, 23, Dies In Collision Of Car And Cycle

Inquest Due Tonight To Probe Death Of James McDole Jr.

A 23-year-old Chester pottery worker was killed when his motorcycle rammed headon into an auto on State Route 2 near Pughtown Sunday afternoon.

An inquest is scheduled tonight at 8 into the death of James Wilbert McDole Jr., of 250 Church St., who was thrown 36 feet by the impact. Two Weirton residents in the auto were injured.

West Virginia State Police said the investigation showed McDole was traveling north on a 1953 model motorcycle when he apparently swerved into the left lane into the path of a south-bound car of Ershel Brooks Westfall, 47, of Weirton.

Erma Reed, 49, of Weirton, a passenger in Westfall's 1956 model four-door sedan, suffered a possible fractured right knee, contusions and abrasions. She is listed in "good" condition today at Weirton General Hospital.

The driver of the auto was treated at the hospital for abrasions and contusions.

McDole, a kilnplacer at the Edwin M. Knowles China Co., was Hancock County's second traffic fatality of 1960. Paul E. Ammon of East Liverpool died earlier in a crash on the Route 30 hill in back of Chester.

McDole's cycle and the Westfall auto collided at 4:58 p. m. yesterday a mile and one-half south of Pughtown near Scott's Lane.

Squire John D. Herron, acting county coroner, will conduct an inquest in his office in New Cumberland.

The coroner's jury panel includes Louella Jacobs, Max Clark, Evelyn Jacobs, Jacob Baxter, Sam Minesinger and Clifford Prossor.

Born June 6, 1936, in Hookstown, Mr. McDole was a son of the late James Wilbert McDole, who died in 1954, and Mrs. Mary Clark of Rogers, who survives.

Other survivors include his widow, Joyce Katzenmeyer McDole, a sister, Mrs. Helen Scott of Hookstown, and a brother, George McDole of Chester.

He was a member of the International Brotherhood of Operative Potters and the Air Force Reserve.

Services will be held Wednesday afternoon at 2 at the Arner Chester Chapel. The Rev. Earliss Glea-

Prosecutor Ponders Whether To Appeal To Ohio High Bench

A burglary conviction against Louis Stuttler, former city police officer, has been thrown out by the 7th District Court of Appeals, Columbiana County Prosecutor G. William Brokaw was notified today at Lisbon.

Stuttler was found guilty in December 1958 of an entering of the Burbick Hardware Co. store in 1954, the Common Pleas Jury basing its verdict largely upon a fingerprint smudge found on the store skylight wall four years after the burglary.

Prosecution and defense fingerprint authorities differed as to the validity of the evidence during the trial for Stuttler, 36, who was charged with taking a portable saw, gun cases, knives and fishing equipment after entering the store through the skylight.

Stuttler was one of five former police officers and two ex-special officers indicted in 1956 for a series of city burglaries. The trial, however, was based on another indictment handed down in 1958 after the fingerprint was found.

Today's notice from the appellate court merely requested a docket entry on the reversal of the trial judgment, and did not give the reasons for the reversal.

Prosecutor Brokaw, who would have to obtain the court's opinion concerning the reversal, said he is uncertain whether he will file an appeal of the ruling with the State Supreme Court.

The appellate court last year reversed convictions of Ira Cunningham, former officer, and Jerry Raimond, ex-special officer, for a 1952 burglary of the hardware store.

The Supreme Court has agreed to hear further arguments concerning this reversal following an appeal filed by the prosecutor.

The appeals court reversal in the Cunningham - Raimond case stemmed from grounds that the indictment had not been tried within the statutory period.

Six of the 1956 police indictments are pending, three of them including charges against Stuttler.

10 Cardinals Are Created By Pope John

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope John XXIII today created 10 new cardinals of the Roman Catholic Church, including three whose names will remain secret until some future date.

The new cardinals previously named for elevation included the first Negro, the first Japanese and the first Filipino princes of the church. One Italian newspaper called it the "rainbow consistory."

With the elevation of the first Negro cardinal, the pontiff reflected with sorrow on recent bloodshed in Africa. He referred to the "cruel treatments that violate religion. . .and Christian civilization.

"Quod vobis videtur. (What do you think of it)?" the pontiff asked at the end of his Latin allocution naming the new cardinals. Thirty-seven previous cardinals, meeting with the Pope behind the massive closed doors of the Vatican's Consistorial Hall, silently removed their skullcaps in assent.

Two papal emissaries at once began a round of calls to deliver the official notification, or biglietto, to the seven new cardinals waiting at various church centers in the Vatican or in Rome.

The secret consistory today was the first in a series of ceremonies.

The United States had proposed that any treaty now should exempt small underground nuclear blasts because it said they are too difficult to distinguish from small earthquakes.

Eisenhower and Macmillan may agree to approve a moratorium on the small underground blasts, but to impose a time limit of one or two years.

Without specific inspection provisions covering the smaller blasts, many officials in the Eisenhower administration also have felt that the proposed moratorium would create a grave risk of Soviet cheating in the development of nuclear weapons. Some reportedly favored rejecting the Soviet proposition.

Last Of Snow Due To Vanish

More Warm Weather Scheduled Tuesday

The last of the snow that has covered the East Liverpool area since mid-February is expected to vanish this afternoon or Tuesday under moderating temperatures that felt like mid-summer after a month of unusually cold days and nights.

Even deep accumulations of snow in the suburbs were reduced sharply when the mercury went to a high of 61 Sunday afternoon at Dam 8—the warmest reading in weeks. The overnight low was 39.

The balmy weather brought out a number of area motorists and families for a Sunday drive, according to the State Highway Patrol at Lisbon, which reported heavy traffic at times yesterday.

The general thaw produced a slight rise in the Ohio River level, but attendants at Dam 8 said this morning there has been no spectacular gain. Some of the wickets were lowered to aid the runoff.

It will be cloudy and warm today, tonight and Tuesday, the Ohio weatherman said. Today's high will be 44-49 and the overnight low will be 35-40.

Republicans Oppose Plan

New Police Group Urged To Combat 'Crime Syndicate'

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Labor-Management Committee charged today a "crime syndicate" is extending sinister and mounting power across the nation in a plot to rule the economy.

The committee's four Democratic members called for creation of a vast new federal police intelligence agency to crush the scheme.

The four Republican members vigorously opposed that proposal, contending it smacked too strongly of the national secret police idea.

They said it could lead to grave abuse of innocent persons; that it might itself become a handy aid to corrupt officials in league with the underworld, and might actually impede the Justice Department's current war on crime.

The bipartisan committee was unanimous, however, in findings that:

1. "The grip of hoodlums and racketeers on the American economy continues to grow."

2. James R. Hoffa, international president of the Teamsters Union, is an ally of some of the mobsters the report denounced.

3. Alliance with corrupt labor leaders is a major tool used to further the alleged conspiracy.

The committee's findings were in the third installment of a four-volume report to the Senate on its 1959 investigations. The committee's authority expires Thursday, but a move is afoot to extend these powers until Jan. 31, or shift them to another group.

Unanimously, the eight senators said some congressional committee should wage a continuing search for better means to cope with the menace of gangster rule they contend their own inquiry has uncovered.

Hoffa Blasted As Being Ally Of Gangsters

Senate Committee Asks Courts, Others To Hammer Away

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate rackets committee today invited the courts and executive agencies to swing any Sunday punch that might be aimed at removing James R. Hoffa as Teamsters Union president.

The committee, in a report to the Senate, called Hoffa an ally of gangsters, betrayer of fellow unionists, and a corrupter of men.

Ending three years of investigation, during which it repeatedly called him a disgrace to the labor movement, the committee voiced this unanimous declaration: "From this point on, the fate and future of James R. Hoffa rest with the executive and judical branches of the government, the monitors (a court appointed group created to try to police the Teamsters) and inevitably with his own members."

"The decent elements of organized labor have hung a pariah's label" on Hoffa, the committee said, renewing its 1958 finding that he should be ousted.

"If Hoffa is successful in combatting the combined weight of the U.S. government and public opinion, the cause of decent unionism is lost and labor-management relations in this country will return to the jungle era," it said.

"Plundering of union treasuries and health and welfare funds, ruthless denial of democratic procedures, and outright betrayal of rank and file members were clearly established," the committee charged.

It said Hoffa had bargained away wages and other benefits Midwestern Teamsters might have

50,000 Are Evacuated Because Of Dam Break

FORTALEZA, Brazil (AP) — A break in the Oros earth dam sent floodwaters rolling into the Jaguaribe River Valley Sunday, but officials expressed confidence the bulk of the dam would hold.

About 50,000 persons have been evacuated to safe high ground in the region of northeast Brazil, usually a drought area but now being plagued by heavy rains. So far no casualties have been reported.

Man, 23, Dies In Collision Of Car And Cycle

Inquest Due Tonight To Probe Death Of James McDole Jr.

A 23-year-old Chester pottery worker was killed when his motorcycle rammed headon into an auto on State Route 2 near Pughtown Sunday afternoon.

An inquest is scheduled tonight at 8 into the death of James Wilbert McDole Jr., of 250 Church St., who was thrown 36 feet by the impact. Two Weirton residents in the auto were injured.

West Virginia State Police said the investigation showed McDole was traveling north on a 1953 model motorcycle when he apparently swerved into the left lane into the path of a south-bound car of Ershel Brooks Westfall, 47, of Weirton.

Erma Reed, 49, of Weirton, a passenger in Westfall's 1956 model four-door sedan, suffered a possible fractured right knee, contusions and abrasions. She is listed in "good" condition today at Weirton General Hospital.

The driver of the auto was treated at the hospital for abrasions and contusions.

McDole, a kilnplacer at the Edwin M. Knowles China Co., was Hancock County's second traffic fatality of 1960. Paul E. Ammon of East Liverpool died earlier in a crash on the Route 30 hill in back of Chester.

McDole's cycle and the Westfall auto collided at 4:58 p. m. yesterday a mile and one-half south of Pughtown near Scott's Lane.

Squire John D. Herron, acting county coroner, will conduct an inquest in his office in New Cumberland.

The coroner's jury panel includes Louella Jacobs, Max Clark, Evelyn Jacobs, Jacob Baxter, Sam Minesinger and Clifford Prossor.

Born June 6, 1936, in Hookstown, Mr. McDole was a son of the late James Wilbert McDole, who died in 1954, and Mrs. Mary Clark of Rogers, who survives.

Other survivors include his widow, Joyce Katzenmeyer McDole, a sister, Mrs. Helen Scott of Hookstown, and a brother, George McDole of Chester.

He was a member of the International Brotherhood of Operative Potters and the Air Force Reserve.

Services will be held Wednesday afternoon at 2 at the Arner Chester Chapel. The Rev. Earliss Glea-

Opinion Due More Study By Brokaw

Prosecutor Ponders Whether To Appeal To Ohio High Bench

A burglary conviction against Louis Stuttler, former city police officer, has been thrown out by the 7th District Court of Appeals, Columbiana County Prosecutor G. William Brokaw was notified today at Lisbon.

Stuttler was found guilty in December 1958 of an entering of the Burbick Hardware Co. store in 1954, the Common Pleas Jury basing its verdict largely upon a fingerprint smudge found on the store skylight wall four years after the burglary.

Prosecution and defense fingerprint authorities differed as to the validity of the evidence during the trial for Stuttler, 36, who was charged with taking a portable saw, gun cases, knives and fishing equipment after entering the store through the skylight.

Stuttler was one of five former police officers and two ex-special officers indicted in 1956 for a series of city burglaries. The trial, however, was based on another indictment handed down in 1958 after the fingerprint was found.

Today's notice from the appellate court merely requested a docket entry on the reversal of the trial judgment, and did not give the reasons for the reversal.

Prosecutor Brokaw, who would have to obtain the court's opinion concerning the reversal, said he is uncertain whether he will file an appeal of the ruling with the State Supreme Court.

The appellate court last year reversed convictions of Ira Cunningham, former officer, and Jerry Raimond, ex-special officer, for a 1952 burglary of the hardware store.

The Supreme Court has agreed to hear further arguments concerning this reversal following an appeal filed by the prosecutor.

The appeals court reversal in the Cunningham - Raimond case stemmed from grounds that the indictment had not been tried within the statutory period.

Six of the 1956 police indictments are pending, three of them including charges against Stuttler.

10 Cardinals Are Created By Pope John

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope John XXIII today created 10 new cardinals of the Roman Catholic Church, including three whose names will remain secret until some future date.

The new cardinals previously named for elevation included the first Negro, the first Japanese and the first Filipino princes of the church. One Italian newspaper called it the "rainbow consistory."

With the elevation of the first Negro cardinal, the pontiff reflected with sorrow on recent bloodshed in Africa. He referred to the "cruel treatments that violate religion. . .and Christian civilization.

"Quod vobis videtur. (What do you think of it)?" the pontiff asked at the end of his Latin allocution naming the new cardinals. Thirty-seven previous cardinals, meeting with the Pope behind the massive closed doors of the Vatican's Consistorial Hall, silently removed their skullcaps in assent.

Two papal emissaries at once began a round of calls to deliver the official notification, or biglietto, to the seven new cardinals waiting at various church centers in the Vatican or in Rome.

The secret consistory today was the first in a series of ceremonies.

Crashes Hurt 3 Pedestrians And Driver, 16

Three pedestrians and a youthful motorist were injured, none seriously, in four traffic mishaps reported by police Saturday.

The injured included two women shoppers struck by a backing car while leaving a supermarket, a man who slipped on ice and fell into an auto, and a 16-year-old driver who said his knee slipped out of joint and he was unable to keep his auto from hitting a stone wall.

Mrs. Charlotte Miller, 28, and Mrs. Marjorie Powell, 33, both of the Westfield Rd., were examined at a physician's auto after the mishap at 12:30 p. m. in the Loblaw's, Inc., lot on Bradshaw Ave.

Mrs. Miller told police that she and Mrs. Powell had just stepped off the curb in front of the store when they saw a car backing toward them "very fast."

The women said they shouted but the auto backed into Mrs. Miller and her shopping cart and shoved them into Mrs. Powell, spilling the groceries and knocking Mrs. Miller to the ground.

Victor F. Taucher, 25, of 236 W. 9th St. told police he started to back from a parking space when the accelerator stuck. He said he heard the women scream and attempted to get the car out of reverse gear but was unable to avoid the accident.

Oliver Kirkham, 52, of 304 Maplewood Ave. was treated at City Hospital late Saturday morning for a laceration of the brow and a possible skull injury after he slipped on the ice on Dresden Ave. and was struck by a car driven by John J. Watson, 62, of Substation.

Police said Kirkham had started to cross Dresden Ave. near Green Ln. when he slipped on snow and ice near the curb on the east side of the street and fell in front of the Watson auto.

Watson, who was headed north, said he saw Kirkham step off the sidewalk and applied his brakes. The pedestrian slipped on the ice, Watson said, and the auto struck him.

Kirkham fell across the hood of the auto and then fell to the ground when it stopped, Watson said.

Victor David Elliott, 16, of 867 Fairview St. was treated for contusions of the right knee and was X-rayed after his car struck a stone fence and shed at the home of Mrs. Mary Coleman, 923 Florence St., Saturday afternoon.

Elliott told police he had let out a friend on Holland St. near Alton St. and then was unable to get the auto started.

He said they rocked it back and forth to get it started down the grade so he could start the car in low gear. When he started to put his foot on the brake, he knocked his knee out of place and was unable to apply the brake in time to avoid hitting the fence, Elliott said.

Robert A. Steinberg, 17, of Pond St. told police the entire left side of his car was damaged when hit by a hit-skip motorist Saturday night on Shadyside Ave.

Steinberg said he was headed north when the other car approached, crossed the center line and struck his car. The other driver failed to stop, he said.

2 Hookstown Brothers And Child Hurt In Crash

Two teen-age brothers from Hookstown R. D. 1 and their 5-year-old nephew from East Liverpool were injured Sunday about noon when their car was involved in an accident with two others at the intersection of Route 168 and Legislative Route 04093 in Greene Township.

Karl K. Halstead, 16, of Hookstown R. D. 1 is in "good" condition today at City Hospital, where he was admitted yesterday at 12:45 p.m. He suffered a laceration of the mouth and lips.

David Halstead, 15, of the same address suffered a possible hand injury. Both are sons of John H. Halstead. John Halstead, 5, son of John W. Halstead of Dakota Ave., East Liverpool, suffered abrasions of the lip and chin. Both David and John were treated about 5:20 p.m. and then released.

Alex Eannottie, 21, of Weirton, driver of one car, was released after treatment for possible chest injuries, shock and multiple lacerations of the left arm. Wilbur T. Little of Elyria, driver of the third car, was uninjured.

The Carnegie barracks of the Pennsylvania State police said that a 1959 sports car driven by Eannottie apparently tried to pass Little's car which was pulling a trailer and hit the 1959 auto driven by Karl Halstead that had pulled out of Route 04093. After hitting the Halstead car, Eannottie then hit the car he was passing, police said.

Judge Delays Sentence For Check Charge

An Ohioville man was convicted today in Municipal Court on a charge of issuing a check with intent to defraud, but Judge Samuel M. Chertoff delayed sentencing until later today while he checks further into the strange case.

Robert A. Streets entered a "no contest" plea when arraigned this morning on the charge of uttering the phony check filed by Police Capt. Robert H. Pyle.

The charge alleged Streets made out a $15 check on the First National Bank payable to Frank Duncan on St. George St. "knowing he had no funds or credit with the said bank.

Capt. Pyle testified police were called into the case when Duncan attempted to take a car from a garage lot with keys which the East End man said were given him by Streets.

Police then learned about the check and finally located Streets in a tavern. He at first declined to make a statement, but finally admitted making out the check, Capt. Pyle testified.

Duncan said he and Streets were drinking in a Dresden Ave. tavern when Streets asked the bartender to cash a check. After the bartender declined to cash the check, Duncan said Streets asked him to cash it and he said he would take it to the bank.

Duncan testified he cashed the check and returned to the tavern and handed the money to Streets. After some more drinks, Duncan said Streets handed him a car key and asked him to pick up the auto.

When Duncan started to pick up the car, a garage attendant spotted him and halted him. The two argued and Duncan finally asked police to be notified, Capt. Pyle testified.

Testifying in his own defense, Streets admitted giving the check to Duncan and also admitted he had no account at the bank. Judge Chertoff explained the state law to Streets and declared he had no alternative but to find him guilty. He then said he wanted to check further and would sentence the defendant this afternoon.

Town Gets 'Tanked' When The Brakes Fail

CYNTHIANA, Ky. (AP) — His training demonstration over, Army reserve Capt. Paul S. Burton waved off the police escort and nosed his 20-ton tank into the downtown reserve building.

In it went, and out again—right through the rear wall.

It left a 20-by-25 foot hole in the brick wall, thundered across the railroad tracks and crashed into a grocery store.

The accelerator stuck and the brakes failed, said Burton.

Other damage in Sunday's mishap:

The Louisville & Nashville Railroad tracks were blocked; a natural gas line ripped open; about $7,000 loss to the buildings and contents; and to Burton, a cut head and a bruised ego.

Stowers originally entered a plea of "no contest" to both charges and his hearing was continued by Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff until this afternoon. Crashes Hurt 3 Pedestrians And Driver, 16

Three pedestrians and a youthful motorist were injured, none seriously, in four traffic mishaps reported by police Saturday.

The injured included two women shoppers struck by a backing car while leaving a supermarket, a man who slipped on ice and fell into an auto, and a 16-year-old driver who said his knee slipped out of joint and he was unable to keep his auto from hitting a stone wall.

Mrs. Charlotte Miller, 28, and Mrs. Marjorie Powell, 33, both of the Westfield Rd., were examined at a physician's auto after the mishap at 12:30 p. m. in the Loblaw's, Inc., lot on Bradshaw Ave.

Mrs. Miller told police that she and Mrs. Powell had just stepped off the curb in front of the store when they saw a car backing toward them "very fast."

The women said they shouted but the auto backed into Mrs. Miller and her shopping cart and shoved them into Mrs. Powell, spilling the groceries and knocking Mrs. Miller to the ground.

Victor F. Taucher, 25, of 236 W. 9th St. told police he started to back from a parking space when the accelerator stuck. He said he heard the women scream and attempted to get the car out of reverse gear but was unable to avoid the accident.

Oliver Kirkham, 52, of 304 Maplewood Ave. was treated at City Hospital late Saturday morning for a laceration of the brow and a possible skull injury after he slipped on the ice on Dresden Ave. and was struck by a car driven by John J. Watson, 62, of Substation.

Police said Kirkham had started to cross Dresden Ave. near Green Ln. when he slipped on snow and ice near the curb on the east side of the street and fell in front of the Watson auto.

Watson, who was headed north, said he saw Kirkham step off the sidewalk and applied his brakes. The pedestrian slipped on the ice, Watson said, and the auto struck him.

Kirkham fell across the hood of the auto and then fell to the ground when it stopped, Watson said.

Victor David Elliott, 16, of 867 Fairview St. was treated for contusions of the right knee and was X-rayed after his car struck a stone fence and shed at the home of Mrs. Mary Coleman, 923 Florence St., Saturday afternoon.

Elliott told police he had let out a friend on Holland St. near Alton St. and then was unable to get the auto started.

He said they rocked it back and forth to get it started down the grade so he could start the car in low gear. When he started to put his foot on the brake, he knocked his knee out of place and was unable to apply the brake in time to avoid hitting the fence, Elliott said.

Robert A. Steinberg, 17, of Pond St. told police the entire left side of his car was damaged when hit by a hit-skip motorist Saturday night on Shadyside Ave.

Steinberg said he was headed north when the other car approached, crossed the center line and struck his car. The other driver failed to stop, he said.

2 Hookstown Brothers And Child Hurt In Crash

Two teen-age brothers from Hookstown R. D. 1 and their 5-year-old nephew from East Liverpool were injured Sunday about noon when their car was involved in an accident with two others at the intersection of Route 168 and Legislative Route 04093 in Greene Township.

Karl K. Halstead, 16, of Hookstown R. D. 1 is in "good" condition today at City Hospital, where he was admitted yesterday at 12:45 p.m. He suffered a laceration of the mouth and lips.

David Halstead, 15, of the same address suffered a possible hand injury. Both are sons of John H. Halstead. John Halstead, 5, son of John W. Halstead of Dakota Ave., East Liverpool, suffered abrasions of the lip and chin. Both David and John were treated about 5:20 p.m. and then released.

Alex Eannottie, 21, of Weirton, driver of one car, was released after treatment for possible chest injuries, shock and multiple lacerations of the left arm. Wilbur T. Little of Elyria, driver of the third car, was uninjured.

The Carnegie barracks of the Pennsylvania State police said that a 1959 sports car driven by Eannottie apparently tried to pass Little's car which was pulling a trailer and hit the 1959 auto driven by Karl Halstead that had pulled out of Route 04093. After hitting the Halstead car, Eannottie then hit the car he was passing, police said.

More Fat In The Farm Policy Fire

As if the farmer and the federal government were not having enough trouble trying to be friendly, another problem has cropped up to plague their storm-ridden relationship.

It is the trend of the nation's housewives towered buying leaner cuts of meat, prompted by increasing emphasis on suspected links between excess fat and bad health.

Since the meat-and-potatoes days of America's preoccupation with the rigors of pioneering, the fatted animal has been the paragon of meat producers. Breeders have devoted all their skills to developing breeds bearing a fine fat finish. A whole industry grew up to devote itself solely to feeding animals to give them the extra weight that would bring extra dollars at the marketplace.

The government went along with this philosophy when it started grading meat, reserving its highest stamps of approval for the fattiest.

However, the word has hit the marketplace that this is no longer the vogue. Urbanites are now worried about getting soft and sickly because the diet of pioneer days may be too much for a white collar society.

The producers have gotten the word. Hog men are already striving for the thinner animal and the sheep people recently got the government to revise its grading in favor of leaner lambs. The major problem now is beef, the gem of the American meat market.

As is customary with these things, the matter is not a simple one. Tests have shown that customers like a little bit of fat for flavor and tenderness. So the question to be resolved in bureaucratic circles is: Where is the arbitrary line by which a government grader can decide that a chunk of beef has just enough fat but not too much?

With all due respect to the farmers and officials who must resolve that teaser, there is one consolation for the rest of us. The consumer, so often overlooked in the past vagaries of farm policy, apparently has the upper hand this time.

Help Speed Census

Census report forms have gone out to tri-state district homes preparatory to collection by the various workers who have been taking tests and getting last-minute instructions before the big task.

You can do your part by filling out the form and having it ready when the census-taker call. As the instructions point out, "Do Not Mail — Have Ready For Census-Taker".

Under the Constitution, the census count will determine the number of seats in Congress to be apportioned to each state. The information obtained also will help the government and business in developing their plans for the future.

The questions are elementary and will be held in strictest confidence. Help speed the census and reduce costs by having your form filled out properly when the census-taker stops.

Snail's Pace Of Peace Talks

The Russian compromise proposal for a nuclear test ban treaty illustrates the reason international negotiations between the two great power blocs usually drag on for years.

The lowly people of the world—limited in their understanding of diplomacy and eager for the chance to go about their daily lives with some sense of security—cannot resist the tendency to put world affairs in terms of black and white. But that is not realistic.

After a year and a half of talks in Geneva and months of deadlock, the Reds have come up with a suggestion. It can be interpreted at least two ways:

1. It appears to abandon the hard-and-fast attitude of the Russians that a pact should be unlimited in scope and time. It may represent therefore a sincere concession to the United States in that it combines portions of both East and West proposals.

2. Because it proposes what Britain has been known to favor all along, the Red suggestion may be nothing more than another effort to rupture Western unity by driving a wedge between the two major allies. This would make it a propaganda move designed to put a rosy glow on the Communists regardless of what the United States reaction is.

To ask which of these interpretations is correct is merely to slip back into the habit of black-and-white thinking. Perhaps both of them are. The Russians are canny enough to conceive a move that contains both a seed of substance and bountiful propaganda harvest.

And the problem of the United States is to answer the proposal on its own merits without losing sight of the mass desire for a black-and-white understanding of what is going on. That is no task for a minor leaguer. Little wonder that it takes days, sometimes weeks, to decide what the answer will be.

Apply the same time span to every proposal offered in an international negotiation and you have the reason for years of talk with little to show for it—except that World War III is still a worry instead of an awful memory.

A Good Show

Saturday night's two barbershop quartet "parades" at Westgate School, played to well-filled houses, proved the continuing popularity of the old harmonizin' and the ability of the city Barbershoppers to stage a good show.

Although the pace slackened between quartets, there was a great deal of talent heard, topped by the city chapter's "Colonials", the irrepressible "Pittsburghers" and the local chorus.

Members of the audience leaving the auditorium expressed the general hope that the flavor of vaudeville, splendid vocalizing and the now rare "live entertainment" atmosphere will be recaptured as well again next year.

Man At Work

By Frank Tripp

"I want that kitchen floor varnished before I get back." She said it with an emphasis. I couldn't ignore; for the job was long overdue. I was bidding Fanny goodbye on one of the few occasions when she has gone away without me.

At that time I was varnishing my own floors, touching up things in general and was handy man about the house for all jobs from curtain hanger to plumber.

Fanny was away her allotted time, during which I extended my evening calls upon favorite haunts into morning hours far beyond my custom. She was coming back the next day—and the floor wasn't varnished yet. It had to be done that night.

Our kitchen was lighted those days by a ceiling light in the center of the room, turned on by the switch near the dining room door. Opposite, on the other side of the room, was the outside door, which opened on the back porch.

THINGS PROGRESSED beautifully. The varnish flowed freely and in spite of the artificial light I was well pleased with my job. I was going to be through early and get back where they owed me a lot of money in a poker game.

Finally I had varnished my way under the sink, around the stove and across the room to the back door. I stood there, varnish can and brush in hand, admiring the job.

Then, for the first time, it occurred to me that I had varnished myself out of the house and was outside looking in. The light switch was way across my shining sea of lovely varnish and the light was turned on.

I solved that one by deciding to let the light burn—what's the difference; nobody but the Kendalls next door would notice and they were good scouts.

I walked around to the front door and felt for my keys. They weren't in the old pants I'd donned for the occasion. It was late fall and not a window open. It ended that the only way I could get into the house was across my beautiful varnish job.

This I did, and carried with me on my shoes some blades of grass, bits of dirt and a few brown leaves which made my progress resemble the retreat of an elephant.

I got across before I saw the mess I'd made. Ingenious fellow that I am, I'd fix that. So I retraced my steps, then backed toward the dining room door, refinishing the footprints as I went.

VARNISH PASSES through stages as it dries. In one stage it's like flypaper. Well, when half across the room, carefully proceeding backwards, my foot slipped and I sprawled flat, six feet of me on the sticky floor.

The varnish can flew from my hand and emptied itself under the stove. I got up with difficulty and viewed the form of a corpse plainly outlined in the middle of the room, nice and fuzzy too, with lint from my pants and a wool sweater. All I could think of was that old-time classic, "The Face on the Bar Room Floor."

I've already proved that I'm a useful fellow about the house and well up on home maintenance practice. Thus I knew that now the job had to dry, be scraped off, sanded down, then the whole floor done over again. And the boss would be home in the morning.

In spite of my boasted knowledge of things which a handy man encounters in servicing his own domicile, the only thing I did right that night was scrub myself up and get back with the boys.

What you're expecting now is that I'm going to tell you about Fanny's return. That she threw her arms around me, said, "Oh, you poor dear; it was an awful ordeal. You did the best you could; don't worry about it, we'll get Percy Allen to fix it."

She did not! I like the girl, have conveniently forgotten her exact words; couldn't print them if I did remember.

A Study In Time

Like time itself, American time zones do not stand still.

Since the United States was legally divided into four standard time zones in 1918, many revisions have been made in their boundaries. One sweeping change pushed the Eastern zone westward to take in all of Ohio and Michigan's lower peninsula. Another extended the Mountain zone to embrace Montana.

The most recent change approved by the Interstate Commerce Commission, the federal agency responsible for fixing the zones, puts most of the eastern half of Kentucky and three more counties of Tennessee in the Eastern zone. Three westerly cities — Louisville, Nashville and Indianapolis — have asked to be included on the ground that their major economic ties reach to the East.

The zones of the 48 contiguous states — Eastern, Central, Mountain and Pacific — are roughly 15 degrees of longitude in width. The time in each is reckoned, respectively, from the 75th, 90th, 105th and 120th meridians west of Greenwich, England.

Uncle Sam Wants You!

Nixon Seeks Facts For Own Farm Plan

By Robert E. Lee

Vice President Nixon has initiated a series of confidential conferences with Republican congressional farm leaders for advice on drafting his own farm program.

Simultaneously, two highly trusted lieutenants of the vice president have begun a systematic sampling of expert and grass-roots views on various agricultural problems. A third volunteer specialist on farm affairs is helping Nixon canvass House and Senate opinion on this politically explosive issue.

Nixon met a fortnight ago with GOP members of the Iowa congressional delegation. Last week he conferred with California Republicans representing substantial farm areas. In recent days he has also talked with American Farm Bureau Federation leaders. Conferences with other GOP delegations are planned for the near future.

Meanwhile, Ray Arbuthnot and Warren Brock, two of the vice president's oldest and closest friends from his native California, have started touring agricultural regions to learn firsthand what the nation's farmers and farm organization leaders feel about current legislation and proposals for new laws.

Arbuthnot, of La Verne, raises citrus fruits, wheat and cattle on ranches in California and Nevada.

Brock, of El Centro, raises flax, cotton and garden crops in the Imperial Valley.

IN WASHINGTON, Kent Leavitt of New York, a former official of the National Association of Soil Conservation Districts, is soliciting advice from farm representatives on Capitol Hill.

After some weeks of what Nixon calls "grass-roots fact-finding" the various points of view will be assembled and worked over by an informal panel of advisers the vice president is now lining up.

A key member of the panel will be Clifford Hope of Garden City, Kan., former Republican member of Congress and onetime chairman of the House Agriculture Committee.

It is understood that Nixon wanted Hope to work full-time for him on the farm issue but the former congressman demurred, offering his aid on a part-time basis instead.

Arbuthnot and Brock checked with Hope, however, before beginning their countrywide survey. That, too, will be on an on-again, off-again basis as both Californians continue to devote some time to their own farming operations. They began their fact-finding in Iowa earlier this month.

It is well-known that Nixon feels a political necessity to strike out on his own in the treacherous field of farm legislation.

He is one of many GOP politicians who regard Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson and the present administration's programs as symbols which could cost the Republicans dearly in the 1960 elections.

For the record, Nixon has said the present Congress should pass a broad farm bill that President Eisenhower can sign — that is, one which Benson would approve.

Failing this, he will consider it his duty — after he is nominated by the Republican National Convention — to propose a program of his own that Congress would be inclined to accept.

OFFICIALLY he supports the administration program. Privately, he thinks it can do his party and his own political future no good. Because Eisenhower and Benson have often demonstrated that they can't agree on a basic approach, a Nixon proposal is certain.

Nixon has made it clear in his private conversations with GOP farm leaders that he opposes the traditional Democratic stand for high price supports with strict production controls.

Significantly, though, he also opposes the Benson program of low support and unrestricted planting.

Despite his deep involvement with a wide range of international and domestic problems, Nixon is now devoting a considerable amount of time to the farm question.

Besides the interviews conducted by Leavitt, Arbuthnot and Brock, the vice president himself has held preliminary consultations with such ranking Republican farm experts as Sens. Milton R. Young of ND, Karl E. Mundt of SD and other midwesterners.

In time he will have checked with virtually every Republican in Congress with a farm constituency of any significance. He also will have touched base with as wide a variety of views as possible and familiarized himself with the problems of producers of all major crops.

In these talks Nixon emphasizes that he looks at the over-all farm problem as one primarily affecting the so-called "family farmer" — the man who tries to raise enough crops to support his immediate family. This is the man whose real income has been caught in a cost-price squeeze. It is also the man who historically takes out his annoyance on the politicians each election day.

Monument To U. S.

By Priscilla Johnson

MOSCOW

Eight months ago, the U.S. Exhibition gave the prettiest park in Moscow the easygoing air of midsummer America. Today, with scarcely a trace of the fair to be seen, Sokolniki Park is a snow-covered Russian playground.

That splendid golden exhibition dome, for instance, shines gold no longer. It is whitened with snow. Those floors, where well-publicized cement dust once floated like an angry cloud, today are covered with rubber mats and benches, where the apple-cheeked youth of Moscow change into skates and skis.

Lone reminder of the American Fair at Sokolniki Park today is the tiny time schedule, painted in neat black letters on the dome's outside wall, of showings of the now-defunct Eames 7-O-Rama. Inside, where the Eames film projectors and Ramac, pride of IBM, once stood, are typical Soviet-style "buffets," selling cherry pop and open salami sandwiches.

Where once were blown-up photographs of Americans at work and play, today are posters advertising the Soviet seven-year plan.

BUT OUTSIDE the dome, the walks and alleys which charmed the summer visitor are even lovelier today. Flooded for skating, they lie between heavy drifts of snow. Down miles and miles of flooded pathways swoop the skaters, the snow-laced branches above them lighting their way with lamps which gave all of Sokolniki the look of a winter wonderland. Spring seldom follows the calendar in this country.

Besides skating and skiing in snow-filled woods, Sokolniki Park today has other attractions as well. For the very young, there are rides in Russian troikas and Finnish sleighs.

For youngsters in their late teens and early 20s, something new has been added. It's a lemon-yellow, modernistic dance hall, first fruit of the Soviet Communist party's decision to give Soviet young people more of a Western good time.

Though it opened as recently as December the dance hall, the only one in all Moscow, is already a booming enterprise. With admission costing just five rubles on weekdays and seven rubles on Saturdays and Sundays, many would-be dancers have to be turned away.

Some girls, in fresh white blouses and neatly pressed pinafores, dance with each other. Others have boys to dance with. A few shy wallflowers sit talking to each other. Meanwhile, a formidable stag line looks on in baffled curiosity.

A SEVEN-PIECE BAND plays. About half the dances are slow foxtrots and waltzes. The other half are sturdier national numbers like the mazurka, gavotte and Moldavian polka.

Though a boy may invite a girl he hasn't met to dance, once a dance has begun there is no cutting in. That, explains the dance hall director, a woman, "is hooliganism!" Other rules? Each dance must be executed correctly, and in the proper direction. There is no smoking or drinking.

Proudly, the director proclaims there are no rules as to dress. She considers such strictures undemocratic.

The lady director doesn't know how many dance halls will be opened in Moscow, though rumor says at least 10. To ease the crush at Sokolniki, there will be a special game room for checkers, dominoes and other table games.

Will there be, as the newspaper Moscow Pravda has proposed, a reading room built at Sokolniki so dancers can improve their minds during intermission?

The director responds with a look of hurt surprise. No, she replies, there will be no reading room at her dance hall. Nothing but fun.

Nixon's Problem

By James Marlow

He'll Have To End Silence Shortly

WASHINGTON

Vice President Richard M. Nixon's enviable position — of remaining practically speechless while running for the presidency — will soon be coming to an end.

He has been able to stay quiet so far because he has been in a doubly happy spot. He is the only one in sight for the Republican presidential nomination and he has been given President Eisenhower's blessing.

While this carries some advantages they may be more than offset by the problems ahead once the campaign starts next summer.

Here are some of the obvious advantages:

1. Since he seems sure to get the Republican nomination he doesn't, like the Democratic hopefuls, have to scramble for delegates to the convention or wear himself down in state primaries.

2. Because he has been so closely identified with the highly popular Eisenhower, he can hope, but that's all he can do, that voters will have some of the same regard for him.

Here are some of his problems:

He must buck a strong Democratic tide. In the last three elections — 1954-56-58 — the voters showed a clear preference between parties by giving Democrats control of Congress.

The fact that Eisenhower won in 1956, while the voters turned Congress over the Democrats, showed how clearly they were making a distinction between him and his party.

Since Nixon does not have Eisenhower's personal appeal, this next election may be more a matter of choosing between parties than between men.

2. Nixon has conservative Republican support but he will also need liberal Republican and independent votes to win in November. This confronts him with his greatest problem.

He must decide whether to trail along on the Eisenhower record or break out from behind the President's shadow and stand for something on his own.

This has been a very conservative and in some instances a don't-rock-the-boat administration.

Nixon will be up against a Democrat—and this goes for any of the would-be Democratic candidates in sight—whose views are more liberal than Eisenhower's.

Nixon can choose between being an administration Charley McCarthy or trying to match to some degree the promises of the Democrats. If he gets too liberal he could lose conservative Republican support without winning over the independents.

And, if he goes much beyond Eisenhower's thinking, he may seem to be criticizing the President. So he has to walk nimbly there. He needs Eisenhower's active help in the campaign.

3. Nixon will not be just another Republican candidate running against just another Democratic candidate, neither of them well known. He has been in high office long enough to have established a record of performance by which to be judged. The Democrats will have his record to talk about.

It probably will not be nice talk, since many Democrats seem to hate him for the tactics he used in previous campaigns against them. But the very manner in which he answers the attacks or ignores them will be a fresh yardstick by which the voters can judge him.

Trials Of A Candidate

By Raymond Moley

SAN FRANCISCO

At this moment in a presidential year the friends, well wishers and expectant citizens who are interested in a candidate should be admonished about some facts of political life. The more prominent an individual becomes in a democracy, the more demands will be made on his time and attention.

Unfortunately, the planning of Providence failed to provide that as a person increases in importance, the hours of his day should increase in number. And Providence also has implanted in the human breast an element variously called pride, vanity or self-esteem, which becomes inflamed when any suspicion of neglect or indifference can be detected.

This element ignites when a prospective candidate for high office attempts to channel the importunities of the aforementioned friends, well wishers or expectant citizens through some subordinate.

There is little use in attempting to reason with these natural phenomena, for they transcend reason. With a prominent person they are the inevitable consequences of high note or public reputability. They have to be lived with as well as possible.

LAST SUMMER I was told by various people that Vice President Nixon had become more and more inaccessible. This, it was solemnly proclaimed, was very bad politics.

I was told in one instance that the governor of New Hampshire had tried to get the vice president on the telephone and failed and was mad about it.

If the advice of the governor of New Hampshire, which was apparently what the governor was desirous of imparting to the vice president, was as bad as his judgment and discretion proved to be in the recent campaign up there, it is well that he failed to reach the vice president.

Last week, out here in California, another loud complaint eminated from Sacramento.

It seems that in the selection of a slate of prospective delegates to represent the State of California at the Republican convention in Chicago next July, there had been included only a few members of the Republican party in the state legislature.

The number included was regarded as altogether too small. So it was decided to send a committee of members to Washington to complain to the vice president in person.

The vice president being the accomplished diplomat that he is, the complaint will presumably be met with some sort of compromise which will end this particular incident. But it will not end the complaints about the "inaccessibility" of the vice president.

Such complaints are just as characteristic of a presidential candidacy as the crowds, the parades, and the billboards.

They are not leveled at the vice president alone, although since he is the only likely Republican candidate he will get more than will Kennedy or Johnson. However, the same complaints trouble them, too, for they also have only 24 hours in the day and their duties are manifold.

In every presidential campaign with which I have been familiar, there has been growling and hissing on every side by people whom the "Big One" couldn't see or listen to.

It was most notable in the case of the one individual who came to be known as the most accessible of public men, Franklin D. Roosevelt. It was a major complaint against candidate Dewey and even Gen. Eisenhower.

THE WRATH of those who consider themselves neglected is generally directed first at the subordinates around the candidate. Then indignation is directed at the candidate because he has selected such an inefficient staff.

Such complaints when directed at a man who is not only a candidate but a person in high public office fail to take into account the fact that he is trying to perform a difficult job amid all sorts of irrelevant interruptions.

Two years ago in California, I heard such complaints about neglect by as devoted a public servant as the state ever had, Sen. William Knowland. As a senator and minority leader for his party, he quite naturally had plenty to do in Washington.

This sort of thing is perennial in politics. Nearly two centuries ago, Edmund Burke, who represented Bristol in Parliament, was assailed in his constituency because he was so busy in Westminster. His famous answer was: "I could not serve you as I have and court you too."

The more one reflects upon what American democracy demands of its presidents, the more the wonder grows as to why there are any candidates for the office at all. Or why such candidates are usually such fine and useful men.

It must be some strange compulsion that brings them to accept a transitory glory at such a price.

THINGS PROGRESSED beautifully. The varnish flowed freely and in spite of the artificial light I was well pleased with my job. I was going to be through early and get back where they owed me a lot of money in a poker game.

Finally I had varnished my way under the sink, around the stove and across the room to the back door. I stood there, varnish can and brush in hand, admiring the job.

Then, for the first time, it occurred to me that I had varnished myself out of the house and was outside looking in. The light switch was way across my shining sea of lovely varnish and the light was turned on.

I solved that one by deciding to let the light burn—what's the difference; nobody but the Kendalls next door would notice and they were good scouts.

I walked around to the front door and felt for my keys. They weren't in the old pants I'd donned for the occasion. It was late fall and not a window open. It ended that the only way I could get into the house was across my beautiful varnish job.

This I did, and carried with me on my shoes some blades of grass, bits of dirt and a few brown leaves which made my progress resemble the retreat of an elephant.

I got across before I saw the mess I'd made. Ingenious fellow that I am, I'd fix that. So I retraced my steps, then backed toward the dining room door, refinishing the footprints as I went.

VARNISH PASSES through stages as it dries. In one stage it's like flypaper. Well, when half across the room, carefully proceeding backwards, my foot slipped and I sprawled flat, six feet of me on the sticky floor.

The varnish can flew from my hand and emptied itself under the stove. I got up with difficulty and viewed the form of a corpse plainly outlined in the middle of the room, nice and fuzzy too, with lint from my pants and a wool sweater. All I could think of was that old-time classic, "The Face on the Bar Room Floor."

I've already proved that I'm a useful fellow about the house and well up on home maintenance practice. Thus I knew that now the job had to dry, be scraped off, sanded down, then the whole floor done over again. And the boss would be home in the morning.

In spite of my boasted knowledge of things which a handy man encounters in servicing his own domicile, the only thing I did right that night was scrub myself up and get back with the boys.

What you're expecting now is that I'm going to tell you about Fanny's return. That she threw her arms around me, said, "Oh, you poor dear; it was an awful ordeal. You did the best you could; don't worry about it, we'll get Percy Allen to fix it."

She did not! I like the girl, have conveniently forgotten her exact words; couldn't print them if I did remember.

A Study In Time

Like time itself, American time zones do not stand still.

Since the United States was legally divided into four standard time zones in 1918, many revisions have been made in their boundaries. One sweeping change pushed the Eastern zone westward to take in all of Ohio and Michigan's lower peninsula. Another extended the Mountain zone to embrace Montana.

The most recent change approved by the Interstate Commerce Commission, the federal agency responsible for fixing the zones, puts most of the eastern half of Kentucky and three more counties of Tennessee in the Eastern zone. Three westerly cities — Louisville, Nashville and Indianapolis — have asked to be included on the ground that their major economic ties reach to the East.

The zones of the 48 contiguous states — Eastern, Central, Mountain and Pacific — are roughly 15 degrees of longitude in width. The time in each is reckoned, respectively, from the 75th, 90th, 105th and 120th meridians west of Greenwich, England.

Nixon Seeks Facts For Own Farm Plan

By Robert E. Lee

Vice President Nixon has initiated a series of confidential conferences with Republican congressional farm leaders for advice on drafting his own farm program.

Simultaneously, two highly trusted lieutenants of the vice president have begun a systematic sampling of expert and grass-roots views on various agricultural problems. A third volunteer specialist on farm affairs is helping Nixon canvass House and Senate opinion on this politically explosive issue.

Nixon met a fortnight ago with GOP members of the Iowa congressional delegation. Last week he conferred with California Republicans representing substantial farm areas. In recent days he has also talked with American Farm Bureau Federation leaders. Conferences with other GOP delegations are planned for the near future.

Meanwhile, Ray Arbuthnot and Warren Brock, two of the vice president's oldest and closest friends from his native California, have started touring agricultural regions to learn firsthand what the nation's farmers and farm organization leaders feel about current legislation and proposals for new laws.

Arbuthnot, of La Verne, raises citrus fruits, wheat and cattle on ranches in California and Nevada.

Brock, of El Centro, raises flax, cotton and garden crops in the Imperial Valley.

IN WASHINGTON, Kent Leavitt of New York, a former official of the National Association of Soil Conservation Districts, is soliciting advice from farm representatives on Capitol Hill.

After some weeks of what Nixon calls "grass-roots fact-finding" the various points of view will be assembled and worked over by an informal panel of advisers the vice president is now lining up.

A key member of the panel will be Clifford Hope of Garden City, Kan., former Republican member of Congress and onetime chairman of the House Agriculture Committee.

It is understood that Nixon wanted Hope to work full-time for him on the farm issue but the former congressman demurred, offering his aid on a part-time basis instead.

Arbuthnot and Brock checked with Hope, however, before beginning their countrywide survey. That, too, will be on an on-again, off-again basis as both Californians continue to devote some time to their own farming operations. They began their fact-finding in Iowa earlier this month.

It is well-known that Nixon feels a political necessity to strike out on his own in the treacherous field of farm legislation.

He is one of many GOP politicians who regard Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson and the present administration's programs as symbols which could cost the Republicans dearly in the 1960 elections.

For the record, Nixon has said the present Congress should pass a broad farm bill that President Eisenhower can sign — that is, one which Benson would approve.

Failing this, he will consider it his duty — after he is nominated by the Republican National Convention — to propose a program of his own that Congress would be inclined to accept.

OFFICIALLY he supports the administration program. Privately, he thinks it can do his party and his own political future no good. Because Eisenhower and Benson have often demonstrated that they can't agree on a basic approach, a Nixon proposal is certain.

Nixon has made it clear in his private conversations with GOP farm leaders that he opposes the traditional Democratic stand for high price supports with strict production controls.

Significantly, though, he also opposes the Benson program of low support and unrestricted planting.

Despite his deep involvement with a wide range of international and domestic problems, Nixon is now devoting a considerable amount of time to the farm question.

Besides the interviews conducted by Leavitt, Arbuthnot and Brock, the vice president himself has held preliminary consultations with such ranking Republican farm experts as Sens. Milton R. Young of ND, Karl E. Mundt of SD and other midwesterners.

In time he will have checked with virtually every Republican in Congress with a farm constituency of any significance. He also will have touched base with as wide a variety of views as possible and familiarized himself with the problems of producers of all major crops.

In these talks Nixon emphasizes that he looks at the over-all farm problem as one primarily affecting the so-called "family farmer" — the man who tries to raise enough crops to support his immediate family. This is the man whose real income has been caught in a cost-price squeeze. It is also the man who historically takes out his annoyance on the politicians each election day.

Monument To U. S.

MOSCOW

Eight months ago, the U.S. Exhibition gave the prettiest park in Moscow the easygoing air of midsummer America. Today, with scarcely a trace of the fair to be seen, Sokolniki Park is a snow-covered Russian playground.

That splendid golden exhibition dome, for instance, shines gold no longer. It is whitened with snow. Those floors, where well-publicized cement dust once floated like an angry cloud, today are covered with rubber mats and benches, where the apple-cheeked youth of Moscow change into skates and skis.

Lone reminder of the American Fair at Sokolniki Park today is the tiny time schedule, painted in neat black letters on the dome's outside wall, of showings of the now-defunct Eames 7-O-Rama. Inside, where the Eames film projectors and Ramac, pride of IBM, once stood, are typical Soviet-style "buffets," selling cherry pop and open salami sandwiches.

Where once were blown-up photographs of Americans at work and play, today are posters advertising the Soviet seven-year plan.

BUT OUTSIDE the dome, the walks and alleys which charmed the summer visitor are even lovelier today. Flooded for skating, they lie between heavy drifts of snow. Down miles and miles of flooded pathways swoop the skaters, the snow-laced branches above them lighting their way with lamps which gave all of Sokolniki the look of a winter wonderland. Spring seldom follows the calendar in this country.

Besides skating and skiing in snow-filled woods, Sokolniki Park today has other attractions as well. For the very young, there are rides in Russian troikas and Finnish sleighs.

For youngsters in their late teens and early 20s, something new has been added. It's a lemon-yellow, modernistic dance hall, first fruit of the Soviet Communist party's decision to give Soviet young people more of a Western good time.

Though it opened as recently as December the dance hall, the only one in all Moscow, is already a booming enterprise. With admission costing just five rubles on weekdays and seven rubles on Saturdays and Sundays, many would-be dancers have to be turned away.

Some girls, in fresh white blouses and neatly pressed pinafores, dance with each other. Others have boys to dance with. A few shy wallflowers sit talking to each other. Meanwhile, a formidable stag line looks on in baffled curiosity.

A SEVEN-PIECE BAND plays. About half the dances are slow foxtrots and waltzes. The other half are sturdier national numbers like the mazurka, gavotte and Moldavian polka.

Though a boy may invite a girl he hasn't met to dance, once a dance has begun there is no cutting in. That, explains the dance hall director, a woman, "is hooliganism!" Other rules? Each dance must be executed correctly, and in the proper direction. There is no smoking or drinking.

Proudly, the director proclaims there are no rules as to dress. She considers such strictures undemocratic.

The lady director doesn't know how many dance halls will be opened in Moscow, though rumor says at least 10. To ease the crush at Sokolniki, there will be a special game room for checkers, dominoes and other table games.

Will there be, as the newspaper Moscow Pravda has proposed, a reading room built at Sokolniki so dancers can improve their minds during intermission?

The director responds with a look of hurt surprise. No, she replies, there will be no reading room at her dance hall. Nothing but fun.

Nixon's Problem

By James Marlow

He'll Have To End Silence Shortly

WASHINGTON

Vice President Richard M. Nixon's enviable position — of remaining practically speechless while running for the presidency — will soon be coming to an end.

He has been able to stay quiet so far because he has been in a doubly happy spot. He is the only one in sight for the Republican presidential nomination and he has been given President Eisenhower's blessing.

While this carries some advantages they may be more than offset by the problems ahead once the campaign starts next summer.

Here are some of the obvious advantages:

1. Since he seems sure to get the Republican nomination he doesn't, like the Democratic hopefuls, have to scramble for delegates to the convention or wear himself down in state primaries.

2. Because he has been so closely identified with the highly popular Eisenhower, he can hope, but that's all he can do, that voters will have some of the same regard for him.

Here are some of his problems:

He must buck a strong Democratic tide. In the last three elections — 1954-56-58 — the voters showed a clear preference between parties by giving Democrats control of Congress.

The fact that Eisenhower won in 1956, while the voters turned Congress over the Democrats, showed how clearly they were making a distinction between him and his party.

Since Nixon does not have Eisenhower's personal appeal, this next election may be more a matter of choosing between parties than between men.

2. Nixon has conservative Republican support but he will also need liberal Republican and independent votes to win in November. This confronts him with his greatest problem.

He must decide whether to trail along on the Eisenhower record or break out from behind the President's shadow and stand for something on his own.

This has been a very conservative and in some instances a don't-rock-the-boat administration.

Nixon will be up against a Democrat—and this goes for any of the would-be Democratic candidates in sight—whose views are more liberal than Eisenhower's.

Nixon can choose between being an administration Charley McCarthy or trying to match to some degree the promises of the Democrats. If he gets too liberal he could lose conservative Republican support without winning over the independents.

And, if he goes much beyond Eisenhower's thinking, he may seem to be criticizing the President. So he has to walk nimbly there. He needs Eisenhower's active help in the campaign.

3. Nixon will not be just another Republican candidate running against just another Democratic candidate, neither of them well known. He has been in high office long enough to have established a record of performance by which to be judged. The Democrats will have his record to talk about.

It probably will not be nice talk, since many Democrats seem to hate him for the tactics he used in previous campaigns against them. But the very manner in which he answers the attacks or ignores them will be a fresh yardstick by which the voters can judge him.

Trials Of A Candidate

By Raymond Moley

SAN FRANCISCO

At this moment in a presidential year the friends, well wishers and expectant citizens who are interested in a candidate should be admonished about some facts of political life. The more prominent an individual becomes in a democracy, the more demands will be made on his time and attention.

Unfortunately, the planning of Providence failed to provide that as a person increases in importance, the hours of his day should increase in number. And Providence also has implanted in the human breast an element variously called pride, vanity or self-esteem, which becomes inflamed when any suspicion of neglect or indifference can be detected.

This element ignites when a prospective candidate for high office attempts to channel the importunities of the aforementioned friends, well wishers or expectant citizens through some subordinate.

There is little use in attempting to reason with these natural phenomena, for they transcend reason. With a prominent person they are the inevitable consequences of high note or public reputability. They have to be lived with as well as possible.

LAST SUMMER I was told by various people that Vice President Nixon had become more and more inaccessible. This, it was solemnly proclaimed, was very bad politics.

I was told in one instance that the governor of New Hampshire had tried to get the vice president on the telephone and failed and was mad about it.

If the advice of the governor of New Hampshire, which was apparently what the governor was desirous of imparting to the vice president, was as bad as his judgment and discretion proved to be in the recent campaign up there, it is well that he failed to reach the vice president.

Last week, out here in California, another loud complaint eminated from Sacramento.

It seems that in the selection of a slate of prospective delegates to represent the State of California at the Republican convention in Chicago next July, there had been included only a few members of the Republican party in the state legislature.

The number included was regarded as altogether too small. So it was decided to send a committee of members to Washington to complain to the vice president in person.

The vice president being the accomplished diplomat that he is, the complaint will presumably be met with some sort of compromise which will end this particular incident. But it will not end the complaints about the "inaccessibility" of the vice president.

Such complaints are just as characteristic of a presidential candidacy as the crowds, the parades, and the billboards.

They are not leveled at the vice president alone, although since he is the only likely Republican candidate he will get more than will Kennedy or Johnson. However, the same complaints trouble them, too, for they also have only 24 hours in the day and their duties are manifold.

In every presidential campaign with which I have been familiar, there has been growling and hissing on every side by people whom the "Big One" couldn't see or listen to.

It was most notable in the case of the one individual who came to be known as the most accessible of public men, Franklin D. Roosevelt. It was a major complaint against candidate Dewey and even Gen. Eisenhower.

THE WRATH of those who consider themselves neglected is generally directed first at the subordinates around the candidate. Then indignation is directed at the candidate because he has selected such an inefficient staff.

Such complaints when directed at a man who is not only a candidate but a person in high public office fail to take into account the fact that he is trying to perform a difficult job amid all sorts of irrelevant interruptions.

Two years ago in California, I heard such complaints about neglect by as devoted a public servant as the state ever had, Sen. William Knowland. As a senator and minority leader for his party, he quite naturally had plenty to do in Washington.

This sort of thing is perennial in politics. Nearly two centuries ago, Edmund Burke, who represented Bristol in Parliament, was assailed in his constituency because he was so busy in Westminster. His famous answer was: "I could not serve you as I have and court you too."

The more one reflects upon what American democracy demands of its presidents, the more the wonder grows as to why there are any candidates for the office at all. Or why such candidates are usually such fine and useful men.

It must be some strange compulsion that brings them to accept a transitory glory at such a price.

Pennsy Employe In Wellsville Honored On 50 Years' Service

E. W. Urie, 512 Broadway, Wellsville, was presented with a gold pin in a ceremony Friday at Pittsburgh, honoring him for 50 years of continuous service with the Pennsylvania Railroad Co.

Urie and two other employes with similar service received the pins from E. E. Sands, supervising operator, at the Pennsy Station in Pittsburgh.

Urie entered the employ of the company Feb. 9, 1910, as a messenger boy at the 12th St. station of the Wellsville shops. While working as a messenger, he learned telegraphy and qualified as a telegraph operator. On June 24, 1912, he began work in the RD telegraph office in division headquarters at Cleveland, where he worked for several years. Then he was transferred to the general office in Pittsburgh.

During the late 30's, Urie began service as a block operator and leverman in various posts of the Pittsburgh region. For the last 10 years, he has been block operator at the Yellow Creek tower and at the present time is senior operator, holding the daylight shift.

One of the many unusual incidents he recalls during his half century of service was in 1942 when a catastrophe freight cars carrying war material and army personnel was averted.

A fall of 1,000 tons of rock from the hillside blocked all four tracks 300 yards west of the Yellow Creek tower and because of a curve would have been seen by the engineer of the approaching train in time to avoid a crash.

Urie investigated the noise caused by the fall of rock and found the tracks covered. He hurried down the track and halted the oncoming train, which carried 19 tons of bombs, among other war material.

A motorist who pulled onto the highway from the entrance of a drive-in theater was blamed for a two-car accident Sunday night at 11:30 on State Route 2, Hancock County sheriff's deputies reported.

Deputies said the unidentified driver pulled into the path of an auto driven by David K. Wilson, 21, of Chester R. D. 2, forcing Wilson's auto into the parked car of William J. McAvoy, 31, also of Chester R. D. 2.

Leetonia Driver Cited In 'Super Road' Crash

Merle E. Tice of Leetonia was arrested for passing in the wrong lane after his car sideswiped another driven by Pauline Griffin of Lisbon St. Saturday night at 10:55 on the "super road" inside the Wellsville city limits.

Police said Tice started to pass the Griffin car on the right side and the woman pulled over as he blew his horn. The left rear fender of the Tice auto and the right front fender of the Griffin car were damaged, officers said.

Tice is scheduled to receive a hearing Saturday before Mayor William J. Shoub of Wellsville.

Police Seek Motorist Who Fled Lisbon Crash

LISBON — Village police today are seeking a man who fled after his 1954 model station wagon rammed a tree Saturday midnight at 507 N. Market St.

The demolished car is registered in the name of Mrs. Eleanor Kuhns of McDonald, officers said. Mrs. Kuhns told police her son, Jack, 28, was using the car and has not returned home.

Another motorist told police he narrowly averted a headon crash with the station wagon. After the crash, the unidentified driver leaped from the car and disappeared between nearby houses, officers said.

received, then undermined Teamsters wage levels in New York so his Midwestern contracts wouldn't look too bad.

Hoffa said he always got for the Teamsters the best contracts in the whole collective bargaining field. The committee said this claim has been exploded.

The committee said Hoffa's own testimony "taken as a whole is unworthy of belief." It called it "a practically unfathomable mixture of ambiguity, verbosity, audacity and mendacity."

Probers Take Credit For Saving $300,000

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate rackets probers took credit today for preventing $300,000 in Teamster Union money from being spent on a 1959 plot to smuggle arms to Cuba and the Dominican Republic.

In a report, they singled out as principals in the "plot" Louis (Babe) Triscaro, president of Cleveland Teamster Local 436, and three other men.

Triscaro and the others, said the report, "were involved at various stages in the bizarre plot to use surplus U. S. planes to smuggle arms to the Caribbean area, which was nipped in the bud by U. S. customs agents.

"The committee is satisfied that its active interest in these developments was all that prevented another $300,000 of Teamster funds from being committed to the financing of this venture."

Names along with Triscaro were Benjamin Dranow of Miami; S. George Burris, a New York accountant and his son, Herbert R. Burris, a New York lawyer.

The report said the plan—never consummated — was to sell planes and arms to Cuba shortly after Fidel Castro took over and to the Dominican Republic.

The report claimed Triscaro was in communication with Teamsters President James R. Hoffa during arrangements.

Elsewhere in the report, the committee reviewed the activities of Ohio Teamsters President William Prosser, recently convicted of contempt of Congress, and former Sen. George H. Bender (R-Ohio).

The senators noted that Hoffa named Bender, in August 1958, chairman of an anti-racketeering commission within the Teamsters.

"Ten months later, Bender was before the committee as a voluntary witness and admitted that nothing has been done although he does have 'some recommendations' the report said.

"It also appears in the record that the commission has not even held a meeting since December 1958."

Bender quit his $250 - a - day Teamster job, later cut to $125—early this year without making public any recommendations or report.

He has since become a candidate for candidate-at-large to the GOP National Convention, running against the organization slate.

"The committee has no confidence that this Hoffa-inspired commission will accomplish anything in the way of purging criminals and racketeers from their positions of power at all levels of the Teamster organization," the report said.

"The committee regards it as nothing more than expensive window dressing for which thousands of dollars of Teamster money already has been spent."

Mr. and Mrs. Rini and Miss Belinda Berger, motel employe, who were tied up and threatened by the trio, will testify for the prosecution.

Police still are seeking Edmond Maras, 30, of Newton Falls, brother of the defendant, who also is charged with the crime. Charles Harris of Warren, a third suspect, was slain in a police battle at Dixon, Ill., Jan. 4.

The jury includes Paul M. Brown, Charles Dunlevy and Mabel Neal of East Liverpool; Richard O. Knepper of Wellsville; Neven Halverstadt, Kenneth Willis and Robert Ware of Salem; Anna Jean Liggett, Harry Pollock and Robert Muhleman of Lisbon; Hugh Kendall of Columbiana and Kenneth Wickersham of Hanoverton. Pennsy Employe In Wellsville Honored On 50 Years' Service

E. W. Urie, 512 Broadway, Wellsville, was presented with a gold pin in a ceremony Friday at Pittsburgh, honoring him for 50 years of continuous service with the Pennsylvania Railroad Co.

Urie and two other employes with similar service received the pins from E. E. Sands, supervising operator, at the Pennsy Station in Pittsburgh.

Urie entered the employ of the company Feb. 9, 1910, as a messenger boy at the 12th St. station of the Wellsville shops. While working as a messenger, he learned telegraphy and qualified as a telegraph operator. On June 24, 1912, he began work in the RD telegraph office in division headquarters at Cleveland, where he worked for several years. Then he was transferred to the general office in Pittsburgh.

During the late 30's, Urie began service as a block operator and leverman in various posts of the Pittsburgh region. For the last 10 years, he has been block operator at the Yellow Creek tower and at the present time is senior operator, holding the daylight shift.

One of the many unusual incidents he recalls during his half century of service was in 1942 when a catastrophe freight cars carrying war material and army personnel was averted.

A fall of 1,000 tons of rock from the hillside blocked all four tracks 300 yards west of the Yellow Creek tower and because of a curve would have been seen by the engineer of the approaching train in time to avoid a crash.

Urie investigated the noise caused by the fall of rock and found the tracks covered. He hurried down the track and halted the oncoming train, which carried 19 tons of bombs, among other war material.

3 Teen-agers Escape In Mishap On Route 39

Three Wellsville teen-agers escaped injury Sunday night at 7:20 when their car veered off a curve on Route 39 about six miles west of Wellsville and struck an embankment.

The State Highway Patrol at Lisbon said a car driven by David McIntosh, 19, of 408 Buckeye Ave., Wellsville, headed west, left the road after the driver lost control on a curve.

David Moore, 17, of 812 Broadway and Joan Smith, 17, of 1130 Buckeye Ave., both Wellsville, were passengers. The 1951 sedan was damaged. McIntosh was cited for reckless operation.

Thomas Mercure, 21, of New Waterford R. D. 1 was cited for reckless operation Saturday night after his car swerved off Route 9 about four miles south of Salem and hit a utility pole, almost demolishing his auto

Thomas Campbell, 32, of Negley was charged with failure to stop in the assured clear distance after his auto hit the rear of one operated by John Berchtold, 58, of Columbiana on Route 164 just south of Columbiana yesterday afternoon.

Driver Flees Crash Near Route 2 Drive-in

A motorist who pulled onto the highway from the entrance of a drive-in theater was blamed for a two-car accident Sunday night at 11:30 on State Route 2, Hancock County sheriff's deputies reported.

Deputies said the unidentified driver pulled into the path of an auto driven by David K. Wilson, 21, of Chester R. D. 2, forcing Wilson's auto into the parked car of William J. McAvoy, 31, also of Chester R. D. 2.

Deputies said the driver of the auto which swung onto the highway into the path of Wilson's car dimmed his lights and fled the scene. No one was injured. Damages were listed at $550.

Leetonia Driver Cited In 'Super Road' Crash

Merle E. Tice of Leetonia was arrested for passing in the wrong lane after his car sideswiped another driven by Pauline Griffin of Lisbon St. Saturday night at 10:55 on the "super road" inside the Wellsville city limits.

Police said Tice started to pass the Griffin car on the right side and the woman pulled over as he blew his horn. The left rear fender of the Tice auto and the right front fender of the Griffin car were damaged, officers said.

Tice is scheduled to receive a hearing Saturday before Mayor William J. Shoub of Wellsville.

Police Seek Motorist Who Fled Lisbon Crash

LISBON — Village police today are seeking a man who fled after his 1954 model station wagon rammed a tree Saturday midnight at 507 N. Market St.

The demolished car is registered in the name of Mrs. Eleanor Kuhns of McDonald, officers said. Mrs. Kuhns told police her son, Jack, 28, was using the car and has not returned home.

Another motorist told police he narrowly averted a headon crash with the station wagon. After the crash, the unidentified driver leaped from the car and disappeared between nearby houses, officers said.

Hoffa

received, then undermined Teamsters wage levels in New York so his Midwestern contracts wouldn't look too bad.

Hoffa said he always got for the Teamsters the best contracts in the whole collective bargaining field. The committee said this claim has been exploded.

The committee said Hoffa's own testimony "taken as a whole is unworthy of belief." It called it "a practically unfathomable mixture of ambiguity, verbosity, audacity and mendacity."

Probers Take Credit For Saving $300,000

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate rackets probers took credit today for preventing $300,000 in Teamster Union money from being spent on a 1959 plot to smuggle arms to Cuba and the Dominican Republic.

In a report, they singled out as principals in the "plot" Louis (Babe) Triscaro, president of Cleveland Teamster Local 436, and three other men.

Triscaro and the others, said the report, "were involved at various stages in the bizarre plot to use surplus U. S. planes to smuggle arms to the Caribbean area, which was nipped in the bud by U. S. customs agents.

"The committee is satisfied that its active interest in these developments was all that prevented another $300,000 of Teamster funds from being committed to the financing of this venture."

Names along with Triscaro were Benjamin Dranow of Miami; S. George Burris, a New York accountant and his son, Herbert R. Burris, a New York lawyer.

The report said the plan—never consummated — was to sell planes and arms to Cuba shortly after Fidel Castro took over and to the Dominican Republic.

The report claimed Triscaro was in communication with Teamsters President James R. Hoffa during arrangements.

Elsewhere in the report, the committee reviewed the activities of Ohio Teamsters President William Prosser, recently convicted of contempt of Congress, and former Sen. George H. Bender (R-Ohio).

The senators noted that Hoffa named Bender, in August 1958, chairman of an anti-racketeering commission within the Teamsters.

"Ten months later, Bender was before the committee as a voluntary witness and admitted that nothing has been done although he does have 'some recommendations' the report said.

"It also appears in the record that the commission has not even held a meeting since December 1958."

Bender quit his $250 - a - day Teamster job, later cut to $125—early this year without making public any recommendations or report.

He has since become a candidate for candidate-at-large to the GOP National Convention, running against the organization slate.

"The committee has no confidence that this Hoffa-inspired commission will accomplish anything in the way of purging criminals and racketeers from their positions of power at all levels of the Teamster organization," the report said.

"The committee regards it as nothing more than expensive window dressing for which thousands of dollars of Teamster money already has been spent."

About 160 Girl Scouts, registered leaders and committeewomen attended a coverdish dinner Saturday afternoon at the Industry fire hall held by the Ohio View neighborhood Girl Scouts.

The dinner was held in recognition of the 48th anniversary of Girl Scouting and the 100th anniversary of Juliet Low, the founder.

A film, "Friends Around the World," was screened by Mrs. Carr, who also received the collection of the World Friendship Fund.

Jury Selected For Burglary Case In Lisbon

LISBON — A Common Pleas Court jury of 10 men and 2 women was seated this morning in the armed robbery trial of James Harold Maras, 20, of Warren, charged with a gunpoint holdup of the Barnett Motel near Salem Dec. 11.

The panel was taken to the motel to view the premises after being sworn in by Judge Raymond S. Buzzard.

Maras has filed notice of alibi that he will offer evidence he was home in bed at the time three men took $650 at the motel, operated by Mr. and Mrs. Nick Rini.

Mr. and Mrs. Rini and Miss Belinda Berger, motel employe, who were tied up and threatened by the trio, will testify for the prosecution.

Police still are seeking Edmond Maras, 30, of Newton Falls, brother of the defendant, who also is charged with the crime. Charles Harris of Warren, a third suspect, was slain in a police battle at Dixon, Ill., Jan. 4.

The jury includes Paul M. Brown, Charles Dunlevy and Mabel Neal of East Liverpool; Richard O. Knepper of Wellsville; Neven Halverstadt, Kenneth Willis and Robert Ware of Salem; Anna Jean Liggett, Harry Pollock and Robert Muhleman of Lisbon; Hugh Kendall of Columbiana and Kenneth Wickersham of Hanoverton. Ohio Mishaps Kill 17 More

Traffic	8
Fires	5
Miscellaneous	4
Total	17

By The Associated Press

At least 17 persons died in Ohio accidents over the weekend, as a variety of mishaps claimed 8 in traffic, 5 in fires and 3 by other causes.

A triple-fatal fire—killing three small children in Mesopotamia (Trumbull County) — and three double-fatals were recorded. Two of the latter were on the highways—near Waverly where a rural truck crashed and at Columbus where two autos collided—while the third was a double drowning when a boat capsized in the Little Miami River near Cincinnati.

The mayor of Marysville, James F. Easton, 50, and his wife were the victims in the crash on the outskirts of Columbus.

Sunday's traffic toll was somewhat surprisingly low in view of the mass exodus to the highways that marked the advent of the season's first "Sunday driving" weather.

The survey by The Associated Press covers the period from 6 p. m. Friday to midnight Sunday.

The fatalities:

Ohio Mishaps Kill 17 More

Traffic	8
Fires	5
Miscellaneous	4
Total	17

By The Associated Press

At least 17 persons died in Ohio accidents over the weekend, as a variety of mishaps claimed 8 in traffic, 5 in fires and 3 by other causes.

A triple-fatal fire—killing three small children in Mesopotamia (Trumbull County) — and three double-fatals were recorded. Two of the latter were on the highways—near Waverly where a rural truck crashed and at Columbus where two autos collided—while the third was a double drowning when a boat capsized in the Little Miami River near Cincinnati.

The mayor of Marysville, James F. Easton, 50, and his wife were the victims in the crash on the outskirts of Columbus.

Sunday's traffic toll was somewhat surprisingly low in view of the mass exodus to the highways that marked the advent of the season's first "Sunday driving" weather.

The survey by The Associated Press covers the period from 6 p. m. Friday to midnight Sunday.

The fatalities:

Senate Group Begins Action On Rights Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—A sharply divided Senate Judiciary Committee, working under forced draft, starts its consideration today of the House-passed civil rights bill.

Called into closed session, it planned to hear first from Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers, the administration's chief spokesman for the legislation, and Charles J. Bloch, a Macon, Ga., constitutional lawyer, as spokesman for the opposition.

The idea was not to have a public hearing but to let Rogers and Bloch and the 15 committee members, all lawyers, argue out the pros and cons of all aspects of the five-point measure.

Outnumbered Southerners on the 15-member committee hoped to win the adoption of amendments modifying the House bill.

Other members planned to try to strengthen it, while some appeared content to leave it alone.

Sen. Norris Cotton (R-NH), a committee member, predicted the upshot will be a stand-off with the bill being returned unchanged to the Senate.

The bill was passed by the House last Thursday. The Senate promptly referred it to the Judiciary Committee, but ordered it returned to the Senate itself not later than midnight Tuesday.

This will permit the bill to be taken up for Senate consideration Wednesday, with or without any committee changes.

The core of the House bill is an administration-sponsored provision for court-appointed referees to see that Negroes are permitted to register and vote in areas where they are now barred because of racial discrimination.

Mrs. Ruth Rinehart Returned As Sweet Adelines' President

Mrs. Ruth Rinehart was elected to her second term as president at the meeting of Sweet Adelines, Inc., Friday night at Tice's Restaurant.

Others who will serve as officers for the lady "barbershopper singers" are: Miss JoAnn Vannoy, vice president; Mrs. June Morgan, secretary; Mrs. Edith Alexander, treasurer; Mrs. Clara Hall, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Jan Dietz, delegate.

Mrs. Ann Claypool, Mrs. Alberta Bates and Mrs. Phyllis Moore were tellers. Installation will be May 6. Mrs. Rinehart conducted business, with reports given by Mrs. Sally Lynn, secretary, and Mrs. Wanda Schussler, treasurer, who announced dues are payable April 30.

Final arrangements were made for participating in the Lisbon American Legion minstrel show Friday and Saturday nights at David Anderson High School. The group will meet at 7:45 p. m. at the Legion Home for brief rehearsal. The chorus also accepted an invitation to sing for the program of the Loyal Workers Class May 10 at the First Church of Christ.

The current edition of The Pitchpipe, the international publication, was distributed. Mrs. Ginger Hile, project chairman, reported on the proceeds of the recent lunch sale through the business district.

Tentative plans are under way to compete in the Central Atlantic Region 14 competition April 22-24 at Atlantic City. Quartet and chorus competition will be held at the Ambassador Hotel. Mrs. Dietz was appointed a teller by Miss Jane Loose, district regent, for the election of officers at the annual business meeting during the 3-day meet.

Mrs. Marge Reed reported on transportation arrangements and the group decided to go in private cars instead of chartering a bus, as previously suggested. Mrs. June Morgan, costume chairman, presented the list of accessories to be used with the uniform, along with the type of shoes chosen.

Glenn Woods directed the practice session. Refreshments were served to 30.

Because of performing in the minstrel Friday night, there will be no meeting. The next regular session will be April 8 at the restaurant.

Gas Company's Sponsor

'Food And Living Institute' Set Wednesday, Thursday

East Liverpool will play host to the Gasco Food and Modern Living Institute Wednesday and Thursday nights in Westgate Auditorium. It was announced today by H. R. Sneddon, local manager for the Ohio Valley Gas Co.

Famed as the nation's biggest and most widely-traveled cooking school, the event will be staged each night at 8. Admission will be free.

Far-away places as well as many close to home will form the theme for the 1960 food institute. The Buckeye state will provide the theme for the first show, which is called "Yea, Ohio!." The nation's two new states, Hawaii and Alaska, will supply the background for the second performance, titled "Aloha Alaska."

An experienced team, Miss Harriett Wolfe, lecturer, and Food Institute Manager Bob Eichhorn, will present both shows, aided by Betty Newton of the Ohio Valley office here and some small-fry local "performers."

Gifts will be awarded members of the audience as the climax to each performance.

Originated in 1936, the show features demonstrations of new cooking techniques, kitchen-tested recipes, housekeeping shortcuts, kitchen and laundry planning and other phases of housekeeping.

Every year, "GFI" plays some 40 Ohio communities to a total audience ranging upward from 70,000. As its reputation has grown, the Food Institute also has played — by special invitation — in New York City, Kentucky, Virginia and West Virginia.

Taking the traveling unit from town to town with a panel truck and trailer are two Food Institute staff members who are veterans in their field.

Miss Wolfe, food lecturer, has received national honors for her work in the home economics field, and Eichhorn, Food Institute manager, puts his radio and theater background to good use when he appears on the stage.

Each year, Gasco Food and Modern Living Institute takes to the road with an entirely new show — and a newly-designed traveling kitchen that serves as a stage setting.

She was raising two rats on separate diets for her project at the annual state science fair.

The bill was passed by the House last Thursday. The Senate promptly referred it to the Judiciary Committee, but ordered it returned to the Senate itself not later than midnight Tuesday.

This will permit the bill to be taken up for Senate consideration Wednesday, with or without any committee changes.

The core of the House bill is an administration-sponsored provision for court-appointed referees to see that Negroes are permitted to register and vote in areas where they are now barred because of racial discrimination.

'Food And Living Institute' Set Wednesday, Thursday

East Liverpool will play host to the Gasco Food and Modern Living Institute Wednesday and Thursday nights in Westgate Auditorium. It was announced today by H. R. Sneddon, local manager for the Ohio Valley Gas Co.

Famed as the nation's biggest and most widely-traveled cooking school, the event will be staged each night at 8. Admission will be free.

Far-away places as well as many close to home will form the theme for the 1960 food institute. The Buckeye state will provide the theme for the first show, which is called "Yea, Ohio!." The nation's two new states, Hawaii and Alaska, will supply the background for the second performance, titled "Aloha Alaska."

An experienced team, Miss Harriett Wolfe, lecturer, and Food Institute Manager Bob Eichhorn, will present both shows, aided by Betty Newton of the Ohio Valley office here and some small-fry local "performers."

Gifts will be awarded members of the audience as the climax to each performance.

Originated in 1936, the show features demonstrations of new cooking techniques, kitchen-tested recipes, housekeeping shortcuts, kitchen and laundry planning and other phases of housekeeping.

Every year, "GFI" plays some 40 Ohio communities to a total audience ranging upward from 70,000. As its reputation has grown, the Food Institute also has played — by special invitation — in New York City, Kentucky, Virginia and West Virginia.

Taking the traveling unit from town to town with a panel truck and trailer are two Food Institute staff members who are veterans in their field.

Miss Wolfe, food lecturer, has received national honors for her work in the home economics field, and Eichhorn, Food Institute manager, puts his radio and theater background to good use when he appears on the stage.

Each year, Gasco Food and Modern Living Institute takes to the road with an entirely new show — and a newly-designed traveling kitchen that serves as a stage setting.

She Forgot One Fact In Science Experiment

LANDER, Wyo. (AP) — Wilma Fee, a high school senior, forgot one little technical fact in her science experiment.

She was raising two rats on separate diets for her project at the annual state science fair.

Rat No. 1, fed milk, naturally gained weight faster than Rat No. 2, who wasn't fed milk. Suddenly the experiment went haywire. Rat No. 2 grew bigger and bigger.

Wilma had overlooked the factor of romance. Rat No. 2 was expecting.

Man Beats His Wife—At Reducing

"The rewards of dieting are so much greater than are the momentary pleasures of eating rich foods," writes a homemaker who reduced with her husband. You who are reading this may contend right out loud, "I'll bet they didn't love to eat the way I do!" And that is where you would be wrong, for this couple at the start tipped the scales at a combined weight of 550 pounds. Here is their heartening story.

By Ida Jean Kain

"If some of your readers get discouraged when they think of how much weight they have to lose, maybe our story will boost their morale.

"Many times, as with most overweights, we started on diets and then after a short while went off them. Each time we stopped dieting we accumulated a little more weight. It's so easy to let those pounds come on.

"FINALLY WHEN we took serious stock of ourselves, my husband weighed 330 and I weighed 222 pounds. He wore a size 56 suit and I wore a 24½ dress.

"We went to our family doctor for a check up and he put us on a 1,000 calorie diet. Thank goodness our doctor does not believe in pills or shots to lose weight. He gave us encouragement all along the way.

"We started our diet the first part of May of 1959 and we are still on it. Looking back over this period it hasn't been too difficult. Double dieting is easier.

"Losing weight has been a lifesaver for my husband. One month after we began the diet he had to go to the hospital for a gall bladder condition. The surgeon, who was later to operate on him, on first seeing him, said, "What are you trying to do, kill yourself with overeating?'

"That remark really gave us the incentive to stay with our reducing program. From May until the time of the operation in August, Walt had lost almost 80 pounds. He came through his operation just fine.

"Now on the 16th of February he weighs 186 pounds and I weigh 157. He has gone from size 58 waist to a 38. My measurements are 38-29-38. We both feel and look much better. We read your column faithfully and have obtained many helpful ideas from it."

AT FIRST, WHEN your dietitian read this letter I thought they had lost weight too fast. But they were under the care of a good doctor. You cannot lose too fast if you are getting perfect nutrition.

Many doctors believe that when you have a mountain of weight to lose it is better for your health to get it off promptly. Certainly it was best for the Mr. to be 80 pounds lighter when he was operated on, for obese patients are poor surgical risks.

Congratulations to this remarkable couple, and to their wise doctor who took the stand that pills and shots are not fair to overweights for the use of them simply puts off the day of real control.

Send a long, self - addressed, stamped envelope for "Mr. and Mrs. Reducing Plan" to Ida Jean Kain, in care of this newspaper. Post card requests can not be answered.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Properly Disciplined Child Is Happier

For a quarter of a century in this column, I have been entreating parents to teach the child, beginning as soon as he can creep or toddle, the unambiguous meaning of No. In all these years I have disagreed with the rank and file of parent counselors. Unceasingly, I have denounced excessive permissiveness (interpreted by most parents as restraints-to-the-winds). Recently, however, some child experts have come out and said that the youngster should learn limitations — a milder expression than "learn to respect No". Now let us consider some reasons for teaching early the meaning of this little word No.

By Garry Meyer.

1. IT CAN be taught most easily and effectively in the early years. Indeed, few children who have not learned to obey No before the age of three, will obey it at 10 or 14.

2. The early learning of No helps save the life of many a little child. Yet, with the acres of print on teaching safety, this essential point has rarely been mentioned.

3. Anybody will agree with advice, by practically all child experts, that the growing child needs abundant love, understanding and companionship. Yet how can parents be always kind and loving if the child has not respect for their authority?

Without learning to respect No early, the youngster gets so often on his parents' nerves, and they on his, that they have little or no time left for mutual affection and enjoyment. In order to be loved as much as he deserves to be, the child must learn early to respect the little word No.

4. MANY A mother gets in the habit of shouting at her young child when she does say No to him. Yet, if she had trained him well, she would only have to say No in a moderate tone without shouting.

The best way to get the disobedient child to respect No is to give him instant physical pain in a safe place on his anatomy, without exception and consistently.

5. Think of the needless waste of nervous energy by the mother whose child has not learned the meaning of No, and learned it early. Its effective teaching helps her to be happier and healthier and to live longer. Disobedient children drive some mothers to untimely graves.

6. The child properly disciplined (restrained) from his early years will be happier with himself and others of his age than if he has not been so disciplined.

7. PERHAPS the leading single cause of juvenile delinquency is the lack of adequate restraints in the nursery. How is a child, at 12 or 15, going to learn self-control and respect for authority if he has not learned the meaning of No before he is four or five?

My bulletins, "How to Teach Tot Meaning of No" and "Love and Restraint," may be had by sending a self - addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Man Beats His Wife—At Reducing

"The rewards of dieting are so much greater than are the momentary pleasures of eating rich foods," writes a homemaker who reduced with her husband. You who are reading this may contend right out loud, "I'll bet they didn't love to eat the way I do!" And that is where you would be wrong, for this couple at the start tipped the scales at a combined weight of 550 pounds. Here is their heartening story.

By Ida Jean Kain

"If some of your readers get discouraged when they think of how much weight they have to lose, maybe our story will boost their morale.

"Many times, as with most overweights, we started on diets and then after a short while went off them. Each time we stopped dieting we accumulated a little more weight. It's so easy to let those pounds come on.

"FINALLY WHEN we took serious stock of ourselves, my husband weighed 330 and I weighed 222 pounds. He wore a size 56 suit and I wore a 24½ dress.

"We went to our family doctor for a check up and he put us on a 1,000 calorie diet. Thank goodness our doctor does not believe in pills or shots to lose weight. He gave us encouragement all along the way.

"We started our diet the first part of May of 1959 and we are still on it. Looking back over this period it hasn't been too difficult. Double dieting is easier.

"Losing weight has been a lifesaver for my husband. One month after we began the diet he had to go to the hospital for a gall bladder condition. The surgeon, who was later to operate on him, on first seeing him, said, "What are you trying to do, kill yourself with overeating?'

"That remark really gave us the incentive to stay with our reducing program. From May until the time of the operation in August, Walt had lost almost 80 pounds. He came through his operation just fine.

"Now on the 16th of February he weighs 186 pounds and I weigh 157. He has gone from size 58 waist to a 38. My measurements are 38-29-38. We both feel and look much better. We read your column faithfully and have obtained many helpful ideas from it."

AT FIRST, WHEN your dietitian read this letter I thought they had lost weight too fast. But they were under the care of a good doctor. You cannot lose too fast if you are getting perfect nutrition.

Many doctors believe that when you have a mountain of weight to lose it is better for your health to get it off promptly. Certainly it was best for the Mr. to be 80 pounds lighter when he was operated on, for obese patients are poor surgical risks.

Congratulations to this remarkable couple, and to their wise doctor who took the stand that pills and shots are not fair to overweights for the use of them simply puts off the day of real control.

Send a long, self - addressed, stamped envelope for "Mr. and Mrs. Reducing Plan" to Ida Jean Kain, in care of this newspaper. Post card requests can not be answered.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Properly Disciplined Child Is Happier

For a quarter of a century in this column, I have been entreating parents to teach the child, beginning as soon as he can creep or toddle, the unambiguous meaning of No. In all these years I have disagreed with the rank and file of parent counselors. Unceasingly, I have denounced ex- cessive permissiveness (interpreted by most parents as restraints-to-the-winds). Recently, however, some child experts have come out and said that the youngster should learn limitations — a milder expression than "learn to respect No". Now let us consider some reasons for teaching early the meaning of this little word No.

By Garry Meyer.

1. IT CAN be taught most easily and effectively in the early years. Indeed, few children who have not learned to obey No before the age of three, will obey it at 10 or 14.

2. The early learning of No helps save the life of many a little child. Yet, with the acres of print on teaching safety, this essential point has rarely been mentioned.

3. Anybody will agree with advice, by practically all child experts, that the growing child needs abundant love, understanding and companionship. Yet how can parents be always kind and loving if the child has not respect for their authority?

Without learning to respect No early, the youngster gets so often on his parents' nerves, and they on his, that they have little or no time left for mutual affection and enjoyment. In order to be loved as much as he deserves to be, the child must learn early to respect the little word No.

4. MANY A mother gets in the habit of shouting at her young child when she does say No to him. Yet, if she had trained him well, she would only have to say No in a moderate tone without shouting.

The best way to get the disobedient child to respect No is to give him instant physical pain in a safe place on his anatomy, without exception and consistently.

5. Think of the needless waste of nervous energy by the mother whose child has not learned the meaning of No, and learned it early. Its effective teaching helps her to be happier and healthier and to live longer. Disobedient children drive some mothers to untimely graves.

6. The child properly disciplined (restrained) from his early years will be happier with himself and others of his age than if he has not been so disciplined.

7. PERHAPS the leading single cause of juvenile delinquency is the lack of adequate restraints in the nursery. How is a child, at 12 or 15, going to learn self-control and respect for authority if he has not learned the meaning of No before he is four or five?

My bulletins, "How to Teach Tot Meaning of No" and "Love and Restraint," may be had by sending a self - addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.

There was snow and ice on the streets at the time, the officer said. Laneve admitted driving a 1952 car with plates issued for a 1951 model which he formerly owned.

City Jaycees Given 2 Awards At All-State Meeting In Akron

The local Junior Chamber of Commerce won two first place awards for projects completed in the last two months at the Jaycee All-State meeting Saturday and Sunday at Akron.

The projects were entered in competition with those from other chapters in Division III for cities with a population of 15,001 to 50,000. There are 35 chapters in this classification.

A delegation of 20 members and their wives, headed by Ed Adkins, president, attended from here.

The local chapter won first place awards for its "Bosses' Night" dinner in January and for conducting the annual Heart Fund Drive in February. The local group won first and second place awards for other projects at previous conventions.

All projects will be grouped together to be submitted to the state convention in June at Cincinnati for possible selection for entry in national competition.

Adkins received certificates for having won a first on the Home Show held in October and a second for the "Get Out The Vote" campaign in November.

Nearly 1,000 Jaycees and their wives attended. The Ohio Jaycees announced the selection of the "Ten Outstanding Young Men."

Those cited included Charles W. Cain, safety-service director of Findlay; Dr. Gordon E. Gifford, Zanesville mayor; Marvin L. Glassman of Columbus, taxicab company executive; John L. Sutton of Dayton, department store executive and former state Jaycee president, and Atty. David L. Ziegler of Van Wert, former state assistant attorney general.

Also named were Edward E. Behm of Bloomville, David H. Bolender of Circleville and Richard E. Jagger of Mt. Gilead, all cited for dairy farming; J. Richard Dawson of Delaware, named for farm modernization, and Jerry Beauman of Mt. Sterling, cited for soil conservation.

Prank Dries Up Town

JEFFERSON, Ohio (AP)—Rock Creek, a village of 670 ten miles southwest of here, was left without water early Sunday after three teenage boys opened the town's four fire hydrants as a prank. Nearly all of Rock Creek's 100,000 - gallon supply rushed into the streets before the hydrants were shutoff. Police arrested the boys at their homes and held them for juvenile authorities.

There are more people living in New York state than in the entire country of Canada.

LAND-SEA PARK

A spectacular 176-square-mile sanctuary that is 95 per cent under water has been established in the Bahama Islands by prominent American and Bahamian conservationists.

The park, to be known as the Exuma Cays (Keys) Land-and-Sea Park of the Bahamas National Park system, is said to be the only one of its kind in the world. It is of a type that has long been sought by scientists and students, as well as divers, yachtsmen and other laymen, for study and observation.

The 26-mile stretch of cays and marine gardens, and the coral world which surrounds them, offers a wealth of animal, plant and fish life. Col. Ilia Tolstoy, of New York and Nassau, and Dr. Carleton Ray of the New York Zoological Society, directed the survey that brought about the selection of the area for a park, pictured here.

School of reef fish appear like birds in flight as they feed on plankton in clear waters of new Exuma park.

Yellow grunts dart around a gorgonian plant. They are most common schooling fish in Bahamian waters.

Underwater movies are popular among skin divers who explore the crystal-clear waters of the Exuma Cays National Land-and-Sea Park.

New Paints Will Fill Special Need

By The Associated Press

House paint that dries in less than an hour—floor enamels that can be walked on in 30 minutes—wall paints that can be scrubbed again and again—paints that give a multicolored pattern in a single application—house paints that clean themselves—mildew-proof paints—fume-resistant paints—these are just a few of the products of paint technology that make home upkeep and beautification easier for you today.

And today's paints are easier to apply, last longer, hide better, come in more colors and keep the brilliance of those colors longer than would have been dreamed of as recently as the end of the war.

GREATEST boon to the do-it-yourselfer are the water-thinned paints, known variously as latexes, plastic, rubberized or vinyl paints.

They have no painty odor, dry in less than an hour, show no lap marks and can be touched up without showing. Tools, as well as splatters and drips, can be cleaned with plain water.

Introduced originally only as flat wall paint, the latexes are now formulated as floor enamel and as exterior house paint. Since they are immune to alkali, they are ideal for new plaster and any surface containing cement or mortar.

Alkyd resin paints are the delight of both the professional and the amateur painter for a number of reasons: they dry fast, are extremely durable, have good color and color retention, withstand repeated scrubbing and hide well. Most of them are odorless.

In general, these solvent-thinned alkyd resin paints and enamels are superior to the latexes in their hiding power, scrubability, resistance to abrasion and spotting.

EVEN THAT old standby, oil-based house paint has changed. Raw linseed oil is not always used as the only vehicle for exterior oil paints.

The oil is often "cooked"—heat treated to change its molecular structure—or it is combined with alkyd resins to form what is known as an oil-modified alkyd. Both of these are used for house paints, being preferred for deeper colors and the oil for white and light tints.

Many house paints are self-cleaning in that they wear away by chalking which is washed away by the rain along with the dirt that adheres to the chalk.

Not only are modern house paints self-cleaning, but there are special formulations which contain additives that prevent the growth of mildew.

Other paints can be made to resist the blackening action of industrial and other fumes which ruin the color of ordinary paints in those areas where such fumes are prevalent.

Of recent development are the blister-proof paints which permit the water vapor generated within the house to pass through the paint film without blistering it. At the same time, they prevent liquid moisture in the form of rain or sleet from passing through.

No longer is "polka dot" paint a joke. Enjoying increasing popularity are the multi-color paints which make it possible to apply two or more colors simultaneously in a random, spatter effect.

Solution Offered To Calking Needs

AP Newsfeatures

Question: We have a covered back porch with a painted wooden floor. Over the years some of the boards separated from each other and left small openings between them. I tried filling these gaps with various kinds of wood putties and plastic materials, but whatever I tried lasted only a short while. Is there no way I can fill these openings permanently?

Answer: It appears that the openings may be a bit too wide for the type of treatment you have been giving them. Instead, use the kind of oakum calking which must be forced into the gaps with a screwdriver or other tool. After this has been done, smooth the surface with calking compound.

There are two things you should know: first, you may not find it too easy to buy oakum calking unless there is a marine supply store in your area. And secondly, the repair will stand out like a sore thumb unless you paint it carefully to match the remainder of the porch surface or repaint the entire floor.

QUESTION: I plan to make a countertop and would like to try using some ceramic tile left over from another job. Would this be practical? Am especially interested in whether this kind of tile will withstand heat, since hot pots, pans and dishes may sometimes be placed on the countertop.

Answer: Ceramic tile can be used for this purpose and should be very durable. Don't worry about the heat angle. The tile will not be damaged by the hot pans, pots or dishes. It can withstand temperatures of at least 2,000 degrees Fahrenheit.

I'm For Neely, Hallanan Says

By The Associated Press

Harold Neely has received the backing of Republican National Committeeman Walter S. Hallanan.

Hallanan took sides in the race for the Republican nomination for governor in West Virginia during the rally that climaxed "Harold Neely Day" at Hinton.

Gov. Underwood, another one of those who attended, did not come out with a like flat endorsement. He limited himself to saying that Neely, who attained statewide prominence through being a department head in his administration, possessed the characteristics good candidates should possess.

"I now wish to say that the Republican party can put its best foot forward by the nomination of Harold Neely for governor of West Virginia," were the words of Hallanan.

From Underwood came this: "We have always been blessed with good leadership, but the time has come when a good leader must offer programs and not platitudes. We need candidates with heads and hearts who have an understanding of human problems. Harold Neely possesses this."

Neely took occasion in his speech at the rally, held Saturday night, to differ with the other Republican running for governor, Chapman Revercomb, over a tax moratorium on new industry in West Virginia.

Revercomb had broached the proposal in the middle of the week arguing that, if put into effect, it would induce corporations to build plants in the state.

Two days later Underwood took a stand opposite to Revercomb's, saying that the inducement wasn't what was wanted. Less than 24 hours later Neely joined the governor in opposition.

Revercomb got in his retort to Underwood before the Neely speech. He argued that the moratorium would not cost the state anything and that the benefits would be great, and made the point that he meant it to be applied to expansion by existing industries as well as to new plants by corporations not already here.

Meanwhile, one of the Democratic candidates, Harry R. Pauley, was proclaiming at Romney that he was not a machine candidate and that the voters of his party did not want such a candidate.

He called political machines the "cancer of any state government." He said he was running strictly on his own "with no strings attached to any political organization or machine."

'Progress' Reported In Film Peace Talks

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Negotiators for the Screen Actors Guild and the Assn. of Motion Picture Producers today launch what they hope will be the last week of contract talks in the strike of 16,000 actors.

The actors and producers agreed that progress was made Saturday and both sides are now considering proposals offered then.

The strike started March 6. The bain issue is whether actors should be paid a share of the studios' proceeds from sales of recent films to television.

Sharon Steel To Close Its Mill At Lowellville

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — The Sharon Steel Corp. has announced it temporarily will close its Lowellville plant Thursday, laying off 1,000 workers.

Company officials said iron and steelmaking operations will be concentrated at its Roemer works at Farrell, Pa., and that many of those workers at Lowellville will be placed in the Farrell plant.

The plant at Lowellville resumed production only last fall after a two-year shutdown. It opened to meet a heavy demand for semi-finished steel which piled up during the 116-day steel strike.

Safeguards Are Pressed Against 'Slick Operators'

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

Despite all that has been written and said on the subject in recent years, home modernization continues to be a fertile field for slick operators.

The home improvement industry leads all businesses in the number of complaints and inquiries concerning real and possible abuses received by local Better Business Bureaues throughout the country.

Without a more careful attitude on the part of the home owner, the unethical and fraudulent practices will continue.

It may be, however, that something more can be done to protect the public than constant and emphastic warnings.

The modernization industry itself, largely composed of reputable businessmen giving full value for work performed, is anxious for some definite action to be taken.

One suggestion is that the Federal Housing Administration establish minimum nationwide performance standards for home improvement contractors paralleling those in effect in the home building field.

While such standards would apply only to modernization projects undertaken through the assistant of FHA-insured loans, they could be used as the basis for non-FHA undertakings.

An official of one of the country's largest modernization organizations, Jerome Kurtz, is leading the drive for the establishment of a system governed by official FHA regulations.

"Such FHA standards," says Kurtz, "would drastically minimize the instances of fraud by unethical fringe operators. It would also add to the risks of those attempting to defraud lending bodies by arranging the borrowing of money for non-existent projects."

Those advocating a method of safeguards say that specifications could be set up for types of underflooring required with resilient tiles, the installation of ventilation and vapor barriers essential in insulation, grades of lumber, and so on.

It is in areas such as these where financial corners can be cut by contractors without the uninformed home owner being aware that he is not getting what he paid for.

As for the customer, he can only be warned again to have more than a passing knowledge of the firm he is using for home improvment work.

He should talk to persons who have had satisfactory jobs completed, visit the company's offices and showrooms to make sure it has a definite stake in retaining good will in the area and, if there is the slightest suspicion, check with a Better Business Bureau.

George Mingle Resigns From Portsmouth Post

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP) — Portsmouth city manager George Mingle resigned today to accept a similar post at Delray Beach, Fla. He takes over his new job May 2.

Mingle took over administration of Portsmouth's city government three years ago shortly after his retirement as superintendent of the Ohio Highway Patrol. He was with the patrol 23½ years, 13 years as superintendent.

Members of Portsmouth City Council said they were taken completely off guard by Mingle's decision to take the Delray Beach post and expressed regret at his departure. Council must name his successor.

His salary at Portsmouth has been $13,000 a year. His salary at Delray Beach was not announced. He told Mayor Paul Flour his resignation was for personal reasons.

Mingle, 60, is married and the father of a grown son.

"The freedom of the press is one of the great bulwarks of liberty," says the Virginia Declaration of Rights, "and can never be restrained but by despotic governments."

Effort Made To Ease U.S.-Cuban Tension

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—President Romulo Betancourt is reliably reported trying to ease growing tension between the United States and Cuba.

He is holding talks with Cuban Foreign Minister Raul Roa, who is here on a semi-official visit.

Informed sources said the Venezuelan president had succeeded in getting Cuba to postpone a world-wide conference of underdeveloped countries. Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro had been expected to use the conference for an attack on U.S. foreign economic policy.

Ohio 5-Day Forecast

Warmer north Tuesday, turning a little colder most sections about Wednesday, warming again about Thursday or Friday. Precipitation will total around three-quarters inch in showers about Wednesday or Thursday and again about Friday or Saturday.

Steel Figures Set Record In First Quarter

CLEVELAND (AP)—First-quarter steel production has set a record and another is expected for the first half of 1960, says the magazine Steel.

Output of 34.7 million tons set the first-quarter record and another 30.3 million tons will be made in the second quarter, it estimated. The 65 million total would be nearly one million tons above the record set in the first half of last year.

Ingot making dropped below 90 per cent of rated capacity last week for the first time this year. It was 89.6 per cent, down 1.9 per cent, down 1.9 points. The output for the week was 2,554,000 tons.

The trade publication said steel consumption is expected to gain in the second quarter because of seasonal upturns in construction, canning, oil country drilling, and railroad track work. Auto manufacturers will assemble 300,000 fewer cars than in the first quarter, but the other gains will result in a higher second-quarter total.

Steel users are keeping a close check on inventories, said Steel. It reports that when steel producers get cancellations or setbacks, they often find that smaller customers who have not had a chance to rebuild their stocks are glad to take surplus tonnage.

The magazine also forecast a record in shipment of tin plate this year, at 6.5 million tons, compared with 5.8 million last year. The present record of 6.4 million was set in 1955.

It said the drop in scrap prices appears to have halted. Steel's composite index on No. 1 heavy melting grade, after declining for seven straight weeks, held steady last week at $34 a ton.

Careful Planning Holds Answer To Bathroom Traffic

CHICAGO — The location of the bathrooms with reference to the maximum traffic should be given careful consideration in planning a new house.

Bad planning may have the result that one bathroom gets 90 per cent of the traffic whereas the other bathroom gets very little use.

As a general rule it is advisable to have all bathrooms accessible from a hall instead of having the bathrooms accessible only from one or two bedrooms.

The object in bathroom planning should be to equalize the use of the two or more bathrooms as much as possible, the Plumbing - Heating - Cooling Information Bureau advises.

In offering suggestions on bathroom planning, plumbing contractors will usually advise backing up two bathrooms, if possible. This arrangement offers certain economies in piping. It is substantially cheaper than to have two bathrooms located at opposite ends of a hall.

With careful planning, the advantages of backed-up fixtures may be obtained along with the convenience of maximum accessiblilty of the bathrooms from the bedrooms.

With the advances in good lighting and in mechanical ventilation, there is no disadvantage today in an inside location for a bathroom or powder room.

April 3-9 Proclaimed Realtor Week In Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio — Gov. Michael V. DiSalle has proclaimed April 3-9 as Realtor Week in Ohio.

In recognizing the significant service of realtors in residential, commercial, and industrial development, the proclamation says in part, "I urge all citizens to join with me in recognition and appreciation of the services of the realtors of Ohio."

Ohio's 72 local real estate boards, with more than 10,000 realtor and associate members, will join with similar organizations throughout the United States in Realtor Week. "The celebration spotlights the professional services performed by the realtor in encouraging widespread home ownership, industrial development and urban renewal programs to remove the blight from our cities," Marvin C. Yorke of Columbus, president of the association, said.

New Paints Will Fill Special Need

House paint that dries in less than an hour—floor enamels that can be walked on in 30 minutes—wall paints that can be scrubbed again and again—paints that give a multicolored pattern in a single application—house paints that clean themselves—mildew-proof paints—fume-resistant paints—these are just a few of the products of paint technology that make home upkeep and beautification easier for you today.

And today's paints are easier to apply, last longer, hide better, come in more colors and keep the brilliance of those colors longer than would have been dreamed of as recently as the end of the war.

GREATEST boon to the do-it-yourselfer are the water-thinned paints, known variously as latexes, plastic, rubberized or vinyl paints.

They have no painty odor, dry in less than an hour, show no lap marks and can be touched up without showing. Tools, as well as splatters and drips, can be cleaned with plain water.

Introduced originally only as flat wall paint, the latexes are now formulated as floor enamel and as exterior house paint. Since they are immune to alkali, they are ideal for new plaster and any surface containing cement or mortar.

Alkyd resin paints are the delight of both the professional and the amateur painter for a number of reasons: they dry fast, are extremely durable, have good color and color retention, withstand repeated scrubbing and hide well. Most of them are odorless.

In general, these solvent-thinned alkyd resin paints and enamels are superior to the latexes in their hiding power, scrubability, resistance to abrasion and spotting.

EVEN THAT old standby, oil-based house paint has changed. Raw linseed oil is not always used as the only vehicle for exterior oil paints.

The oil is often "cooked"—heat treated to change its molecular structure—or it is combined with alkyd resins to form what is known as an oil-modified alkyd. Both of these are used for house paints, being preferred for deeper colors and the oil for white and light tints.

Many house paints are self-cleaning in that they wear away by chalking which is washed away by the rain along with the dirt that adheres to the chalk.

Not only are modern house paints self-cleaning, but there are special formulations which contain additives that prevent the growth of mildew.

Other paints can be made to resist the blackening action of industrial and other fumes which ruin the color of ordinary paints in those areas where such fumes are prevalent.

Of recent development are the blister-proof paints which permit the water vapor generated within the house to pass through the paint film without blistering it. At the same time, they prevent liquid moisture in the form of rain or sleet from passing through.

No longer is "polka dot" paint a joke. Enjoying increasing popularity are the multi-color paints which make it possible to apply two or more colors simultaneously in a random, spatter effect.

Solution Offered To Calking Needs

Question: We have a covered back porch with a painted wooden floor. Over the years some of the boards separated from each other and left small openings between them. I tried filling these gaps with various kinds of wood putties and plastic materials, but whatever I tried lasted only a short while. Is there no way I can fill these openings permanently?

Answer: It appears that the openings may be a bit too wide for the type of treatment you have been giving them. Instead, use the kind of oakum calking which must be forced into the gaps with a screwdriver or other tool. After this has been done, smooth the surface with calking compound.

There are two things you should know: first, you may not find it too easy to buy oakum calking unless there is a marine supply store in your area. And secondly, the repair will stand out like a sore thumb unless you paint it carefully to match the remainder of the porch surface or repaint the entire floor.

QUESTION: I plan to make a countertop and would like to try using some ceramic tile left over from another job. Would this be practical? Am especially interested in whether this kind of tile will withstand heat, since hot pots, pans and dishes may sometimes be placed on the countertop.

Answer: Ceramic tile can be used for this purpose and should be very durable. Don't worry about the heat angle. The tile will not be damaged by the hot pans, pots or dishes. It can withstand temperatures of at least 2,000 degrees Fahrenheit.

I'm For Neely, Hallanan Says

By The Associated Press

Harold Neely has received the backing of Republican National Committeeman Walter S. Hallanan.

Hallanan took sides in the race for the Republican nomination for governor in West Virginia during the rally that climaxed "Harold Neely Day" at Hinton.

Gov. Underwood, another one of those who attended, did not come out with a like flat endorsement. He limited himself to saying that Neely, who attained statewide prominence through being a department head in his administration, possessed the characteristics good candidates should possess.

"I now wish to say that the Republican party can put its best foot forward by the nomination of Harold Neely for governor of West Virginia," were the words of Hallanan.

From Underwood came this: "We have always been blessed with good leadership, but the time has come when a good leader must offer programs and not platitudes. We need candidates with heads and hearts who have an understanding of human problems. Harold Neely possesses this."

Neely took occasion in his speech at the rally, held Saturday night, to differ with the other Republican running for governor, Chapman Revercomb, over a tax moratorium on new industry in West Virginia.

Revercomb had broached the proposal in the middle of the week arguing that, if put into effect, it would induce corporations to build plants in the state.

Two days later Underwood took a stand opposite to Revercomb's, saying that the inducement wasn't what was wanted. Less than 24 hours later Neely joined the governor in opposition.

Revercomb got in his retort to Underwood before the Neely speech. He argued that the moratorium would not cost the state anything and that the benefits would be great, and made the point that he meant it to be applied to expansion by existing industries as well as to new plants by corporations not already here.

Meanwhile, one of the Democratic candidates, Harry R. Pauley, was proclaiming at Romney that he was not a machine candidate and that the voters of his party did not want such a candidate.

He called political machines the "cancer of any state government." He said he was running strictly on his own "with no strings attached to any political organization or machine."

'Progress' Reported In Film Peace Talks

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Negotiators for the Screen Actors Guild and the Assn. of Motion Picture Producers today launch what they hope will be the last week of contract talks in the strike of 16,000 actors.

The actors and producers agreed that progress was made Saturday and both sides are now considering proposals offered then.

The strike started March 6. The bain issue is whether actors should be paid a share of the studios' proceeds from sales of recent films to television.

Sharon Steel To Close Its Mill At Lowellville

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — The Sharon Steel Corp. has announced it temporarily will close its Lowellville plant Thursday, laying off 1,000 workers.

Company officials said iron and steelmaking operations will be concentrated at its Roemer works at Farrell, Pa., and that many of those workers at Lowellville will be placed in the Farrell plant.

The plant at Lowellville resumed production only last fall after a two-year shutdown. It opened to meet a heavy demand for semi-finished steel which piled up during the 116-day steel strike.

Safeguards Are Pressed Against 'Slick Operators'

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

Despite all that has been written and said on the subject in recent years, home modernization continues to be a fertile field for slick operators.

The home improvement industry leads all businesses in the number of complaints and inquiries concerning real and possible abuses received by local Better Business Bureaues throughout the country.

Without a more careful attitude on the part of the home owner, the unethical and fraudulent practices will continue.

It may be, however, that something more can be done to protect the public than constant and emphastic warnings.

The modernization industry itself, largely composed of reputable businessmen giving full value for work performed, is anxious for some definite action to be taken.

One suggestion is that the Federal Housing Administration establish minimum nationwide performance standards for home improvement contractors paralleling those in effect in the home building field.

While such standards would apply only to modernization projects undertaken through the assistant of FHA-insured loans, they could be used as the basis for non-FHA undertakings.

An official of one of the country's largest modernization organizations, Jerome Kurtz, is leading the drive for the establishment of a system governed by official FHA regulations.

"Such FHA standards," says Kurtz, "would drastically minimize the instances of fraud by unethical fringe operators. It would also add to the risks of those attempting to defraud lending bodies by arranging the borrowing of money for non-existent projects."

Those advocating a method of safeguards say that specifications could be set up for types of underflooring required with resilient tiles, the installation of ventilation and vapor barriers essential in insulation, grades of lumber, and so on.

It is in areas such as these where financial corners can be cut by contractors without the uninformed home owner being aware that he is not getting what he paid for.

As for the customer, he can only be warned again to have more than a passing knowledge of the firm he is using for home improvement work.

He should talk to persons who have had satisfactory jobs completed, visit the company's offices and showrooms to make sure it has a definite stake in retaining good will in the area and, if there is the slightest suspicion, check with a Better Business Bureau.

George Mingle Resigns From Portsmouth Post

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP) — Portsmouth city manager George Mingle resigned today to accept a similar post at Delray Beach, Fla. He takes over his new job May 2.

Mingle took over administration of Portsmouth's city government three years ago shortly after his retirement as superintendent of the Ohio Highway Patrol. He was with the patrol 23½ years, 13 years as superintendent.

Members of Portsmouth City Council said they were taken completely off guard by Mingle's decision to take the Delray Beach post and expressed regret at his departure. Council must name his successor.

His salary at Portsmouth has been $13,000 a year. His salary at Delray Beach was not announced. He told Mayor Paul Flour his resignation was for personal reasons.

Mingle, 60, is married and the father of a grown son.

"The freedom of the press is one of the great bulwarks of liberty," says the Virginia Declaration of Rights, "and can never be restrained but by despotic governments."

Effort Made To Ease U.S.-Cuban Tension

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—President Romulo Betancourt is reliably reported trying to ease growing tension between the United States and Cuba.

He is holding talks with Cuban Foreign Minister Raul Roa, who is here on a semi-official visit.

Informed sources said the Venezuelan president had succeeded in getting Cuba to postpone a worldwide conference of underdeveloped countries. Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro had been expected to use the conference for an attack on U.S. foreign economic policy.

Steel Figures Set Record In First Quarter

CLEVELAND (AP)—First-quarter steel production has set a record and another is expected for the first half of 1960, says the magazine Steel.

Output of 34.7 million tons set the first-quarter record and another 30.3 million tons will be made in the second quarter, it estimated. The 65 million total would be nearly one million tons above the record set in the first half of last year.

Ingot making dropped below 90 per cent of rated capacity last week for the first time this year. It was 89.6 per cent, down 1.9 per cent, down 1.9 points. The output for the week was 2,554,000 tons.

The trade publication said steel consumption is expected to gain in the second quarter because of seasonal upturns in construction, canning, oil country drilling, and railroad track work. Auto manufacturers will assemble 300,000 fewer cars than in the first quarter, but the other gains will result in a higher second-quarter total.

Steel users are keeping a close check on inventories, said Steel. It reports that when steel producers get cancellations or setbacks, they often find that smaller customers who have not had a chance to rebuild their stocks are glad to take surplus tonnage.

The magazine also forecast a record in shipment of tin plate this year, at 6.5 million tons, compared with 5.8 million last year. The present record of 6.4 million was set in 1955.

It said the drop in scrap prices appears to have halted. Steel's composite index on No. 1 heavy melting grade, after declining for seven straight weeks, held steady last week at $34 a ton.

Careful Planning Holds Answer To Bathroom Traffic

CHICAGO — The location of the bathrooms with reference to the maximum traffic should be given careful consideration in planning a new house.

Bad planning may have the result that one bathroom gets 90 per cent of the traffic whereas the other bathroom gets very little use.

As a general rule it is advisable to have all bathrooms accessible from a hall instead of having the bathrooms accessible only from one or two bedrooms.

The object in bathroom planning should be to equalize the use of the two or more bathrooms as much as possible, the Plumbing - Heating - Cooling Information Bureau advises.

In offering suggestions on bathroom planning, plumbing contractors will usually advise backing up two bathrooms, if possible. This arrangement offers certain economies in piping. It is substantially cheaper than to have two bathrooms located at opposite ends of a hall.

With careful planning, the advantages of backed-up fixtures may be obtained along with the convenience of maximum accessibility of the bathrooms from the bedrooms.

With the advances in good lighting and in mechanical ventilation, there is no disadvantage today in an inside location for a bathroom or powder room.

April 3-9 Proclaimed Realtor Week In Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio — Gov. Michael V. DiSalle has proclaimed April 3-9 as Realtor Week in Ohio.

In recognizing the significant service of realtors in residential, commercial, and industrial development, the proclamation says in part, "I urge all citizens to join with me in recognition and appreciation of the services of the realtors of Ohio."

Ohio's 72 local real estate boards, with more than 10,000 realtor and associate members, will join with similar organizations throughout the United States in Realtor Week. "The celebration spotlights the professional services performed by the realtor in encouraging widespread home ownership, industrial development and urban renewal programs to remove the blight from our cities," Marvin C. Yorke of Columbus, president of the association, said.

Survey Offers Best Ways To Clean Venetian Blinds

By VIVIAN BROWN
(AP) Newsfeatures Writer

If there is an argument raging on the care and cleaning of venetian blinds, let it be silent.

A two-year survey by Dr. Elaine Knowles Weaver of Ohio State University, an expert on household equipment, should put to rest all pros and cons on the subject.

The first tests studied the blind materials. The slats — steel, aluminum and wood with white finishes were washed by a special scrubbing machine with different cleaning products.

None, except amonia water, changed or dulled the appearance of the finish, the report says. Cleaning and polishing waxes and anti-static preparations were put on some of each of these slat materials. Others were left untreated.

All were given 300 hours of heat and sunshine in a machine. None of the metal slat finishes was affected and finish on the wood was only slightly dulled.

THE NEXT tests were in the cleaning of very dirty blinds with dirt distributed evenly over slats and tapes. Almost every cleaning material or device was used.

Dust cloths and papers streaked the dust on the slats and they had to be gone over two or more times. Slats that had previously been polished with a polishing and cleaning wax or an anti-static product caused less "drag" on the cloth or paper and dust was wiped off more easily.

The round brush used with a vacuum cleaner was good for dusting if the slats had been slightly tilted and the cord tension released.

Gloves made of four thicknesses of cheese cloth were found to be handy for women who have no vacuum cleaner or would rather use a cloth.

These were made by spreading the hand and allowing an extra inch in the pattern in order to make them large enough for comfort and possible shrinkage. The thumb and first finger stalls made handling of the slats easier than with a mitt.

Here is how the slats were cleaned with gloves: The slats were tilted forward so wrists were in a comfortable position.

Thumbs were placed under slat at the center of the top slat. Hands were moved simultaneously in opposite directions with an even "pull" to keep blinds from moving in either direction. When end of slat was reached, the hands worked from the end of the next slat toward the center, dropping to the center of the next slat, and working toward the end, until the bottom slat was dusted.

When gloves became soiled, they were switched to the other hand so that palms were clean.

THE REPORT stressed that if blinds are dusted frequently they should rarely need washing and cautioned that dunking them in the bath tub or spraying them with a hose is unnecessary and may shorten the life of cords, tapes and top mechanism.

Tests were made by dusting blinds with the round vacuum brush and then moistening the cheese cloth gloves with a cleaning and polishing wax, using fresh gloves when one pair became soiled—quicker and easier then the tub method.

Final advice given in the report suggests that blinds be treated with a cleaning and polishing wax as soon as they are installed, repeating the process when they needed special attention.

"We would seldom, if ever, use water but instead would use the cleaning wax. We would never dunk them in a bath tub or hang them over a line and spray with a hose," the report states.

Stone Plays Major Role In Home Redecorations

By The Associated Press

Decorating with stone is becoming an increasingly popular means of increasing re-sale value of development homes.

Both exterior and interior use of modern textured stone veneers, now available in lightweight, precut shapes, offer practical home improvement projects for do-it-yourselfers.

Co-ordination is the key successful use of stone in home decoration, according to the Building Institute.

To bring the outside indoors and give the illusion of spaciousness, modern designers suggest repeating in interior walls the same type and color of stone used for exterior walls.

Limestone, sandstone, bluestone, travertine, quartzite, flagstone and marble are some of the quarried stones which are available in easy-to-handle forms.

ARCHITECTS and designers often use matching types of stone for flooring in the patio and adjoining ground floor rooms, to increase the visual relationship of outdoor and indoor areas. Stone walls should contrast in texture and type to the stone used for flooring to achieve the most decorative effect.

Matching stone planters located outside the entrance door and in the living room or foyer are another way to accentuate the outdoor-indoor relationship.

Colors in quarried stone range from pastel yellow, rose, beige and blue tones to deep purple, indigo, charcoal and jet black. The modern stone veneers are easy to install in geometric or random ashlar-type patterns that create distinction.

The remarkable thinness of precut stone has greatly simplified handling. Some types of stone can be purchased in thicknesses as small as ⅜-inch and can be applied to an interior wall with a strong adhesive.

OLDER methods of adding a stone to a plaster wall involve galvanized ties, one end of which is firmly attached to the original wall and the other imbedded in the mortar between stones.

Stone flooring can be laid over a wooden floor. If a thin evenly cut stone is used, the installation can be accomplished with mastic. For thicker stones, asphalt building paper is spread over wood flooring and the stones laid in a bed of cement.

Packaged kits for fireplaces recently have been developed by stone fabricators. When installing a fireplace it is important to check local fire ordinances. Also count on giving the fireplace a ground-based foundation.

Bomb Blasts Are Prelude To Air Crash That Kills 5

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (AP)—Three bomb blasts in separate sections of Oklahoma City Saturday night were the grim prelude to an air disaster which took five lives Sunday.

There were no injuries in the blasts which damaged homes and autos owned by three production employes of the Oklahoma Publishing Co.

The explosions occurred within 90 minutes of each other. Officers called for demolition experts from Ft. Sill, Okla., to determine the nature of the explosions.

A giant Army transport helicopter which carried the demolition experts here, crashed during a landing approach after the return to Ft. Sill. All five crewmen aboard were killed.

They were: C.W.O. Dewey L. Seigler, 32, Walhalla, S.C., pilot; C.W.O. Carl V. Ayers, 32, Carrizo Springs, Tex., copilot; Sgt. Raymond D. Pestana, 32, Honolulu, Hawaii, crew chief; Sp.5.C. John C. Dollahite, Jr., Blanco, Tex., and Sp.r.C. Weldon D. Amason, 20, Pineland, Tex.

An Army spokesman said the twin-engine H37 helicopter apparently plunged nose first through a fog into the ground.

The demolition experts later returned to Ft. Sill by auto with samples of materials from the explosions here.

The blasts damaged the homes of Mrs. Walter Sherry, Jr., Bill Martin, and Alvin Winn. Autos owned by Sherry and Martin also were damaged.

Police said they were investigating the possibility of a connection between the blasts and two residential fires March 20.

The fires damaged a home owned by Marvin Hawkins, and another house formerly occupied by Dave Wilson.

Wilson and Hawkins are also production employes of the Oklahoma Publishing Co. which publishes the Daily Oklahoman and Times.

They, like Martin, Winn and Mrs. Sherry, took leave of their jobs here for temporary employment with the Portland Oregonian and Journal last November and December.

The Portland newspapers have been under a labor strike since last November.

Police Inspector Bert Giddens termed the bombings the works of "hoodlums and gangsters."

After Weekend Conference

Midwest Democrats Silent On Presidential Selection

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL

DETROIT (AP) — Midwestern Democratic leaders with battle banners flying scattered today from a weekend conference that left the nation's heartland wide open territory in the tussle for the party presidential nomination.

They were ready to take on Vice President Richard M. Nixon in the upcoming campaign against the GOP and their own Southern colleagues on the blazing civil rights issue. But for the most part they were unwilling as yet to commit themselves on a Democratic presidential candidate.

Sens. Stuart Symington of Missouri, Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota and John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts came to the 14-state conference courting support for the nomination. All are top-flight contenders, all got negative results and all went away with no important gains—or losses.

But the three - day rally did touch off sparks that could ignite another one of those roaring North-South feuds at the Democratic National Convention in Los Angeles next July.

There were friendly words for Southern Democrats and disavowals of any intent to drive them into bolting the party. Still, the conference launched without a dissenting voice a drive for a platform plank on civil rights that convention delegates from Dixie couldn't possibly accept.

The Midwestern leaders approved and recommended to the convention a pledge to throw the full power of the White House and Congress behind guarantees to all Americans of equality in voting, schooling, housing and eating at lunch counters.

National Democratic Chairman Paul M. Butler, who often rubs Southerners — and others — the wrong way, gave the whole performance unstinting support. Butler also informally invited loyal Southern Democrats to pick their own delegates to the Los Angeles convention to challenge any rebels who refuse to back the party nominees.

The trio of presidential aspirants had no part in putting across a civil rights proposal packed with political TNT. They had only oratorical roles at the conference, and again at a rally sponsored by the United Auto Workers Union.

Former Mayor Dies

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—A. Frank Katzentine, 58, owner of radio station WKAT and former mayor of Miami Beach, died Sunday of a heart attack. Katzentine, who was a founder in 1947 and first president of the Greater Miami Crime Commission, was born in Talladega, Ala.

After Andrew Johnson became President of the United States in 1865 he was nicknamed "Sir Veto" because he vetoed so many congressional bills.

Store In Palestine To Move Tuesday

EAST PALESTINE — The move of the Morris Brothers Golden Dawn Store into new larger quarters at the E. Taggart St. shopping plaza Tuesday will mark the end of 47 years in the present building at 249 N. Market St.

It also will mark another step in the long career of Adam Morris — "behind the counter for 65 years" — who operates the store with his three sons, Paul, George and Robert Morris.

Morris, his brother, Walter — now a real estate agent — and the late William Morris, another brother, opened the store in 1901, after Adam had worked for other firms since 1895. They later added dry goods, a bakery and a butcher shop, and in 1926 Adam bought brothers' share of the business.

The sons have been active in community affairs. Paul is in veterans groups and is a member of the Park Board; Robert is in his ninth year on Council and is currently president, while George, former professional football player with the Cleveland Rams, is noted for his exploits as a Marine in World War II.

The old store will close Tuesday and an opening ceremony is slated Wednesday morning at the new store, with Mayor Robert Harding cutting the ribbon at the entrance.

Survey Offers Best Ways To Clean Venetian Blinds

By VIVIAN BROWN
(AP) Newsfeatures Writer

If there is an argument raging on the care and cleaning of venetian blinds, let it be silent.

A two-year survey by Dr. Elaine Knowles Weaver of Ohio State University, an expert on household equipment, should put to rest all pros and cons on the subject.

The first tests studied the blind materials. The slats — steel, aluminum and wood with white finishes were washed by a special scrubbing machine with different cleaning products.

None, except amonia water, changed or dulled the appearance of the finish, the report says. Cleaning and polishing waxes and anti-static preparations were put on some of each of these slat materials. Others were left untreated.

All were given 300 hours of heat and sunshine in a machine. None of the metal slat finishes was affected and finish on the wood was only slightly dulled.

THE NEXT tests were in the cleaning of very dirty blinds with dirt distributed evenly over slats and tapes. Almost every cleaning material or device was used.

Dust cloths and papers streaked the dust on the slats and they had to be gone over two or more times. Slats that had previously been polished with a polishing and cleaning wax or an anti-static product caused less "drag" on the cloth or paper and dust was wiped off more easily.

The round brush used with a vacuum cleaner was good for dusting if the slats had been slightly tilted and the cord tension released.

Gloves made of four thicknesses of cheese cloth were found to be handy for women who have no vacuum cleaner or would rather use a cloth.

These were made by spreading the hand and allowing an extra inch in the pattern in order to make them large enough for comfort and possible shrinkage. The thumb and first finger stalls made handling of the slats easier than with a mitt.

Here is how the slats were cleaned with gloves: The slats were tilted forward so wrists were in a comfortable position.

Thumbs were placed under slat at the center of the top slat. Hands were moved simultaneously in opposite directions with an even "pull" to keep blinds from moving in either direction. When end of slat was reached, the hands worked from the end of the next slat toward the center, dropping to the center of the next slat, and working toward the end, until the bottom slat was dusted.

When gloves became soiled, they were switched to the other hand so that palms were clean.

THE REPORT stressed that if blinds are dusted frequently they should rarely need washing and cautioned that dunking them in the bath tub or spraying them with a hose is unnecessary and may shorten the life of cords, tapes and top mechanism.

Tests were made by dusting blinds with the round vacuum brush and then moistening the cheese cloth gloves with a cleaning and polishing wax, using fresh gloves when one pair became soiled—quicker and easier then the tub method.

Final advice given in the report suggests that blinds be treated with a cleaning and polishing wax as soon as they are installed, repeating the process when they needed special attention.

"We would seldom, if ever, use water but instead would use the cleaning wax. We would never dunk them in a bath tub or hang them over a line and spray with a hose," the report states.

Stone Plays Major Role In Home Redecorations

By The Associated Press

Decorating with stone is becoming an increasingly popular means of increasing re-sale value of development homes.

Both exterior and interior use of modern textured stone veneers, now available in lightweight, precut shapes, offer practical home improvement projects for do-it-yourselfers.

Co-ordination is the key successful use of stone in home decoration, according to the Building Institute.

To bring the outside indoors and give the illusion of spaciousness, modern designers suggest repeating in interior walls the same type and color of stone used for exterior walls.

Limestone, sandstone, bluestone, travertine, quartzite, flagstone and marble are some of the quarried stones which are available in easy-to-handle forms.

ARCHITECTS and designers often use matching types of stone for flooring in the patio and adjoining ground floor rooms, to increase the visual relationship of outdoor and indoor areas. Stone walls should contrast in texture and type to the stone used for flooring to achieve the most decorative effect.

Matching stone planters located outside the entrance door and in the living room or foyer are another way to accentuate the outdoor-indoor relationship.

Colors in quarried stone range from pastel yellow, rose, beige and blue tones to deep purple, indigo, charcoal and jet black. The modern stone veneers are easy to install in geometric or random ashlar-type patterns that create distinction.

The remarkable thinness of precut stone has greatly simplified handling. Some types of stone can be purchased in thicknesses as small as ¾-inch and can be applied to an interior wall with a strong adhesive.

OLDER methods of adding a stone to a plaster wall involve galvanized ties, one end of which is firmly attached to the original wall and the other imbedded in the mortar between stones.

Stone flooring can be laid over a wooden floor. If a thin evenly cut stone is used, the installation can be accomplished with mastic. For thicker stones, asphalt building paper is spread over wood flooring and the stones laid in a bed of cement.

Packaged kits for fireplaces recently have been developed by stone fabricators. When installing a fireplace it is important to check local fire ordinances. Also count on giving the fireplace a ground-based foundation.

Bomb Blasts Are Prelude To Air Crash That Kills 5

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (AP) —Three bomb blasts in separate sections of Oklahoma City Saturday night were the grim prelude to an air disaster which took five lives Sunday.

There were no injuries in the blasts which damaged homes and autos owned by three production employes of the Oklahoma Publishing Co.

The explosions occurred within 90 minutes of each other. Officers called for demolition experts from Ft. Sill, Okla., to determine the nature of the explosions.

A giant Army transport helicopter which carried the demolition experts here, crashed during a landing approach after the return to Ft. Sill. All five crewmen aboard were killed.

They were: C.W.O. Dewey L. Seigler, 32, Walhalla, S.C., pilot; C.W.O. Carl V. Ayers, 32, Carrizo Springs, Tex., copilot; Sgt. Raymond D. Pestana, 32, Honolulu, Hawaii, crew chief; Sp.5.C. John C. Dollahite, Jr., Blanco, Tex., and Sp.r.C. Weldon D. Amason, 20, Pineland, Tex.

An Army spokesman said the twin-engine H37 helicopter apparently plunged nose first through a fog into the ground.

The demolition experts later returned to Ft. Sill by auto with samples of materials from the explosions here.

The blasts damaged the homes of Mrs. Walter Sherry, Jr., Bill Martin, and Alvin Winn. Autos owned by Sherry and Martin also were damaged.

Police said they were investigating the possibility of a connection between the blasts and two residential fires March 20.

The fires damaged a home owned by Marvin Hawkins, and another house formerly occupied by Dave Wilson.

Wilson and Hawkins are also production employes of the Oklahoma Publishing Co. which publishes the Daily Oklahoman and Times.

They, like Martin, Winn and Mrs. Sherry, took leave of their jobs here for temporary employment with the Portland Oregonian and Journal last November and December.

The Portland newspapers have been under a labor strike since last November.

Police Inspector Bert Giddens termed the bombings the works of "hoodlums and gangsters."

After Weekend Conference

Midwest Democrats Silent On Presidential Selection

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL

DETROIT (AP) — Midwestern Democratic leaders with battle banners flying scattered today from a weekend conference that left the nation's heartland wide open territory in the tussle for the party presidential nomination.

They were ready to take on Vice President Richard M. Nixon in the upcoming campaign against the GOP and their own Southern colleagues on the blazing civil rights issue. But for the most part they were unwilling as yet to commit themselves on a Democratic presidential candidate.

Sens. Stuart Symington of Missouri, Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota and John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts came to the 14-state conference courting support for the nomination. All are top-flight contenders, all got negative results and all went away with no important gains—or losses.

But the three - day rally did touch off sparks that could ignite another one of those roaring North-South feuds at the Democratic National Convention in Los Angeles next July.

There were friendly words for Southern Democrats and disavowals of any intent to drive them into bolting the party. Still, the conference launched without a dissenting voice a drive for a platform plank on civil rights that convention delegates from Dixie couldn't possibly accept.

The Midwestern leaders approved and recommended to the convention a pledge to throw the full power of the White House and Congress behind guarantees to all Americans of equality in voting, schooling, housing and eating at lunch counters.

National Democratic Chairman Paul M. Butler, who often rubs Southerners — and others — the wrong way, gave the whole performance unstinting support. Butler also informally invited loyal Southern Democrats to pick their own delegates to the Los Angeles convention to challenge any rebels who refuse to back the party nominees.

The trio of presidential aspirants had no part in putting across a civil rights proposal packed with political TNT. They had only oratorical roles at the conference, and again at a rally sponsored by the United Auto Workers Union.

'Race For Space' Film To Be Televised

Well, "The Race for Space" will be shown after all!

Not over any of the three networks, which rejected the controversial documentary on the basis of vague and dubious policies. But the exposure to be given "The Race for Space" will be as all-pervading as a network outlet.

Marie Torre

It will be shown, during the week of April 24, on 104 local stations across the country, including many stations that are affiliated with NBC, CBS and ABC networks that declined to provide air time for the independently produced documentary, one of the most lucid, absorbing treatises on space flight this viewer ever has witnessed.

THE HOUR-LONG film is more than a factual account of America's position in the race for space; it also is a story well told, with rare film clips, some never before seen outside the intelligence services, and deft narration by Mike Wallace.

Tough officials of each of the networks had accepted invitations to see the film, and some praised it, but the network men subsequently claimed that they couldn't possibly accept the film because of a "policy" that calls for all public affairs programs to be produced under their own auspices.

"I could have challenged the networks in court," said producer David Wolper, who spent $120,000 of his own money on the project, "but a legal fight could have lasted five years, exhausting both my energy and my money."

MR. WOLPER'S sponsor, the Shulton Co., came up with a better idea. When the advertiser recognized the futility of the network situation, it undertook the painstaking job of making individual arrangements with each of 104 stations around the country to present the film in a prime-time hour.

The task was laborious, but the Shulton Co. found only enthusiastic response at the local stations. More so when station managers learned that the film had been prepared with the cooperation of the Army, Navy and Air Force, that it had won an award at the San Francisco International Film Festival, and that it has been nominated for a "best documentary" award in the movie "Oscar" competition (the fact that the "Space" film was given a one-shot run in a San Francisco movie theater qualifies it for an Oscar nomination.)

Viewers who intend to catch the program on TV next month will not, we guarantee, be disappointed.

THE FACE the nation knows best is Arthur Godfrey, who, according to a poll by R. H. Bruskin Associates, "is better known to the American public than Vice President Richard M. Nixon or Democratic presidential aspirant John F. Kennedy.

The firm embarked on the study to establish how well Americans know the faces of potential 1960 presidential candidates, reported that Nixon and Kennedy outscored all other personalities tested. . . "except Arthur Godfrey, who scored 91 per cent correct identification, the highest score recorded to date."

-:-

THINGS MAY BE looking up for summer TV, that old rerun season! NBC promises there may be as many as 10 new series during the hot weather months. . . .

A 39-week sponsor renewal was posted for "Bat Masterson."

Liberace expects to be back in television next season with at least one special. . . .

Arthur Murray, according to word from Florida (where he's vacationing with his favorite dancing partner), lost his appetite for breakfast the morning after the taped presentation of his Bob Hope "roast." Murray got on a hotel elevator and the little blonde operator, who didn't recognize him, said: "Did you see Red Skelton last night? He was funn-fun-nee!" Skelton, in case you're not aware, is Murray's TV opponent on Tuesday nights.

Catholic Layman Dies

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Michael Francis Doyle, 84, an internationally known lawyer and prominent Catholic layman, was found dead Saturday of a heart attack. He had served the federal government as acting counselor for the American Legation in Switzerland and the American Embassy in Vienna and was a member of the permanent Court of International Arbitration, The Hague. He was born in Philadelphia.

Many In GOP View Rogers As 'No. 2' Man

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — The impression is growing among Republicans that Vice President Richard M. Nixon may tap Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers for second place on the GOP ticket.

Rogers, who has worked closely with Nixon as one of his intimate advisers, is 46 years old, personable and vigorous. He hails from New York.

When Rogers' record as a civil rights advocate is added to these attributes of age, ability and geography, some of Nixon's friends think they total up to just what the Republicans are looking for in the way of a vice presidential candidate.

This presupposes that New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller—who could have it if he wanted it—means it when he says he won't take second place on the ticket. The Nixon camp thinks he does mean it.

Whatever his own thoughts about a running mate, Nixon isn't expressing them at this point. One good reason is that he seems to have no intention of picking any of several available men until he gets a look at the Democratic ticket.

If the Democrats should nominate Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass), Rogers' chances for second place on the GOP ticket would be likely to boom because of his relative youth and eastern roots. They would not be hurt, either, if Kennedy were to become the Democratic vice presidential nominee.

But if Kennedy, a Roman Catholic, is left off the opposition ticket, Nixon may want a member of that faith running with him. The supposition is that he then would turn to Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell.

But Nixon does not seem disposed to favor a Catholic if the Democrats nominate one for either first or second place. He is reported to feel that this would be regarded as a clumsy political maneuver.

Death Ends Trail Of Misfortunes

CLEVELAND (AP) — In 1931, James J. Zielinski's wife, Martha, died of a heart attack at 22, leaving him with three sons and two daughters.

His son Eugene drowned in a YMCA swimming pool at age 10. A few months later his son James, 12, was drowned in a Cuyahoga Heights pond where he was swimming with friends.

In 1958 Zielinski's third and last son, John, then 27, was suffocated by a faulty heater in a tourist cabin at Windsor, Ohio.

A second marriage for Zielinski ended in divorce and about two years ago he lost his job as maintenance man at a brewery. He had been getting along on odd jobs and living in a single room atop a garage behind the house here in which his 90-year-old mother lived with his brother, Eugene.

Sunday Zielinski, 63, was suffocated in a fire in the cramped quarters where he chose to isolate himself and where he had no electricity and used a coal stove for heating.

It's 11th Annual 'Parade'

Capacity Audiences Attend Show Of Barbershoppers

By CLARA HALL

Capacity houses at both performances highlighted the 11th annual Parade of Quartets of the East Liverpool Chapter of SPEBSQSA Saturday night at Westgate Auditorium.

William E. Brooks, president, extended the welcome and introduced Harold D. Putt, who was chosen "Mr. Barbershopper, 1958-1959," and Mrs. William Osborn, who is "Mrs. Barbershopper."

Edmund Duplaga of Cuyahoga Falls, president of the Johnny Appleseed District, was master of ceremonies, sporting a red derby and plaid jacket.

The opening numbers of the chapter chorus, under the direction of William Brooks, were "The Old Songs," "What a Wonderful Wedding" and "Darktown Strutters Ball," to which was added a swing and sway effect.

"The Barber Curls," members of the local Sweet Adelines, featured a straw hat routine. Their numbers included "Darkness on the Delta" and "Basin Street Blues." Comprised of Juanita Garner, Jan Dietz, Ginger Hile and JoAnn Vannoy, the quartet wore bright plaid outfits.

The chapter champs, called "The Welcomaires," sparked their performance with a humorous number, "I Miss Her All the Time." Howard Claypool sings lead and heads the "clowning" for the group, composed of Glenn Hart, Bob Blatchford and Dick Smith.

"The Colonials," Jim Raffle, Chuck Brooks, Dale Keddie and Bill Brooks, who are Johnny Appleseed District champs, displayed their versatility with several well-received numbers, including an audience favorite, "Mobile." They were presented with cuff link and tie-bar sets from the Junior Chamber of Commerce in appreciation of community activity.

A "feminine" group of selections including "Mary," "Don't Take Lulu" and "Corabelle" formed the program for the "Happy Pappies" of Cleveland, who are district medalists.

The quartet is named appropriately as the members are the fathers of 18 children.

"The Gibson Girls," dressed in striking red and white costumes of that era, offered several numbers, including the popular barbershop tune "Running Wild." They are members of the Golden Triangle Sweet Adelines of Pittsburgh and are champions of the Central Atlantic Region. The group appeared here last year for the chartering of the local Sweet Adeline unit.

The feature quartet was "The Pittsburghers," the 1948 International Champs. Using a "Police Gazette period" stage setting as a foil for their antics, the group had a wide repertoire. Assisting in a "barbershop scene" were Dean Manning, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Blatchford and Sandy Mattern.

Among the specialty numbers were "When Her Wedding Ring Was New," which was highlighted with a reading by the baritone, and "Sweet Adeline," which was dedicated to the late Paul (Tiny) Fisher. Closing numbers for the chapter chorus were "I Believe" and "Keep America Singing."

Charles Brooks and William Brooks were parade chairman. The stage setting was in charge of Jack Hile, Ed Fahnert, Glenn Hart, Dick Smith, Jack Hughey and Don Schussler. Mrs. Fran Smith and Miss Barbara Latelle were in charge of platform cards.

Mrs. Astry To Attend Event At White House

Mrs. Letha C. Astry of Salem, woman member of the Republican State Central Committee from the 18th Congressional District, will attend the eighth annual Republican Women's National Conference in Washington April 2-5, highlighted by a four-hour reception and tea at the White House.

The county delegation also will include Mrs. Sarah L. Huntt of Columbiana.

Mrs. Eisenhower's tea and reception will precede the official opening of the meeting. About 250 are expected to attend in the Ohio delegation, which will make its headquarters in the Sheraton Park Hotel. The Ohio delegation will have a luncheon at the Mayflower Hotel April 3.

Library To Get Award

EATON, Ohio (AP)—The Preble County District Library, a recent consolidation of six small libraries, is slated to get a $5,000 award next Sunday. The American Library Assn. picked the library for its Fisher Award, for excellent service on limited funds. Author John P. Marquand is scheduled to present the award here.

Viruses Tied To Cancer In New Reports

... By ALTON BLAKESLEE ...
Associated Press Science Writer

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Top virus experts today presented new and surprising evidence that human cancers probably are caused by viruses.

They also reported that some viruses, contrary to current scientific opinion, can produce substances which destroy cancers.

If specific viruses can be pinpointed in human cancers, new methods might be developed to prevent or control the disease.

"Every man is a walking museum of many viruses," Dr. Jerome T. Syverton of the University of Minnesota told a seminar for science writers sponsored by the American Cancer Society.

Man harbors more than 150 viruses, mostly just recently detected, and "we are not sure what many of them do," he said. But "now we believe that some human cancers must be caused by viruses."

Dr. Sarah Stewart of the National Cancer Institute, Bethesra, Md., reported that extracts from two human cancers, and from the urine of three children with cancer have produced curious, cancer-like growth changes in healthy human cells grown in laboratory dishes.

There are grounds to suspect—but no proof yet—that the extracts could contain a virus.

She also has found that a virus causing leukemia in mice can induce cancers in other types of animals. Humans handling the cancerous mice have been found to have antibodies against the virus, indicating they had been infected with it but had resisted it.

"There are tantalizing leads" now to incriminate viruses in human cancers, said Dr. Wendell M. Stanley, Nobel Prize winner of the University of California.

Man Rushes For Help, Then He And Wife Die

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP) — Henry Bach, 75, rushed over to a neighbor Sunday and said, "my wife is very ill."

Four persons hurried to the Bach home and found Bessie Bach 70, gasping for breath.

As they tried to help her, Bach dropped dead behind them.

When they turned back to Mrs. Bach, she was dead, too.

Both deaths were attributed to heart attacks.

Four Face Charges

ORRVILLE, Ohio (AP) — The last of four men sought in a $900 robbery of the state liquor store here Friday night was rounded up Sunday at his home in Canton. Police Chief Irvin Eshelman said he has prepared armed robbery charges against the quartet, all from Canton. Eshelman said about $500 of the loot was recovered.

Another School Joins Drive On 'Going Steady'

ST. JOSEPH, Mich. (AP) — "Going steady" is going out at St. Joseph Roman Catholic High School here.

Students who go steady are banned from holding school office, taking part in athletics or other school activities.

Parish priests explained the action in sermons Sunday, saying the teen-age habit of dating one girl or boy exclusively often leads to sin and other complications.

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Patrick J. Kenny, pastor of St. Joseph church, asked parents to discourage and forbid their children from going steady at least until the last half of the senior year of high school.

Youngsters Entertain For Veterans Hospital

Students of Bill Cassidy's Dancing School presented a show at the Aspinwall Veterans' Hospital Sunday night under the sponsorship of American Legion Post 121 at Chester.

About 200 crowded the auditorium to see the 45-minute show, which included modern tap, ballet, baton and acrobatic numbers. Larry Myers was master of ceremonies and stage manager. Mike Sweeney, Ernest John and Wayne Morrow were in charge for the post.

Performing were Phyllis and Linda Haney, Vicki and Randy Myers, Peggy Stoddard, Cheryl Standley, Mary Beth Fone and Karen Simpson.

'Race For Space' Film To Be Televised

Well, "The Race for Space" will be shown after all!

Not over any of the three networks, which rejected the controversial documentary on the basis of vague and dubious policies. But the exposure to be given "The Race for Space" will be as all-pervading as a network outlet.

Marie Torre

It will be shown, during the week of April 24, on 104 local stations across the country, including many stations that are affiliated with NBC, CBS and ABC networks that declined to provide air time for the independently produced documentary, one of the most lucid, absorbing treatises on space flight this viewer ever has witnessed.

-:-

THE HOUR-LONG film is more than a factual account of America's position in the race for space; it also is a story well told, with rare film clips, some never before seen outside the intelligence services, and deft narration by Mike Wallace.

Tough officials of each of the networks had accepted invitations to see the film, and some praised it, but the network men subsequently claimed that they couldn't possibly accept the film because of a "policy" that calls for all public affairs programs to be produced under their own auspices.

"I could have challenged the networks in court," said producer David Wolper, who spent $120,000 of his own money on the project, "but a legal fight could have lasted five years, exhausting both my energy and my money."

MR. WOLPER'S sponsor, the Shulton Co., came up with a better idea. When the advertiser recognized the futility of the network situation, it undertook the painstaking job of making individual arrangements with each of 104 stations around the country to present the film in a prime-time hour.

The task was laborious, but the Shulton Co. found only enthusiastic response at the local stations. More so when station managers learned that the film had been prepared with the cooperation of the Army, Navy and Air Force, that it had won an award at the San Francisco International Film Festival, and that it has been nominated for a "best documentary" award in the movie "Oscar" competition (the fact that the "Space" film was given a one-shot run in a San Francisco movie theater qualifies it for an Oscar nomination.)

Viewers who intend to catch the program on TV next month will not, we guarantee, be disappointed.

THE FACE the nation knows best is Arthur Godfrey, who, according to a poll by R. H. Bruskin Associates, "is better known to the American public than Vice President Richard M. Nixon or Democratic presidential aspirant John F. Kennedy.

The firm embarked on the study to establish how well Americans know the faces of potential 1960 presidential candidates, reported that Nixon and Kennedy outscored all other personalities tested. . . "except Arthur Godfrey, who scored 91 per cent correct identification, the highest score recorded to date."

-:-

THINGS MAY BE looking up for summer TV, that old rerun season! NBC promises there may be as many as 10 new series during the hot weather months. . . .

A 39-week sponsor renewal was posted for "Bat Masterson."

Liberace expects to be back in television next season with at least one special. . . .

Arthur Murray, according to word from Florida (where he's vacationing with his favorite dancing partner), lost his appetite for breakfast the morning after the taped presentation of his Bob Hope "roast." Murray got on a hotel elevator and the little blonde operator, who didn't recognize him, said: "Did you see Red Skelton last night? He was funn-fun-nee!" Skelton, in case you're not aware, is Murray's TV opponent on Tuesday nights.

Many In GOP View Rogers As 'No. 2' Man

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — The impression is growing among Republicans that Vice President Richard M. Nixon may tap Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers for second place on the GOP ticket.

Rogers, who has worked closely with Nixon as one of his intimate advisers, is 46 years old, personable and vigorous. He hails from New York.

When Rogers' record as a civil rights advocate is added to these attributes of age, ability and geography, some of Nixon's friends think they total up to just what the Republicans are looking for in the way of a vice presidential candidate.

This presupposes that New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller—who could have it if he wanted it—means it when he says he won't take second place on the ticket. The Nixon camp thinks he does mean it.

Whatever his own thoughts about a running mate, Nixon isn't expressing them at this point. One good reason is that he seems to have no intention of picking any of several available men until he gets a look at the Democratic ticket.

If the Democrats should nominate Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass), Rogers' chances for second place on the GOP ticket would be likely to boom because of his relative youth and eastern roots. They would not be hurt, either, if Kennedy were to become the Democratic vice presidential nominee.

But if Kennedy, a Roman Catholic, is left off the opposition ticket, Nixon may want a member of that faith running with him. The supposition is that he then would turn to Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell.

But Nixon does not seem disposed to favor a Catholic if the Democrats nominate one for either first or second place. He is reported to feel that this would be regarded as a clumsy political maneuver.

Death Ends Trail Of Misfortunes

CLEVELAND (AP) — In 1931, James J. Zielinski's wife, Martha, died of a heart attack at 22, leaving him with three sons and two daughters.

His son Eugene drowned in a YMCA swimming pool at age 10. A few months later his son James, 12, was drowned in a Cuyahoga Heights pond where he was swimming with friends.

In 1958 Zielinski's third and last son, John, then 27, was suffocated by a faulty heater in a tourist cabin at Windsor, Ohio.

A second marriage for Zielinski ended in divorce and about two years ago he lost his job as maintenance man at a brewery. He had been getting along on odd jobs and living in a single room atop a garage behind the house here in which his 90-year-old mother lived with his brother, Eugene.

Sunday Zielinski, 63, was suffocated in a fire in the cramped quarters where he chose to isolate himself and where he had no electricity and used a coal stove for heating.

Mrs. Glenn Ramsey, president, conducted business.

The Willing Workers of the church will meet April 19 with Mrs. Mayhew of Georgetown R. D. 1.

My workmen won't bother you at all, Mrs. Brown. You'll be out attending the Gasco Food Institute at the Westgate Jr. High School, at 8:00 P.M., March 30 and 31.

It's 11th Annual 'Parade'

Capacity Audiences Attend Show Of Barbershoppers

By CLARA HALL

Capacity houses at both performances highlighted the 11th annual Parade of Quartets of the East Liverpool Chapter of SPEBSQSA Saturday night at Westgate Auditorium.

William E. Brooks, president, extended the welcome and introduced Harold D. Putt, who was chosen "Mr. Barbershopper, 1958-1959," and Mrs. William Osborn, who is "Mrs. Barbershopper."

Edmund Duplaga of Cuyahoga Falls, president of the Johnny Appleseed District, was master of ceremonies, sporting a red derby and plaid jacket.

The opening numbers of the chapter chorus, under the direction of William Brooks, were "The Old Songs," "What a Wonderful Wedding" and "Darktown Strutters Ball," to which was added a swing and sway effect.

"The Barber Curls," members of the local Sweet Adelines, featured a straw hat routine. Their numbers included "Darkness on the Delta" and "Basin Street Blues." Comprised of Juanita Garner, Jan Dietz, Ginger Hile and JoAnn Vannoy, the quartet wore bright plaid outfits.

The chapter champs, called "The Welcomaires," sparked their performance with a humorous number, "I Miss Her All the Time." Howard Claypool sings lead and heads the "clowning" for the group, composed of Glenn Hart, Bob Blatchford and Dick Smith.

"The Colonials," Jim Raffle, Chuck Brooks, Dale Keddie and Bill Brooks, who are Johnny Appleseed District champs, displayed their versatility with several well-received numbers, including an audience favorite, "Mobile." They were presented with cuff link and tie-bar sets from the Junior Chamber of Commerce in appreciation of community activity.

A "feminine" group of selections including "Mary," "Don't Take Lulu" and "Corabelle" formed the program for the "Happy Pappies" of Cleveland, who are district medalists.

The quartet is named appropriately as the members are the fathers of 16 children.

"The Gibson Girls," dressed in striking red and white costumes of that era, offered several numbers, including the popular barbershop tune "Running Wild." They are members of the Golden Triangle Sweet Adelines of Pittsburgh and are champions of the Central Atlantic Region. The group appeared here last year for the chartering of the local Sweet Adeline unit.

The feature quartet was "The Pittsburghers," the 1948 International Champs. Using a "Police Gazette period" stage setting as a foil for their antics, the group had a wide repertoire. Assisting in a "barbershop scene" were Dean Manning, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Blatchford and Sandy Mattern.

Among the specialty numbers were "When Her Wedding Ring Was New," which was highlighted with a reading by the baritone, and "Sweet Adeline,", which was dedicated to the late Paul (Tiny) Fisher. Closing numbers for the chapter chorus were "I Believe" and "Keep America Singing."

Charles Brooks and William Brooks were parade chairman. The stage setting was in charge of Jack Hile, Ed Fahnert, Glenn Hart, Dick Smith, Jack Hughey and Don Schussler. Mrs. Fran Smith and Miss Barbara Latelle were in charge of platform cards.

Mrs. Astry To Attend Event At White House

Mrs. Letha C. Astry of Salem, woman member of the Republican State Cehtral Committee from the 18th Congressional District, will attend the eighth annual Republican Women's National Conference in Washington April 2-5, highlighted by a four-hour reception and tea at the White House.

The county delegation also will include Mrs. Sarah L. Huntt of Columbiana.

Mrs. Eisenhower's tea and reception will precede the official opening of the meeting. About 250 are expected to attend in the Ohio delegation, which will make its headquarters in the Sheraton Park Hotel. The Ohio delegation will have a luncheon at the Mayflower Hotel April 3.

Library To Get Award

EATON, Ohio (AP)—The Preble County District Library, a recent consolidation of six small libraries, is slated to get a $5,000 award next Sunday. The American Library Assn. picked the library for its Fisher Award, for excellent service on limited funds. Author John P. Marquand is scheduled to present the award here.

Viruses Tied To Cancer In New Reports

... By ALTON BLAKESLEE ...
Associated Press Science Writer

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Top virus experts today presented new and surprising evidence that human cancers probably are caused by viruses.

They also reported that some viruses, contrary to current scientific opinion, can produce substances which destroy cancers.

If specific viruses can be pinpointed in human cancers, new methods might be developed to prevent or control the disease.

"Every man is a walking museum of many viruses," Dr. Jerome T. Syverton of the University of Minnesota told a seminar for science writers sponsored by the American Cancer Society.

Man harbors more than 150 viruses, mostly just recently detected, and "we are not sure what many of them do," he said. But "now we believe that some human cancers must be caused by viruses."

Dr. Sarah Stewart of the National Cancer Institute, Bethesra, Md., reported that extracts from two human cancers, and from the urine of three children with cancer have produced curious, cancer-like growth changes in healthy human cells grown in laboratory dishes.

There are grounds to suspect—but no proof yet—that the extracts could contain a virus.

She also has found that a virus causing leukemia in mice can induce cancers in other types of animals. Humans handling the cancerous mice have been found to have antibodies against the virus, indicating they had been infected with it but had resisted it.

"There are tantalizing leads" now to incriminate viruses in human cancers, said Dr. Wendell M. Stanley, Nobel Prize winner of the University of California.

Man Rushes For Help, Then He And Wife Die

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP) — Henry Bach, 75, rushed over to a neighbor Sunday and said, "my wife is very ill."

Four persons hurried to the Bach home and found Bessie Bach 70, gasping for breath.

As they tried to help her, Bach dropped dead behind them.

When they turned back to Mrs. Bach, she was dead, too.

Both deaths were attributed to heart attacks.

Four Face Charges

ORRVILLE, Ohio (AP) — The last of four men sought in a $900 robbery of the state liquor store here Friday night was rounded up Sunday at his home in Canton. Police Chief Irvin Eshelman said he has prepared armed robbery charges against the quartet, all from Canton. Eshelman said about $500 of the loot was recovered.

Another School Joins Drive On 'Going Steady'

ST. JOSEPH, Mich. (AP) — "Going steady" is going out at St. Joseph Roman Catholic High School here.

Students who go steady are banned from holding school office, taking part in athletics or other school activities.

Parish priests explained the action in sermons Sunday, saying the teen-age habit of dating one girl or boy exclusively often leads to sin and other complications.

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Patrick J. Kenny, pastor of St. Joseph church, asked parents to discourage and forbid their children from going steady at least until the last half of the senior year of high school.

Youngsters Entertain For Veterans Hospital

Students of Bill Cassidy's Dancing School presented a show at the Aspinwall Veterans' Hospital Sunday night under the sponsorship of American Legion Post 121 at Chester.

About 200 crowded the auditorium to see the 45-minute show, which included modern tap, ballet, baton and acrobatic numbers. Larry Myers was master of ceremonies and stage manager. Mike Sweeney, Ernest John and Wayne Morrow were in charge for the post.

Performing were Phyllis and Linda Haney, Vicki and Randy Myers, Peggy Stoddard, Cheryl Standley, Mary Beth Fone and Karen Simpson.

Tri-State Tourney Opens Tuesday With 17 Teams Entered

Five Contests Will Feature Opening Night

Due to a small, but select, field of 17 teams, the Tri-state tournament will not get under way until Tuesday night. It originally was scheduled to open tonight.

First-round games will be Tuesday and Wednesday, the quarter-finals Friday and semi-finals and finals on Saturday at the Memorial Auditorium. No games are scheduled Thursday.

Six late entries, which beat the Saturday midnight deadline, placed the list at 17 for the 35th annual event.

The late entries were headed by Francis P. White Insurance Agency which shows Geneva College players, including Jim Irons former Monaca great and now a standout with Geneva, along with Larry Zeh, Dewey Brown and Biff Aultman.

Varsho's of East Liverpool will be made up of talent from Chester, Newell and East Liverpool, led by Ted Robinson, one of the leading scorers in the local City League this season, Al Dawson, John Kiger, former Newell varsity performer, John Watson and Keith Bishop.

Former Wellsville, Toronto and Salineville cagers compose the Vernon Dell lineup, with Jim Yost, Jack Call, Toronto's Don Karavas, John Martin, Jim and Jerry Russell, Dave Gearin and Jerry Giannone.

Another local entry — Wilson's Sunoco — includes a host of City League players in Bob Hull, Bill Hulme, Chick McMillen, Bob Bickle, George Parfitt and Clem Moore.

Lee's Market of Glenmoor lists Franklin Jackson, who performed with this year's Wellsville varsity, Sonny Stephens and Norman Six, former Newell cagers, and players from Chester, Newell and East Liverpool.

Manchester was the final entry and lists high school talent from the North Pittsburgh area.

Gengarellas stamped itself as the leading contender again, seeking its fourth straight Tri-State crown, and last year's runnerup — American Billiards-Freed's — has entered a strong outfit.

Carrying Gengarellas hopes this year will be Bernie Mathews, Brown and O'Toole of Duquesne University along with Ashton and Jones of St. Francis College, Mills of Pitt, Mahar and Krak of Steubenville College, Jim Harris, Frank Chan and Ray Bigelow, who performed for the Potters this past season.

American Billiards - Freed's, which dropped a 72-61 contest in the finals last year, will enter the tourney with Jim Tucker and Paul James as its two mainstays. Gus Dauka, manager of the Billiard five, also is seeking Akron Goodyear's Charlie Slack and Bill Riegle.

Another team due some consideration is Riverview Florist which lists talent from Youngstown University and Westminster. Heading the list is Chuckie Davis and Harold Davis of Westminster, Mickey Yugovich, the second all • time scorer in Youngstown University history, and Len Nelson, a former Muskingum star who was voted All-Ohio while in college.

Two East Liverpool squads — Lee's Market and Wilson Sunoco— will open the tourney Tuesday at 6:30. Freed's - American Billiards headed by Bevo Francis, will meet Major TV of Steubenville in the second contest at 7. Games will be sandwiched.

What looks to be the top game of the evening pits Riverview Florist against the Grads, which list former Steubenville College players.

At 9 p. m. Hoyle Club meets Lee Stockton's Collegians, while the final game at 10:30 pits the winner of the Lee's Market - Wilson Sunoco game against American Billiards.

Western Ohio Claims Both Cage Titles

Fans Greet Roosevelt, Salem Local

By The Associated Press

"Welcome home, champs."

Those were the key words voiced in Dayton and Urbana Sunday as Ohio's Class AA and A high school basketball champions returned home from the battles of the state tournament in Columbus.

Some 25,000 fans turned out to welcome the heroes, Dayton Roosevelt's Teddies, the Class AA kings, and Salem Local's Tigers, the small school victors from near Urbana.

Nearly 10,000 persons were on hand at Dayton's Triangle Park to cheer the Teddies as they drove into view. From there a three-mile procession took the team and crowd to Roosevelt High School where Dayton Mayor R. William Patterson proclaimed the Teddies "the greatest basketball team in the history of Dayton."

About a mile from Urbana, an estimated 15,000 fans waited patiently for the arrival of Salem Local's Tigers. When they arrived, the team was escorted into the city in parade fashion. There, at Monument Square, homage was paid by State Auditor James Rhodes to "one of the best teams that has ever won the state championship."

Dayton Roosevelt coach John Woolums expressed optimism that the Teddies could repeat as champions next year. He told the throng at the high school, referring to the championship trophy: "It's the first on the list for me. . . We've struggled for it for many years.

"As for me," the Class AA coach of the year went on, "I've no intention of retiring. We're coming back up here (to Columbus) next year."

Robert Kline, president of the Dayton Board of Education, praised the Teddies as performing "a difficult task in a wonderful manner . . . . they have displayed the stick-to-itiveness that wins."

But by far the biggest ovation went to Arne D. Holmbo, Roosevelt principal, when he announced there will be no school Monday in honor of the Teddies' triumph.

State Auditor Rhodes told Salem's Tigers, "St. John Arena (site of the state tourney) has never seen a team that has shown better sportsmanship than your team . . . . I congratulate you from the state of Ohio."

Tiger mentor Bill Hupp, named Class A coach of the year by the Associated Press, said he felt "very humble being the coach of this team."

He added: "It sure is nice to win, especially if you win more than you lose."

Workers To Be Named At Nonpareil Meeting

Workers for the annual Junior Basketball Tournament April 5, 6, 7 and 8 in Memorial Auditorium will be named at a meeting of the Blue and White Nonpareil Club Tuesday night at 8 in the YMCA. Ralph Musuraca, president, said fans who wish to help with the tournament are asked to be present.

Writers Take Bow For Right Picks In Ohio

By FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—While Dayton Roosevelt and Salem Local of Champaign County were celebrating their newly won high school basketball championships today, the state's sportswriters and sportscasters also took a bow.

Roosevelt ended Cleveland East Tech's two-year reign in Class AA by a convincing 51-41 score in Saturday night's state tournament finals, and Salem Local triumphed 74 - 59 over Frazeysburg's Red Raiders in Class A.

The sports writers, in the final Associated Press poll taken when all 432 Class AA teams were still in action, had designated Roosevelt as the No. 1 team, and East Tech as No. 2. They finished just that way.

The same scribes hailed Roosevelt's Ray Brown as the top Class AA player in the state and Al Thrasher of Salem Local as the best in the 561-school Class A list.

Brown led the big school tournament scorers with 35 points, Thrasher the Class A group with 33. In the pre-tourney voting John Woolums of Roosevelt and Bill Hupp of Salem Local were designated as "coaches of the year" in their divisions—and each won his state championship.

Salem Local had been tagged as the No. 3 team in the final Class A poll, but the Tigers knocked off New Boston in the semi-finals, and then walloped Frazeysburg — the team which kayoed top-ranked Northwestern of Wayne County — in the payoff tilt.

As Roosevelt and Salem Local moved to the thrones with identical 27-0 records, it marked only the second time in 38 years that both champions were unbeaten. The previous time was two years ago when East Tech won with 26-0 in Class AA and Northwestern with 29-0 in Class A.

The tourney results gave southwestern Ohio an added boost in basketball prestige. That area has won 19 of 38 Class AA championships and 10 of the Class A crowns.

Other districts, in Class AA, show the northeast and east with 6 championships, central with 4, northwest with 2 and the southeast with 1. In Class A the northeast has 9, northwest 8, southeast 6, central 4, and east 1.

Salem Local is only the sixth team in 38 years to win the Class A crown with a perfect record, Roosevelt the twelfth in Class AA. One of the unbeaten champions in the big school division was Akron West in 1932—which woundup with a real basketball oddity of 19 victories, no losses and one tie. The last five Class AA crowns have gone to undefeated teams.

Poorest Class AA record to take the title was Newark's 16-10 in 1936. Somerset and Yorkville won in Class A in 1942 and 1943, each with six losses, for the poorest in that division.

Only Steve McCullough, who scored 25 and 21 in Salem Local's two games, will be back next year from the class A champion's starting lineup. Roosevelt loses all but L. C. Snow, a classy guard and forward John Henderson from the starting five, but Woolums said "we have a good nucleus and we'll be back."

The two-day tournament set an attendance record of 55,553, bettering last year's mark of 54,338. The two Class A sessions drew 27,620 fans, the Class AA games 27,933. A year ago the "AA" teams attracted only 25,951.

The Pittsburgh Pirates can field an all-Caribbean outfield—Roberto Clemente of Puerto Rico, Roman Mejias of Cuba and Joe Christopher of the Virgin Islands.

Hoppel Fails To Place In NCAA Tournament

Jim Hoppel, one of two Bowling Green wrestlers entered in the NCAA tournament at the University of Maryland, failed to place in the event this past weekend. Hoppel lost his first match, won his first consolation bout, then lost his second consolation start. He was named Bowling Green's most valuable wrestler this past season.

In Y-Church League Tourney

First U. P. Captures Title

First United Presbyterian was crowned champions of the YMCA-Church League Tournament after handing First Methodist a 13-9 setback in the final game Saturday night on the "Y" floor.

First U. P. gained the final game by defeating St. John's Lutheran, 28-12, in the semi-final round, while First Methodist eliminated First Church of the Nazarene, 12-7.

The championship game was nip and tuck all the way, with the Presbyterians leading 6-4 at halftime.

With 3 minutes remaining and the score tied at 8-8, Davison and Dave Oliver fired in a goal each to put the game on ice for the new champions.

Davison's 5 points and Oliver's 4 paced the winners while Howell dropped in 6 for First Methodist.

In the semi-final tilts, Howell scored 11 points in the victory over First Church of the Nazarene, while Randy Stover tallied 4 for the losers.

Oliver fired in 13 points in the semi-final victory over St. John's, while Bob Forzano and Chetwynd each collected 5 for the losing St. John's team.

Tribe News Proves Both Good And Bad

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — News from the Cleveland Indians training camp had a negative flavor today — shortstop Woodie Held, back from Mayo Clinic, still can't swing a bat; General Manager Frank Lane sends word from Miami he can't trade off Russ Nixon; and big Walt Bond has begun striking out on curves.

On the positive side, however, there's the pitching of Carl Thomas, the 6-foot-4, 240-pound rookie from right here in Tucson. He ran his string of scoreless innings to 13 Sunday as the Indians lost to the Chicago Cubs 3-2. The 27-year-old righthander blanked the Cubs over three innings in his first Cactus League appearance, hurled one scoreless frame against the San Francisco Giants and shut out Boston for four innings.

Held said the doctors at Mayo Clinic "seemed to think everything was all right." A report on the examination Lane ordered will not arrive for a few days. Held, who needed 42 stiches in his back during an operation on an infected mole two weeks ago, can't use his left shoulder muscles yet but has started limited workouts.

Lane, who expects to remain in Florida all this week, said Bucky Harris, Boston general manager, has refused his offer of Nixon for outfielder Marty Keough and catcher Haywood Sullivan along with Jim Marshall, who now has gone to Scottsdale to join the Red Sox.

Bond went down swinging Sunday at jughandles thrown by southpaw Seth Morehead. Manager Joe Gordon sent Bond in to pinch-hit in the seventh inning. Bond struck out Saturday too, demonstrating a weakness on curve balls. Previously he had been hitting sensationally and hadn't fanned at all.

Ohio Boater Wins

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—With 43 boats competing, Don Bever of Vermilion, Ohio, moved his craft from 12 position to win the opening race of the Commodore Ernest Jahncke open series for star class boats over rain-swept Lake Pontchartrain Sunday.

40-Year-Old Rookie Bids For Berth With Pirates

By The Associated Press

A minor baseball miracle is taking place at Fort Myers, Fla., where Diomedes Olivo, a 40-year-old rookie pitcher, is trying to earn a berth with Pittsburgh's Pirates.

Picked up from Poza Rica of the Mexican League, Olivo impressed again Sunday by pitching one-hit ball for two innings in his exhibition debut as Pittsburgh blanked Washington 4-0 for its 11th consecutive victory.

Olivo compiled a 21-8 record in the double A Mexican circuit last season. He appeared in 35 games, completed 23 of 30 starts, worked 247 innings, struck out 233, walked only 61 and turned in a 3.02 earned run average.

Despite Olivo's age, Pirate Manager Danny Murtaugh decided to take a look at the 6-foot-1, 195-pound native of the Dominican Republic. He may be just the man to spell relief specialist Roy Face.

Olivo's pitched creditably in most of his intrasquad workouts and showed a hopping fast ball in his first official outing for the Pirates, who haven't lost since dropping their first three games.

Other fine pitching performances were turned in Sunday by St. Louis' Vinegar Bend Mizell, who went nine innings and beat Detroit 3-1 on a five-hitter, and Cincinnati's Jim Brosnan, a 4-3 victor over Milwaukee with a six-hit, nine-inning job.

In other games, Chicago's White Sox edged Philadelphia 7-6, Baltimore defeated New York 3-1, San Francisco beat Boston 6-3, Kansas City nipped Los Angeles 3-2 and Chicago's Cubs whipped Cleveland 3-2.

Celtics Romp Over Hawks, Take Lead In Pro Playoffs

By BOB HOOBING
Associated Press Sports Writer

BOSTON (AP)—The hot-handed Boston Celtics have caught St. Louis in the middle of a style adjustment to get the jump in the National Basketball Assn. championship playoff series which both clubs figure is going to get much tougher.

Boston romped to a 140-122 getaway victory Sunday which produced nine records, including most points in a game by one team and two in a title playoff contest.

"It was just one of those days," shrugged happy Celtics Coach Red Auerbach who agreed with the Hawks' Ed Macauley that the best-of-seven struggle is far from over. "We couldn't do anything wrong," Auerbach continued. "You don't beat these guys that easily very often."

"Tuesday's second game is the big one," Macauley said. "The fact that we had to travel after playing Minneapolis Saturday and that the Lakers are not a running club like Boston played a part in the outcome."

"I hated to beat them so badly," commented Bill Sharman of the Celts who got 23 points while Tom Heinsohn had 24, Frank Ramsey 21 and Bob Cousy 20 in the balanced Boston attack. "We caught them when they were tired. They'll get tougher. When we got hot like that we tend to think we can do it any time and it isn't so."

Cousy was the man who released the torrent of Boston points. In the first 4½ minutes of the second period the veteran backcourt wizard directed an outburst then sent the Celts from a 30-25 lead out to a commanding 47-30 margin. In that span Cooz scored two baskets, assisted on four more, stole the ball three times and intercepted a pass.

In nine seasons of racing, Ancestor has started 101 times in steeplechase races. Mrs. Ogden Phipps' jumper has won 26 races and $237,956.

Coach Feels 'O' Will Join Cincy Royals

NEW YORK (AP)—Oscar Robertson, the Big O of college basketball, will do his pro playing for a National Basketball Assn. club, undoubtedly Cincinnati, rather than the Harlem Globetrotters.

That was the word today from George Smith, coach of the three-time All-America who graduates from the University of Cincinnati this spring with a degree in business administration.

Oscar was not in a talkative mood regarding his future basketball plans after starring in a losing cause in the East's 67-66 victory over the West in the New York Herald Tribune's Fresh Air Fund All-Star Game Saturday.

But Smith, who coached the Western team, said: "I think I know Oscar. He is not concerned with a fantastic salary as the Globetrotters figure to offer him. He wants a home, security and a chance to build a future. As you know he is getting married in June.

"He figures the Globetrotters wouldn't offer him all of that since the team is constantly on the go. With the NBA he'll be able to set up a home and possibly go into the business of selling real estate and insurance in the off season."

The Cincinnati Royals have first call on Robertson in the NBA as a territorial selection.

Mount Lebanon Wins Track And Field Meet

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Mount Lebanon High School, placing first in four events, easily won the Tri-State Track Coaches Assn. annual indoor track and field meet Saturday at South Park.

Teams from western Pennsylvania, West Virginia and eastern Ohio competed.

Cagers Await Olympic Test On Thursday

DENVER (AP)—The big stars of college basketball, including four Associated Press All-Americas, are matched against Bartlesville's (Okla.) veteran AAU team in one of the four games opening the Olympic trials here Thursday night.

Cincinnati's Oscar Robertson, West Virginia's Jerry West, California's Darrall Imhoff and Tony Jackson of St. John's (N.Y.) head the dream cast of the NCAA university all star team coached by Pete Newell of California.

They'll battle such AAU greats as Red Murrell (Drake), Burdie Haldorson (Colorado), George Lee (Michigan), Tom Robitaille (Rice), Paul Neumann (Stanford), Les Lane (Oklahoma), Jerry Shipp (Southeast Oklahoma), who form the core of Bartlesville's team, champion of the National Industrial League.

The other three games bring together the rest of the nation's greatest amateur talent, trying out for the 12 berths on the United States Olympic team that plays in Rome late this summer.

Ohio State's NCAA champions, including All-America Jerry Lucas, go against the small college stars from the National Athletic Intercollegiate Assn. (NAIA) coached by Milton Jowers of Southwest Texas.

Peoria, champion of the AAU tournament here last week, meets another collection of NCAA all stars coached by Ard McCutchan of Evansville (Ind) College, who steered his team to the NCAA Small College Division title.

The other opening contest sends Akron (Ohio) Wingfoots, runnerup to Peoria in the AAU, against the Armed Forces All Stars.

All eight teams in the meet are scheduled to play three games.

Five Contests Will Feature Opening Night

Due to a small, but select, field of 17 teams, the Tri-state tournament will not get under way until Tuesday night. It originally was scheduled to open tonight.

First-round games will be Tuesday and Wednesday, the quarter-finals Friday and semi-finals and finals on Saturday at the Memorial Auditorium. No games are scheduled Thursday.

Six late entries, which beat the Saturday midnight deadline, placed the list at 17 for the 35th annual event.

The late entries were headed by Francis P. White Insurance Agency which shows Geneva College players, including Jim Irons former Monaca great and now a standout with Geneva, along with Larry Zeh, Dewey Brown and Biff Aultman.

Varsho's of East Liverpool will be made up of talent from Chester, Newell and East Liverpool, led by Ted Robinson, one of the leading scorers in the local City League this season, Al Dawson, John Kiger, former Newell varsity performer, John Watson and Keith Bishop.

Former Wellsville, Toronto and Salineville cagers compose the Vernon Dell lineup, with Jim Yost, Jack Call, Toronto's Don Karavas, John Martin, Jim and Jerry Russell, Dave Gearin and Jerry Giannone.

Another local entry — Wilson's Sunoco — includes a host of City League players in Bob Hull, Bill Hulme, Chick McMillen, Bob Bickle, George Parfitt and Clem Moore.

Lee's Market of Glenmoor lists Franklin Jackson, who performed with this year's Wellsville varsity, Sonny Stephens and Norman Six, former Newell cagers, and players from Chester, Newell and East Liverpool.

Manchester was the final entry and lists high school talent from the North Pittsburgh area.

Gengarellas stamped itself as the leading contender again, seeking its fourth straight Tri-State crown, and last year's runnerup — American Billiards-Freed's — has entered a strong outfit.

Carrying Gengarellas hopes this year will be Bernie Mathews, Brown and O'Toole of Duquesne University along with Ashton and Jones of St. Francis College, Mills of Pitt, Mahar and Krak of Steubenville College, Jim Harris, Frank Chan and Ray Bigelow, who performed for the Potters this past season.

American Billiards - Freed's, which dropped a 72-61 contest in the finals last year, will enter the tourney with Jim Tucker and Paul James as its two mainstays. Gus Dauka, manager of the Billiard five, also is seeking Akron Goodyear's Charlie Slack and Bill Riegle.

Another team due some consideration is Riverview Florist which lists talent from Youngstown University and Westminster. What looks to be the top game of the evening pits Riverview Florist against the Grads, which list former Steubenville College players.

Western Ohio Claims Both Cage Titles

Fans Greet Roosevelt, Salem Local

By The Associated Press

"Welcome home, champs."

Those were the key words voiced in Dayton and Urbana Sunday as Ohio's Class AA and A high school basketball champions returned home from the battles of the state tournament in Columbus.

Some 25,000 fans turned out to welcome the heroes, Dayton Roosevelt's Teddies, the Class AA kings, and Salem Local's Tigers, the small school victors from near Urbana.

Nearly 10,000 persons were on hand at Dayton's Triangle Park to cheer the Teddies as they drove into view. From there a three-mile procession took the team and crowd to Roosevelt High School where Dayton Mayor R. William Patterson proclaimed the Teddies "the greatest basketball team in the history of Dayton."

About a mile from Urbana, an estimated 15,000 fans waited patiently for the arrival of Salem Local's Tigers. When they arrived, the team was escorted into the city in parade fashion. There, at Monument Square, homage was paid by State Auditor James Rhodes to "one of the best teams that has ever won the state championship."

Dayton Roosevelt coach John Woolums expressed optimism that the Teddies could repeat as champions next year. He told the throng at the high school, referring to the championship trophy: "It's the first on the list for me. . . We've struggled for it for many years.

"As for me," the Class AA coach of the year went on, "I've no intention of retiring. We're coming back up here (to Columbus) next year."

Robert Kline, president of the Dayton Board of Education, praised the Teddies as performing "a difficult task in a wonderful manner . . . . they have displayed the stick-to-itiveness that wins."

But by far the biggest ovation went to Arne D. Holmbo, Roosevelt principal, when he announced there will be no school Monday in honor of the Teddies' triumph.

State Auditor Rhodes told Salem's Tigers, "St. John Arena (site of the state tourney) has never seen a team that has shown better sportsmanship than your team . . . . I congratulate you from the state of Ohio."

Tiger mentor Bill Hupp, named Class A coach of the year by the Associated Press, said he felt "very humble being the coach of this team."

He added: "It sure is nice to win, especially if you win more than you lose."

Workers To Be Named At Nonpareil Meeting

Workers for the annual Junior Basketball Tournament April 5, 6, 7 and 8 in Memorial Auditorium will be named at a meeting of the Blue and White Nonpareil Club Tuesday night at 8 in the YMCA. Ralph Musuraca, president, said fans who wish to help with the tournament are asked to be present.

Writers Take Bow For Right Picks In Ohio

By FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—While Dayton Roosevelt and Salem Local of Champaign County were celebrating their newly won high school basketball championships today, the state's sportswriters and sportscasters also took a bow.

Roosevelt ended Cleveland East Tech's two-year reign in Class AA by a convincing 51-41 score in Saturday night's state tournament finals, and Salem Local triumphed 74 - 59 over Frazeysburg's Red Raiders in Class A.

The sports writers, in the final Associated Press poll taken when all 432 Class AA teams were still in action, had designated Roosevelt as the No. 1 team, and East Tech as No. 2. They finished just that way.

The same scribes hailed Roosevelt's Ray Brown as the top Class AA player in the state and Al Thrasher of Salem Local as the best in the 561-school Class A list.

Brown led the big school tournament scorers with 35 points, Thrasher the Class A group with 33. In the pre-tourney voting John Woolums of Roosevelt and Bill Hupp of Salem Local were designated as "coaches of the year" in their divisions—and each won his state championship.

Salem Local had been tagged as the No. 3 team in the final Class A poll, but the Tigers knocked off New Boston in the semi-finals, and then walloped Frazeysburg — the team which kayoed top-ranked Northwestern of Wayne County — in the payoff tilt.

As Roosevelt and Salem Local moved to the thrones with identical 27-0 records, it marked only the second time in 38 years that both champions were unbeaten. The previous time was two years ago when East Tech won with 26-0 in Class AA and Northwestern with 29-0 in Class A.

The tourney results gave southwestern Ohio an added boost in basketball prestige. That area has won 19 of 38 Class AA championships and 10 of the Class A crowns.

Other districts, in Class AA, show the northeast and east with 6 championships, central with 4, northwest with 2 and the southeast with 1. In Class A the northeast has 9, northwest 8, southeast 6, central 4, and east 1.

Salem Local is only the sixth team in 38 years to win the Class A crown with a perfect record, Roosevelt the twelfth in Class AA. One of the unbeaten champions in the big school division was Akron West in 1932—which woundup with a real basketball oddity of 19 victories, no losses and one tie. The last five Class AA crowns have gone to undefeated teams.

Poorest Class AA record to take the title was Newark's 16-10 in 1936. Somerset and Yorkville won in Class A in 1942 and 1943, each with six losses, for the poorest in that division.

Only Steve McCullough, who scored 25 and 21 in Salem Local's two games, will be back next year from the class A champion's starting lineup. Roosevelt loses all but L. C. Snow, a classy guard and forward John Henderson from the starting five, but Woolums said "we have a good nucleus and we'll be back."

The two-day tournament set an attendance record of 55,553, bettering last year's mark of 54,338. The two Class A sessions drew 27,620 fans, the Class AA games 27,933. A year ago the "AA" teams attracted only 25,951.

The Pittsburgh Pirates can field an all-Caribbean outfield—Roberto Clemente of Puerto Rico, Roman Mejias of Cuba and Joe Christopher of the Virgin Islands.

Hoppel Fails To Place In NCAA Tournament

Jim Hoppel, one of two Bowling Green wrestlers entered in the NCAA tournament at the University of Maryland, failed to place in the event this past weekend. Hoppel lost his first match, won his first consolation bout, then lost his second consolation start. He was named Bowling Green's most valuable wrestler this past season.

CLEVELAND EAST Tech cheerleaders also found defeat hard to take as they broke down in tears when Tech lost to Dayton Roosevelt, 51-41, in the Class "AA" finals Saturday at Columbus. (UPI Telephoto)

In Y-Church League Tourney

First U. P. Captures Title

First United Presbyterian was crowned champions of the YMCA-Church League Tournament after handing First Methodist a 13-9 setback in the final game Saturday night on the "Y" floor.

First U. P. gained the final game by defeating St. John's Lutheran, 28-12, in the semi-final round, while First Methodist eliminated First Church of the Nazarene, 12-7.

The championship game was nip and tuck all the way, with the Presbyterians leading 6-4 at halftime.

With 3 minutes remaining and the score tied at 8-8, Davison and Dave Oliver fired in a goal each to put the game on ice for the new champions.

Davison's 5 points and Oliver's 4 paced the winners while Howell dropped in 6 for First Methodist.

In the semi-final tilts, Howell scored 11 points in the victory over First Church of the Nazarene, while Randy Stover tallied 4 for the losers.

Oliver fired in 13 points in the semi-final victory over St. John's, while Bob Forzano and Chetwynd each collected 5 for the losing St. John's team.

Tribe News Proves Both Good And Bad

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — News from the Cleveland Indians training camp, had a negative flavor today — shortstop Woodie Held, back from Mayo Clinic, still can't swing a bat; General Manager Frank Lane sends word from Miami he can't trade off Russ Nixon; and big Walt Bond has begun striking out on curves.

On the positive side, however, there's the pitching of Carl Thomas, the 6-foot-4, 240-pound rookie from right here in Tucson. He ran his string of scoreless innings to 13 Sunday as the Indians lost to the Chicago Cubs 3-2. The 27-year-old righthander blanked the Cubs over three innings in his first Cactus League appearance, hurled one scoreless frame against the San Francisco Giants and shut out Boston for four innings.

Held said the doctors at Mayo Clinic "seemed to think everything was all right." A report on the examination Lane ordered will not arrive for a few days. Held, who needed 42 stiches in his back during an operation on an infected mole two weeks ago, can't use his left shoulder muscles yet but has started limited workouts.

Lane, who expects to remain in Florida all this week, said Bucky Harris, Boston general manager, has refused his offer of Nixon for outfielder Marty Keough and catcher Haywood Sullivan along with Jim Marshall, who now has gone to Scottsdale to join the Red Sox.

Bond went down swinging Sunday at jughandles thrown by southpaw Seth Morehead. Manager Joe Gordon sent Bond in to pinch-hit in the seventh inning. Bond struck out Saturday too, demonstrating a weakness on curve balls. Previously he had been hitting sensationally and badn't fanned at all.

Ohio Boater Wins

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—With 43 boats competing, Don Bever of Vermilion, Ohio, moved his craft from 12 position to win the opening race of the Commodore Ernest Jahncke open series for star class boats over rain-swept Lake Pontchartrain Sunday.

40-Year-Old Rookie Bids For Berth With Pirates

By The Associated Press

A minor baseball miracle is taking place at Fort Myers, Fla., where Diomedes Olivo, a 40-year-old rookie pitcher, is trying to earn a berth with Pittsburgh's Pirates.

Picked up from Poza Rica of the Mexican League, Olivo impressed again Sunday by pitching one-hit ball for two innings in his exhibition debut as Pittsburgh blanked Washington 4-0 for its 11th consecutive victory.

Olivo compiled a 21-8 record in the double A Mexican circuit last season. He appeared in 35 games, completed 23 of 30 starts, worked 247 innings, struck out 233, walked only 61 and turned in a 3.02 earned run average.

Despite Olivo's age, Pirate Manager Danny Murtaugh decided to take a look at the 6-foot-1, 195-pound native of the Dominican Republic. He may be just the man to spell relief specialist Roy Face.

Olivo's pitched creditably in most of his intrasquad workouts and showed a hopping fast ball in his first official outing for the Pirates, who haven't lost since dropping their first three games.

Other fine pitching performances were turned in Sunday by St. Louis' Vinegar Bend Mizell, who went nine innings and beat Detroit 3-1 on a five-hitter, and Cincinnati's Jim Brosnan, a 4-3 victor over Milwaukee with a six-hit, nine-inning job.

In other games, Chicago's White Sox edged Philadelphia 7-6, Baltimore defeated New York 3-1, San Francisco beat Boston 6-3, Kansas City nipped Los Angeles 3-2 and Chicago's Cubs whipped Cleveland 3-2.

Yankees Test New Blood As Season Nears

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) —Perhaps the New York Yankee empire has crumbled. Perhaps Casey Stengel has had it. Perhaps —but don't bet on it.

The Yankees still are smarting from their shocking performance of last season. New blood has been injected by Roger Maris. Old familiar faces like Hank Bauer, Don Larsen and Norm Siebern have departed. If there was complacency a year ago, it vanished in the wake of a third-place finish. This is a bunch of well-heeled young men who were jolted out of the clouds last fall when their tidy little corporation failed to pay its usual World Series dividend.

"When Christmas came and this spring when the income tax came due, we didn't have to worry," said Manager Casey Stengel today. "I think we got some $800 for finishing third, instead of several thousand dollars. The players knew it. I think they'll put out."

Although the Yanks praised Chicago for its pennant victory last year, many of them blame themselves for losing it. They are working hard this spring to get back on the gravy train.

"Can this club do any good?," Stengel asked himself. "That is a good question. Now I know (Bill) Skowron and (Elston) Howard are pretty good hitters. My pitching, I'll have to find out. I think we will hit better. The runs have got to come in pretty soon or we'll have to make some changes. Our team is going to have to make it with men who have played in the big league.

"We got Maris who drove in 75 runs (actually it was 72) for Kansas City and we've got (Hector) Lopez who drove in 93. Now (Mickey) Mantle knocked in a few runs (75) and he can drive in more.

Bill Skowron (.298) is a most important man. The big first baseman missed a good share of last season because of a back injury and a broken wrist. Bobby Richardson (.301) has taken charge at second. Shortstop probably will belong to Tony Kubek (.279) with Gil McDougald (.251) or Andy Carey (.257) on third.

Maris (.273 at Kansas City) seems to be making the switch to left field without too much trouble although he still must prove he can do it at Yankee Stadium. Mantle (.285) was slowed down by a holdout and a sore knee in his hopes for a fast start to erase memories of 1959. Lopez (.283) will be in right.

Yogi Berra (.284), after a few games at third, is ready to return to catching with help from Elston Howard (.273). Stengel would like to have both in the lineup at the same time and may juggle to do it.

Whitey Ford (16-10) has been hot in the spring games. Bob Turley (8-11), experimenting with a new delivery with men on base, has been so-so. Art Ditmar (13-9), Jim Coates (6-1) and probably rookie Bill Short (17-6 at Richmond) will be the other starters. Short and Ralph Terry (5-11) were late joining the club because of Army service. Terry too, could start. Ryne Duren (3-6) appears to have bullpen help in rookie Johnny James (9-6 at Richmond), the best looking young pitcher in camp.

Ed Stanky's 'Field Goal' Still Burns Phil Rizzuto

By FRANK ECK
(AP) Newsfeatures Sports Editor

The 54th NCAA convention in New York was one of the most diversified. While college football coaches were meeting in one hotel, less than a block away in another, Phil Rizzuto was telling about a field goal kicked in the 1951 World Series.

Phil, a Yankee shortstop turned sportscaster, didn't realize he was upstaging two present Yankee stars, pitcher Whitey Ford and catcher Yogi Berra, during a clinic for college baseball coaches.

Someone spologized for the trio arriving late. Someone said Yogi had made a wrong turn on the George Washington Bridge.

Ford was first. He told in detail about making the pitched ball spin from the top when throwing overhand and making it spin from the side when throwing sidearm. He showed how he checked on control by making sure his right knee was flexed after completing a delivery.

"I hold all pitches alike," said Ford, "When I first came up four or five coaches could call my curve and fast ball by the way I gripped the ball.

"On the pickoff at second base, when Gil McDougald sees me bring the ball and glove near my belt he counts one, and breaks for the bag. I count one-two, then turn and throw."

One of the moderators informed the gathering that Berra would be next.

"Yogi will make no speeches," said Rizzuto, "buut he'll answer questions if broken down into three syllables. He's the best bad ball hitter in baseball so you wouldn't want him to give you tips on hitting for your kids."

One coach wanted to know how a shortstop cheats.

"You can't do that," said Rizzuto. "This is college. Suppose the papers got hold of that.

"Now when Nellie Fox or any really fast left-handed hitter comes up you do cheat a step or two. Now I see what you mean. Yes, a shortstop should play in a step or two when a fast man comes up.

"As for making the tag on a runner it's best to make it with a sweeping motion. And it's best to straddle the bag. There was a time in a World Series (Polo Grounds, Oct. 6, 1951) when I had Eddie Stanky out from here to there (25 feet) and I figured we had him so easy I didn't straddle the bag.

"Stanky makes believe he's going to hook slide and with the other foot he takes it back and kicks the ball out of my glove. It was a perfect field goal. Joe DiMaggio (in center field) fielded the ball. (Five unearned runs scored on the play and the Giants won 6-2).

"I'll never forget that day. It was the most embarrassing moment in my baseball career. Stanky was the dirtiest player in baseball. He'd get hit in the head to beat you. He used to take dirt in his hands when he got to first base. That's a good thing to do when a runner comes sliding into second base. It prevents injury to his hands. But Stanky used to throw the dirt in my face.

"I was so embarrassed when Stanky kicked the ball out of my glove and went to third base I complained to the umpire that Stanky still hadn't touched second base. But the next day I got even with Stanky. He hit me in the head with a ball and it went into the stands. I had a big lump on my head but I scored and Stanky was charged with an error."

Yogi was next and was asked to tell how he talks to hitters like Ted Williams.

"When Williams comes up he's serious," said Yogi. "He concentrates so much that I can't even break him down when I talk about his fishing business."

When Berra was asked which foot he puts on home plate for a force play he replied:

"I'm knock-kneed and I use whichever foot gets there first. But I usually use the right foot.

"In hitting I hold my bat real loose until the ball is on the way, then I grab it real good. A lot of fellows look all locked up by squeezing the handle.

"Bucky Harris once asked me what I think about when I got up to the plate. I told him you can't think and hit at the same time. There's too much a fellow has to remember.

"When a left hander is pitching I stand back of the plate more. I can get a better look at his curve ball. I don't see too many of them (lefties) but when I do I only try to hit the ball where it's pitched.

"When I'm catching I try to reach out more for the curve ball. You can get more strikes from the umpire that way."

None of the coaches asked Ford, Rizzuto or Berra what happened to the Yankees in 1959. The coaches, many of them former major leaguers, have their own problems.

East Wins 101 To 84 In Annual Shrine Tilt

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The East ran up a clear-cut 101-84 victory Saturday night in the annual East-West Shrine all-star basketball game.

The East, coached by Ozzie Orsborn of Bradley, took an 18-7 lead early in the game and kept on going.

Govonor Vaughn of Illinois topped the East scorers with 20 points. Chuck Newcomb led the West with 26 and was voted the outstanding player of the game.

Cleveland Entry Set

CLEVELAND (AP) — Cleveland is assured an entry next season in the National Industrial Basketball League. Ed Sweeny Co., which sponsored the Cleveland Pipers in their initial season in the NIBL, has withdrawn as sponsor. But a group of 14 Cleveland business men are taking over for next season and was awarded the club's franchise Saturday at the league meeting in Denver. The 14 backers, organized as the Cleveland Basketball Club, Ind., meet Tuesday to elect officers.

Plenty Of Roll, Too

JAMESBURG, N. J. (AP) — Members of the New Jersey shore winter golf league have held six winter tournaments and frequently play on frozen ground.

Cleveland Faces Rochester In Bid For Hockey Title

By The Associated Press

The American Hockey League-champion Springfield Indians will open their best-of-seven Calder cup semifinal series Wednesday against third place Providence and second-place Rochester faces fourth-place Cleveland the same night.

Cleveland made the playoffs the 22nd time in 24 seasons.

Springfield, which long ago clinched first place, wound up regular season play with an 8-4 victory over Buffalo Saturday night.

But Providence didn't find out it had third place clinched until Hershey beat Cleveland 6-4 Sunday afternoon. The Reds then went out and edged Buffalo 5-4 in overtime.

Rochester wound up with an 11-2 victory over last - place Quebec—the most goals the Amerks have ever scored. In other Satursday action, Cleveland beat Quebec 10-2 and Hershey won over Providence 6-4.

Springfield and Providence play two games at Springfield, move to Providence for two more on April 3 and 6, and alternate between cities until the series is decided.

Rochester plays its first two at home, then moves to Cleveland for a pair April 2 and 3 and then the two will alternate if necessary.

The winners of the semifinal series meet in a best-of-seven for the AHL's Calder Cup.

Make Gymnastic Bid

CLEVELAND (AP)—Miss Betty Maycock of the Kent Gymnastic Club and three men from the Cleveland Swiss Turners Club were selected Sunday to compete at West Point for the U. S. Olympic gymnastics team. Miss Maycock, a senior at Kent State High School, paced second among women gymnasts at the Pan-American Games and was 1958 AAU champion.

John Romano was the pinch hitter of the year for the Chicago White Sox in 1959. He pinch hit 16 times and got three walks and eight hits for an average of .615.

Neale Says Ex-Teammate Overlooked By Writers

By FRANK ECK
(AP) Newsfeatures Sports Editor

West Palm Beach, Fla. (AP) — The baseball writers didn't know a good thing when they saw one so now it's up to the Oldtimers' Committee to decide whether Edd Roush belongs in baseball's Hall of Fame.

Each even year the writers have the privilege of voting on who should be elected to the Hall. To have his plaque hung in Cooperstown, N. Y., a player must be named on 75 per cent of the ballots. In the election last January, Roush missed by 56 votes. Nobody was elected.

The writers no longer can vote for Roush because he will be considered an old timer when they ballot next in 1962. Writers can vote only for men who have played big league ball in the last 30 years.

So now its up to the committee on veterans to decide next January on the status of the former Cincinnati outfielder who compiled a .323 career average.

Earle (Greasy) Neale, the former Yale, West Virginia and Philadelphia Eagle football coach who led the Reds in hitting with .357 in the 1919 World Series, has been spending his winters golfing around West Palm Beach.

He played next to Roush for seven seasons so it seemed worth the stop to get Greasy's reaction to the latest balloting.

"To me," Greasy began, "Roush is someone special. He was easily the best outfielder in the National League for at least 10 years. Roush could hit to all fields, had power, could bunt, drag past the pitcher, steal and knew how to stretch singles into doubles and doubles into triples.

"One season I saw him get seven base hits on pitch-outs. He just threw his bat at the ball and got the hits anyway. One of them was a triple.

"In the outfield he could go back like Tris Speaker or come in to make those shoestring catches."

How come John McGraw of the Giants let him go early in his career?

"That's one deal McGraw always regretted," says the 66-year-old Greasy. "One day Roush hit a ball straight up into the air and in disgust he threw his bat back toward the Giant bench. McGraw picked it up and surprise came over his stern face.

"'Whose bat is this?" McGraw asked.

GREASY NEALE
Thinks Writers Goofed.

EDD ROUSH
Hit .323 During Career.

"'That's my bat,' replied Roush. "'Don't ever let me see you use that bat again,' McGraw shouted.

"'This is the first league I ever played in where the manager picked your bat,' snorted Roush, not knowing it was a sin to talk back to John J.

"McGraw saw red.

"'Where did you ever hit .300?' thundered McGraw.

"' I hit .300 in every league I ever played in,' said Roush, 'and I'll hit .300 in this one if you let me play regularly.'

"McGraw couldn't get rid of Roush fast enough. He traded him to Cincinnati and spent 10 years trying to get him back. He finally got him back, too, and gave him a $75,000 contract for three years, something unheard of 30 years ago.

"One day McGraw waved Roush from left center to right center. The batter hit the next pitch to the spot Roush had deserted. When Edd came back to the bench, McGraw said:

"'Eddie, the next time I move you — don't budge.'

"From that day on McGraw always let Roush use his own judgement on where to play the hitters."

Maybe the Oldtimers' Committee ought to listen to Greasy Neale. After all he knew Edd Roush better than anybody.

Bowler From Ohio U. With Trophy Winners

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—One Ohioan, John Altig of Ohio U., was among seven men capturing trophies Sunday in the second annual Inter - collegiate Bowling Championships.

Altic and Robert Killian of Michigan State finished second in doubles with 412-410-358—1180. Each of them hit 590.

Doubles winners were Jerry Constantino of Bradley and Eugene Wodka of Illinois with 400-469-380—1249. Constantino won the all-events with 1189, and Wodka was second in singles with 588. The singles title went to Jim Nixon of Minnesota on 211-181-212—604.

Twenty collegians competed on the American Bowling Congress tournament lanes. They represented survivors from roll-offs involving some 6,000 bowlers in 80 schools.

Yankees Test New Blood As Season Nears

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) —Perhaps the New York Yankee empire has crumbled. Perhaps Casey Stengel has had it. Perhaps —but don't bet on it.

The Yankees still are smarting from their shocking performance of last season. New blood has been injected by Roger Maris. Old familiar faces like Hank Bauer, Don Larsen and Norm Siebern have departed. If there was complacency a year ago, it vanished in the wake of a third-place finish. This is a bunch of well-heeled young men who were jolted out of the clouds last fall when their tidy little corporation failed to pay its usual World Series dividend.

"When Christmas came and this spring when the income tax came due, we didn't have to worry," said Manager Casey Stengel today. "I think we got some $800 for finishing third, instead of several thousand dollars. The players knew it. I think they'll put out."

Although the Yanks praised Chicago for its pennant victory last year, many of them blame themselves for losing it. They are working hard this spring to get back on the gravy train.

"Can this club do any good?," Stengel asked himself. "That is a good question. Now I know (Bill) Skowron and (Elston) Howard are pretty good hitters. My pitching, I'll have to find out. I think we will hit better. The runs have got to come in pretty soon or we'll have to make some changes. Our team is going to have to make it with men who have played in the big league.

"We got Maris who drove in 75 runs (actually it was 72) for Kansas City and we've got (Hector) Lopez who drove in 93. Now (Mickey) Mantle knocked in a few runs (75) and he can drive in more.

Bill Skowron (.298) is a most important man. The big first baseman missed a good share of last season because of a back injury and a broken wrist. Bobby Richardson (.301) has taken charge at second. Shortstop probably will belong to Tony Kubek (.279) with Gil McDougald (.251) or Andy Carey (.257) on third.

Maris (.273 at Kansas City) seems to be making the switch to left field without too much trouble although he still must prove he can do it at Yankee Stadium. Mantle (.285) was slowed down by a holdout and a sore knee in his hopes for a fast start to erase memories of 1959. Lopez (.283) will be in right.

Yogi Berra (.284), after a few games at third, is ready to return to catching with help from Elston Howard (.273). Stengel would like to have both in the lineup at the same time and may juggle to do it.

Whitey Ford (16-10) has been hot in the spring games. Bob Turley (8-11), experimenting with a new delivery with men on base, has been so-so. Art Ditmar (13-9), Jim Coates (6-1) and probably rookie Bill Short (17-6 at Richmond) will be the other starters. Short and Ralph Terry (5-11) were late joining the club because of Army service. Terry too, could start. Ryne Duren (3-6) appears to have bullpen help in rookie Johnny James (9-6 at Richmond), the best looking young pitcher in camp.

"I was so embarrassed when Stanky kicked the ball out of my glove and went to third base I complained to the umpire that Stanky still hadn't touched second base. But the next day I got even with Stanky. He hit me in the head with a ball and it went into the stands. I had a big lump on my head but I scored and Stanky was charged with an error."

Yogi was next and was asked to tell how he talks to hitters like Ted Williams.

"When Williams comes up he's serious," said Yogi. "He concentrates so much that I can't even break him down when I talk about his fishing business."

When Berra was asked which foot he puts on home plate for a force play he replied:

"I'm knock-kneed and I use whichever foot gets there first. But I usually use the right foot.

"In hitting I hold my bat real loose until the ball is on the way, then I grab it real good. A lot of fellows look all locked up by squeezing the handle.

"Bucky Harris once asked me what I think about when I got up to the plate. I told him you can't think and hit at the same time. There's too much a fellow has to remember.

"When a left hander is pitching I stand back of the plate more. I can get a better look at his curve ball. I don't see too many of them (lefties) but when I do I only try to hit the ball where it's pitched.

"When I'm catching I try to reach out more for the curve ball. You can get more strikes from the umpire that way."

None of the coaches asked Ford, Rizzuto or Berra what happened to the Yankees in 1959. The coaches, many of them former major leaguers, have their own problems.

East Wins 101 To 84 In Annual Shrine Tilt

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The East ran up a clear-cut 101-84 victory Saturday night in the annual East-West Shrine all-star basketball game.

The East, coached by Ozzie Orsborn of Bradley, took an 18-7 lead early in the game and kept on going.

Govonor Vaughn of Illinois topped the East scorers with 20 points. Chuck Newcomb led the West with 26 and was voted the outstanding player of the game.

Cleveland Entry Set

CLEVELAND (AP) — Cleveland is assured an entry next season in the National Industrial Basketball League. Ed Sweeny Co., which sponsored the Cleveland Pipers in their initial season in the NIBL, has withdrawn as sponsor. But a group of 14 Cleveland business men are taking over for next season and was awarded the club's franchise Saturday at the league meeting in Denver. The 14 backers, organized as the Cleveland Basketball Club, Ind., meet Tuesday to elect officers.

Plenty Of Roll, Too

JAMESBURG, N. J. (AP) — Members of the New Jersey shore winter golf league have held six winter tournaments and frequently play on frozen ground.

There's an advantage to all this: the course is never crowded.

New Night Record

DETROIT (AP) — There was a time when the Detroit Tigers would play no more than 14 night games a season. That setup remained for 10 years. The last two seasons they played 21 arc light games but this year 24 are scheduled for Briggs Stadium.

Cleveland Faces Rochester In Bid For Hockey Title

By The Associated Press

The American Hockey League champion Springfield Indians will open their best-of-seven Calder cup semifinal series Wednesday against third place Providence and second-place Rochester faces fourth-place Cleveland the same night.

Cleveland made the playoffs the 22nd time in 24 seasons.

Springfield, which long ago clinched first place, wound up regular season play with an 8-4 victory over Buffalo Saturday night.

But Providence didn't find out it had third place clinched until Hershey beat Cleveland 6-4 Sunday afternoon. The Reds then went out and edged Buffalo 5-4 in overtime.

Rochester wound up with an 11-2 victory over last - place Quebec—the most goals the Amerks have ever scored. In other Saturday action, Cleveland beat Quebec 10-2 and Hershey won over Providence 6-4.

Springfield and Providence play two games at Springfield, move to Providence for two more on April 3 and 6, and alternate between cities until the series is decided.

Rochester plays its first two at home, then moves to Cleveland for a pair April 2 and 3 and then the two will alternate if necessary.

The winners of the semifinal series meet in a best-of-seven for the AHL's Calder Cup.

Make Gymnastic Bid

CLEVELAND (AP)—Miss Betty Maycock of the Kent Gymnastic Club and three men from the Cleveland Swiss Turners Club were selected Sunday to compete at West Point for the U. S. Olympic gymnastics team. Miss Maycock, a senior at Kent State High School, paced second among women gymnasts at the Pan-American Games and was 1958 AAU champion.

John Romano was the pinch hitter of the year for the Chicago White Sox in 1959. He pinch hit 16 times and got three walks and eight hits for an average of .615.

Neale Says Ex-Teammate Overlooked By Writers

By FRANK ECK
(AP) Newsfeatures Sports Editor

West Palm Beach, Fla. (AP) — The baseball writers didn't know a good thing when they saw one so now it's up to the Oldtimers' Committee to decide whether Edd Roush belongs in baseball's Hall of Fame.

Each even year the writers have the privilege of voting on who should be elected to the Hall. To have his plaque hung in Cooperstown, N. Y., a player must be named on 75 per cent of the ballots. In the election last January, Roush missed by 56 votes. Nobody was elected.

The writers no longer can vote for Roush because he will be considered an old timer when they ballot next in 1962. Writers can vote only for men who have played big league ball in the last 30 years.

So now its up to the committee on veterans to decide next January on the status of the former Cincinnati outfielder who compiled a .323 career average.

Earle (Greasy) Neale, the former Yale, West Virginia and Philadelphia Eagle football coach who led the Reds in hitting with .357 in the 1919 World Series, has been spending his winters golfing around West Palm Beach.

He played next to Roush for seven seasons so it seemed worth the stop to get Greasy's reaction to the latest balloting.

"To me," Greasy began, "Roush is someone special. He was easily the best outfielder in the National League for at least 10 years. Roush could hit to all fields, had power, could bunt, drag past the pitcher, steal and knew how to stretch singles into doubles and doubles into triples.

"One season I saw him get seven base hits on pitch-outs. He just threw his bat at the ball and got the hits anyway. One of them was a triple.

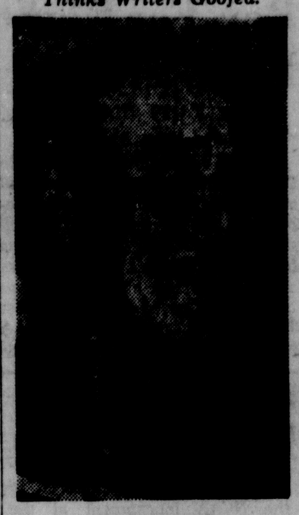
"In the outfield he could go back like Tris Speaker or come in to make those shoestring catches."

How come John McGraw of the Giants let him go early in his career?

"That's one deal McGraw always regretted," says the 66-year-old Greasy. "One day Roush hit a ball straight up into the air and in disgust he threw his bat back toward the Giant bench. McGraw picked it up and surprise came over his stern face.

"'Whose bat is this?" McGraw asked.

GREASY NEALE
Thinks Writers Goofed.



EDD ROUSH
Hit .323 During Career.

"'That's my bat,' replied Roush. "'Don't ever let me see you use that bat again,' McGraw shouted.

"'This is the first league I ever played in where the manager picked your bat,' snorted Roush, not knowing it was a sin to talk back to John J.

"McGraw saw red.

"'Where did you ever hit .300?' thundered McGraw.

"' I hit .300 in every league I ever played in,' said Roush, 'and I'll hit .300 in this one if you let me play regularly.'

"McGraw couldn't get rid of Roush fast enough. He traded him to Cincinnati and spent 10 years trying to get him back. He finally got him back, too, and gave him a $75,000 contract for three years, something unheard of 30 years ago.

"One day McGraw waved Roush from left center to right center. The batter hit the next pitch to the spot Roush had deserted. When Edd came back to the bench, McGraw said:

"'Eddie, the next time I move you — don't budge.'

"From that day on McGraw always let Roush use his own judgement on where to play the hitters."

Maybe the Oldtimers' Committee ought to listen to Greasy Neale. After all he knew Edd Roush better than anybody.

Altic and Robert Killian of Michigan State finished second in doubles with 412-410-358—1180. Each of them hit 590.

Doubles winners were Jerry Constantino of Bradley and Eugene Wodka of Illinois with 400-469-380—1249. Constantino won the all-events with 1189, and Wodka was second in singles with 598. The singles title went to Jim Nixon of Minnesota on 211-161-212—604.

Twenty collegians competed on the American Bowling Congress tournament lanes. They represented survivors from roll-offs involving some 6,000 bowlers in 80 schools.

NOTICE OF SALE OF BONDS

Sealed bids will be received by the undersigned, Clerk of the Board of Education of the Stanton Local School District, herein referred to as the Board, in the County of Jefferson, Ohio, at his office at Irondale, Ohio, until 12 o'clock noon, Eastern Standard Time, on the 7th day of April, 1960, at which time the bids will be publicly opened and read, for the purchase of bonds of the Board in the aggregate amount of $498,000, authorized by resolution adopted January 7, 1960.

Said bonds shall be dated the first day of March, 1960, shall be in the denomination of $1,000 each, shall draw interest payable semiannually on the first days of June and December of each year beginning June 1, 1961, at the rate of four per centum (4%) per annum. Anyone desiring to do so may present a bid for said bonds based upon their bearing a different rate of interest, but not in excess of 6%, providing that where a fractional interest is bid, such fraction shall be one-quarter of one per cent or a multiple thereof.

Said bonds mature as follows:
$23,000 on December 1, 1961; and
25,000 on December 1 in the years 1962 to 1980, inclusive.

Said bonds are issued for the purpose of acquiring a site and for the construction and improvement of a fireproof school building, and for the equipment and furnishing of said school building, and to install inside toilets and for the improvement of the Hammondsville Elementary Building.

Said bonds are payable at The Union Savings Bank and Trust Company, Toronto, Ohio, and are supported by unlimited taxes.

Said bids will be promptly considered, and said bonds will be sold to the highest bidder offering the lowest interest rate at not less than par and accrued interest. The lowest interest rate will be determined by calculating the total interest to stated maturity at the rate bid and deducting therefrom the premium bid. If each of two or more bids is the highest bid offering the lowest interest rate, the bonds will be awarded on such one of said highest bids as is chosen by the said Clerk by lot. All bids must be accompanied by a bond or certified check on a solvent bank (other than the bidder) payable to the Board, in the amount of one per cent of the par amount of the bonds bid for, upon condition that if the bid is accepted, the bidder will receive and pay for such bonds in accordance with the terms and provisions of this notice, or forfeit the same as liquidated damages in the event said condition is not fulfilled.

Bids shall be sealed and endorsed "Bid for School Improvement Bonds".

The proceedings for this issue have been taken under the supervision of Squire, Sanders & Dempsey, Bond Attorneys, Cleveland, Ohio, whose approving opinion may be obtained by the successful bidder at the bidder's expense. A complete transcript of proceedings and the printed bonds will be furnished by the Board, together with a certificate showing no litigation pending or threatened at the time of the delivery, to enjoin delivery or to contest the validity of the bonds or the power to issue them or the levy or collection of taxes for their payment.

In the event the interest on said bonds should by act of Congress or otherwise become subject to Federal Income Taxes prior to delivery the successful bidder may refuse to accept delivery and in such event his bond or certified check shall be returned without interest.

It is contemplated that the Board will meet at 7:30 o'clock p.m. on the 7th day of April, 1960, to consider said bids and make an award.

The bonds will be delivered at the office of the undersigned, or such other place as may be agreed on with the successful bidder; if outside of the limits of the School District the bidder shall pay expense of delivery at that place.

Before making tender of the bonds at the place of delivery the Board shall give written notice to the successful bidder not later than the third day before the proposed tender, of the fact that the bonds, transcript, no-litigation certificate, and approving opinion will be available for delivery and giving the date and hour for the tender at the said place of delivery, providing however that nothing herein contained shall prevent the making of a mutually agreeable arrangement for the delivery of the bonds either at the place fixed for delivery or elsewhere.

If such notice has not been given or waived by the successful bidder and the bonds, transcript, no-litigation certificate and approving opinion are not available for delivery to the successful bidder at such place of delivery on or before 12 o'clock noon of the 30th calendar day after the day fixed for the receipt of bids, and the successful bidder shall not be in default of any of his obligations, he shall have the right thereafter and so long as no such tender by the Board shall yet have been made, to cancel the contract of purchase; such right to be exercised by delivering to the undersigned (or to his office during business hours) written notice of such cancellation. Such bidder shall thereupon be entitled to the return of the deposit which accompanied his bid and it shall be returned to him immediately.

The right is reserved to reject bids.

ORDINANCE NUMBER 7, 1960.

WHEREAS, it is desired by Council to change the vacation period system in effect for firemen and to allow additional vacation time to compensate for emergency service rendered, and

WHEREAS, Section 268 of the Code of the City of East Liverpool provides for the working hours of the firemen, and in addition provides for vacation periods and sick leave, and it is desirable to split said section in order that the subjects may be treated separately.

NOW, THEREFORE,

BE IT ORDAINED by the Council of the City of East Liverpool, State of Ohio:

SECTION 1. That Section 268 entitled "Platoon System Adopted, Vacations and Sick Leave" be amended to read as follows:

Section 268. Working Hours.

The paid fire department of the city, as constituted by law, shall be divided into three working divisions, commonly known as the three-platoon system. Each platoon shall be on duty in rotation for a period of 24 hours each so that in a period of 72 hours each platoon shall serve a working period of 24 hours. In the event of any great conflagration or other emergency that requires the service of additional men, the chief of the fire department may call a platoon or platoons not on duty to service in the extinguishment of said fire or to serve during said emergency.

SECTION 2. That new Section 268-1 be adopted, which new section is hereby ordained to read as follows:

Section 268-1. Disability or Sick Leaves.

Each member of the paid fire department shall be allowed full pay for a period not to exceed six calendar months on account of sickness or injury; provided, that such disability was occasioned while in the direct line of fire duty and such member, for the following six calendar months of such disability, shall receive one-half pay. Each member shall be allowed full pay for not to exceed sixty calendar days for ordinary sickness or injury and shall further be allowed one-half pay for not to exceed ten calendar months during such illness.

Section 268-2. Annual Vacation.

Each regular member of the fire department of the City of East Liverpool, Ohio, shall be allowed fifteen calendar days leave of absence (vacation) per year at full pay. In addition thereto a regular member of the fire department who has completed fifteen years of service shall be allowed seven calendar days leave of absence; such leaves of absence, however, to be permitted under such rules and regulations as may be adopted and prescribed by the Director of Public Service-Safety. In addition to the above provided vacation, any fireman who, during any calendar year, being off duty is recalled to duty under the provisions of the last sentence of Section 268 shall be entitled to one (1) day's extra leave of absence at full pay in the ensuing calendar year, said one (1) day's leave of absence shall be permitted under such rules and regulations as may be adopted and prescribed by the Director of Public Service Safety.

SECTION 4. The present Section 268 be and the same is hereby repealed.

SECTION 5. That this Ordinance is hereby declared to be an emergency measure and shall take effect and be in force immediately upon passage and approval. Said emergency lies in the fact that vacations must be assigned immediately for 1960 in order to allow an orderly rotation of vacations which will not disrupt the fire department service available to the community and thus is necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety of the citizens of said city.

LEGAL NOTICES

NOTICE OF SALE OF BONDS

Sealed bids will be received by the undersigned, Clerk of the Board of Education of the Stanton Local School District, herein referred to as the Board, in the County of Jefferson, Ohio, at his office at Irondale, Ohio, until 12 o clock noon, Eastern Standard Time, on the 7th day of April, 1960, at which time the bids will be publicly opened and read, for the purchase of bonds of the Board in the aggregate amount of $498,000, authorized by resolution adopted January 7, 1960.

Said bonds shall be dated the first day of March, 1960, shall be in the denomination of $1,000 each, shall draw interest payable semiannually on the first days of June and December of each year beginning June 1, 1961, at the rate of four per centum (4%) per annum. Anyone desiring to do so may present a bid for said bonds based upon their bearing a different rate of interest, but not in excess of 6%, providing that where a fractional interest is bid, such fraction shall be one-quarter of one per cent or a multiple thereof.

Said bonds mature as follows:
$23,000 on December 1, 1961; and
25,000 on December 1 in the years 1962 to 1980, inclusive.

Said bonds are issued for the purpose of acquiring a site and for the construction and improvement of a fireproof school building, and for the equipment and furnishing of said school building, and to install inside toilets and for the improvement of the Hammondsville Elementary Building.

Said bonds are payable at The Union Savings Bank and Trust Company, Toronto, Ohio, and are supported by unlimited taxes.

Said bids will be promptly considered, and said bonds will be sold to the highest bidder offering the lowest interest rate at not less than par and accrued interest. The lowest interest rate will be determined by calculating the total interest to stated maturity at the rate bid and deducting therefrom the premium bid. If each of two or more bids is the highest bid offering the lowest interest rate, the bonds will be awarded on such one of said highest bids as is chosen by the said Clerk by lot. All bids must be accompanied by a bond or certified check on a solvent bank (other than the bidder) payable to the Board, in the amount of one per cent of the par amount of the bonds bid for, upon condition that if the bid is accepted, the bidder will receive and pay for such bonds in accordance with the terms and provisions of this notice, or forfeit the same as liquidated damages in the event said condition is not fulfilled.

Bids shall be sealed and endorsed "Bid for School Improvement Bonds".

The proceedings for this issue have been taken under the supervision of Squire, Sanders & Dempsey, Bond Attorneys, Cleveland, Ohio, whose approving opinion may be obtained by the successful bidder at the bidder's expense. A complete transcript of proceedings and the printed bonds will be furnished by the Board, together with a certificate showing no litigation pending or threatened at the time of the delivery, to enjoin delivery or to contest the validity of the bonds or the power to issue them or the levy or collection of taxes for their payment.

In the event the interest on said bonds should by act of Congress or otherwise become subject to Federal Income Taxes prior to delivery the successful bidder may refuse to accept delivery and in such event his bond or certified check shall be returned without interest.

It is contemplated that the Board will meet at 7:30 o'clock p.m. on the 7th day of April, 1960, to consider said bids and make an award.

The bonds will be delivered at the office of the undersigned, or such other place as may be agreed on with the successful bidder; if outside of the limits of the School District the bidder shall pay expense of delivery at that place.

Before making tender of the bonds at the place of delivery the Board shall give written notice to the successful bidder not later than the third day before the proposed tender, of the fact that the bonds, transcript, no-litigation certificate, and approving opinion will be available for delivery and giving the date and hour for the tender at the said place of delivery, providing however that nothing herein contained shall prevent the making of a mutually agreeable arrangement for the delivery of the bonds either at the place fixed for delivery or elsewhere.

If such notice has not been given or waived by the successful bidder and the bonds, transcript, no-litigation certificate and approving opinion are not available for delivery to the successful bidder at such place of delivery on or before 12 o'clock noon of the 30th calendar day after the day fixed for the receipt of bids, and the successful bidder shall not be in default of any of his obligations, he shall have the right thereafter and so long as no such tender by the Board shall yet have been made, to cancel the contract of purchase; such right to be exercised by delivering to the undersigned (or to his office during business hours) written notice of such cancellation. Such bidder shall thereupon be entitled to the return of the deposit which accompanied his bid and it shall be returned to him immediately.

The right is reserved to reject bids.

ORDINANCE NUMBER 7, 1960.

AN ORDINANCE ESTABLISHING VACATIONS FOR FIREMEN, ADDITIONAL VACATIONS FOR EMERGENCY SERVICE, ESTABLISHING NEW SECTIONS 268-1 AND 268-2 AND AMENDING SECTION 268 OF THE CODE OF THE CITY OF EAST LIVERPOOL.

WHEREAS, it is desired by Council to change the vacation period system in effect for firemen and to allow additional vacation time to compensate for emergency service rendered, and

WHEREAS, Section 268 of the Code of the City of East Liverpool provides for the working hours of the firemen, and in addition provides for vacation periods and sick leave, and it is desirable to split said section in order that the subjects may be treated separately,

NOW, THEREFORE,

BE IT ORDAINED by the Council of the City of East Liverpool, State of Ohio:

SECTION 1. That Section 268 entitled "Platoon System Adopted, Vacations and Sick Leave" be amended to read as follows:

Section 268. Working Hours.

The paid fire department of the city, as constituted by law, shall be divided into three working divisions, commonly known as the three-platoon system. Each platoon shall be on duty in rotation for a period of 24 hours each so that in a period of 72 hours each platoon shall serve a working period of 24 hours. In the event of any great conflagration or other emergency that requires the service of additional men, the chief of the fire department may call a platoon or platoons not on duty to service in the extinguishment of said fire or to serve during said emergency.

SECTION 2. That new Section 268-1 be adopted, which new section is hereby ordained to read as follows:

Section 268-1. Disability or Sick Leaves.

Each member of the paid fire department shall be allowed full pay for a period not to exceed six calendar months on account of sickness or injury; provided, that such disability was occasioned while in the direct line of fire duty and such member, for the following six calendar months of such disability, shall receive one-half pay. Each member shall be allowed full pay for not to exceed sixty calendar days for ordinary sickness or injury and shall further be allowed one-half pay for not to exceed ten calendar months during such illness.

SECTION 3. That new Section 268-1 be adopted, which new section is hereby ordained to read as follows:

Section 268-2. Annual Vacation.

Each regular member of the fire department of the City of East Liverpool, Ohio, shall be allowed fifteen calendar days leave of absence (vacation) per year at full pay. In addition thereto a regular member of the fire department who has completed fifteen years of service shall be allowed seven calendar days leave of absence; such leaves of absence, however, to be permitted under such rules and regulations as may be adopted and prescribed by the Director of Public Service-Safety. In addition to the above provided vacation, any fireman who, during any calendar year, being off duty is recalled to duty under the provisions of the last sentence of Section 268 shall be entitled to one (1) day's extra leave of absence at full pay in the ensuing calendar year, said one (1) day's leave of absence shall be permitted under such rules and regulations as may be adopted and prescribed by the Director of Public Service Safety.

SECTION 4. The present Section 268 be and the same is hereby repealed.

SECTION 5. That this Ordinance is hereby declared to be an emergency measure and shall take effect and be in force immediately upon passage and approval. Said emergency lies in the fact that vacations must be assigned immediately for 1960 in order to allow an orderly rotation of vacations which will not disrupt the fire department service available to the community and thus is necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety of the citizens of said city.

Manipulating Of The Heavens

A planetarium operator can make the sun stand still, turn back the clock a few thousand years or bring down a shower of meteors.

He manipulates the heavens with the aid of a huge, ungainly projector. This intricate optical wonder contains many lenses, a complex gear system, and several motors. It can cast the images of as many as 8,900 stars.

As the lights dim in the domed planetarium, stars blink on, creating a wondrous illusion of the sky on a clear, cold night. The projector may whisk the viewer from pole to pole, showing him the appearance of the sky from different latitudes, or re-create the annual movements of celestial bodies in a few seconds. It can represent the skies of the distant past or remote future.

Most planetariums combine showmanship with science. They stage such productions as "Rocket to the Moon," "Mysterious Mars," "Colors in the Sky," and "Pageant of Easter."

"The End of the World" is a popular show at the American Museum-Hayden Planetarium in New York. When the lecturer announces, "Something has gone wrong with the solar system," the sun explodes and in a trice the earth is burned to a cinder. Several other possible fates are pictured. Because of public demand, other planetariums, as well as the Hayden, often destroy the world.

The New York planetarium recently installed a new projector built by the Zeiss firm of West Germany. Worn gears on its original machine, a 25-year-old Zeiss model, had caused the planets to jiggle as they revolved. The new instrument not only keeps planets firmly in orbit, it makes bright stars properly bright. Formerly, the museum's bright stars were larger than others; now, they are shinier.

Many mechanical gadgets were used to depict the heavens before modern planetariums were devised.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I don't commonly bandy words with lady columnists, but when you get into my field, which is the use of words, I must speak out. I am emeritus professor of English at a university.

Your statement that people who use profanity have bankrupt vocabularies is incorrect. I used to have a crazy professor who also asserted this ancient libel but he was wrong—as you are.

I swear passionately and eloquently. I've written 23 books and more than 1,000 short stories. I have an oral vocabulary of 5,000 words, a written vocabulary of 10,000. My reading vocabulary exceeds 20,000.

The use of profanity is a linquistic psychological habit. There is no correlation between cussing and ideas or vocabulary. I have a colleague whose strongest epithet is "Dear Dear" and if he ever had an original idea it would paralyze him.

Thank you for allowing me to have my say.—H.H.K.

Dear Professor: I hate to argue with an authority—BUT my speech experts tell me that profanity:

1. Often reflects a stunted vocabulary.

2. Sometimes points to laziness in speech habits.

3. Is frequently a device to create attention or emphasize a point.

And now from the University of Chicago I get the following from Prof. Seldon Garver (and this, my friend, may well stab you right in the magna cum laude):

The Hartmann study into undergraduate vocabulary achievement reveals that the average level of undergraduate comprehension is 200,000 words.

I sincerely hope the zero on your typewriter is broken. But thanks for writing. It's nice to hear from the gown as well as the town.

Private Affair

Dear Ann: I need your advice right away. I'm half out of my mind. I just found out I'm pregnant. My fiance and I are going to get married right away. But what do I tell my friends and family?

Let's face it, when the baby comes they will know the truth. I will be married less than eight months. Should I tell my parents about my condition now or wait? Please, Ann, we are both so upset we can't eat or sleep. Hurry your advice.—RUTH.

Dear Ruth: Have a nice, quiet, quick wedding. Say nothing about the expected baby until you no longer can keep it a secret. When the baby comes make no apologies, excuses or explanations. It's nobody's business.

Rustler On TV Range

Dear Ann: Who in the home should decide which TV show to watch?

My husband gets up and changes the channel whenever he feels like it. He never asks anyone else in the room what they think. I don't mind that I never get to choose a show but we have an 8-year-old daughter who can watch TV only on Friday and Saturday nights until 10 o'clock. She is interested in educational programs and my husband likes Westerns and crime shows.

Many times she has cried because her Daddy came into the room and turned off a show she was watching. What can I do?—L.J.M.

Dear L.J.M.: You've got two kids, Madame, and that boy acts a lot younger than 8. Since he's so selfish and inconsiderate, try to get the big baby to buy a small portable set for the girl's next birthday or Christmas—whichever comes first.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.
